Washington, March 30.—As the cabinet met today with President Wilson for the last time before the assembling of congress Monday, the concensus of opinion was that the United States was about to actively enter into war with Germany.

Washington, March 30.—Steps in anticipation of President Wilson's address before congress next week for action on whatever recommendations he makes to meet the national emergency began to take final form today. These steps were:

The president held a final conference with his cabinet preparatory to starting the actual writing of the address he will deliver before a joint assemblage of the house and senate. House democrats held a caucus to consider plans for organizing of the house by their party and a committee of twenty-seven republicans met to prepare its final recommendations for organization of the house which will be laid before a caucus of republicans tomorrow. Plans for raising revenue were discussed at a meeting of democratic members of the house ways and means committee.

Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the military committee, following his conference with the president yesterday over his universal military training plan agreed to press for prompt action in the senate on the regular army appropriation bill which failed at the last session, as soon as it comes over from the house. The senator assured the president that he already has authority without further congressional action to raise an army of more than 700,000 by increasing the regular army to war strength and calling out the entire national guard at war strength. Reports of submarines having been seen off Montauk Point Monday night were believed today to have been disposed of by Secretary Daniels' announcement that they were in reality patrol motor boats returning to Long Island sound after trial trips.

President Wilson now has before him recommendations of his principal cabinet advisers and in a general way has heard the sentiment of the country. The preponderance of opinion forwarded to the white house is for a declaration that a state of war exists between the United States and Germany. Telegrams advising the president are being received in large numbers. Many of them, couched in identical language, favor the maintenance of peace.

HEAVY FIGHTING IS SUSPENDED ON WEST FRONT, IN EUROPE

Berlin, Thursdya, March 29.—By Wireless to Sayville, March 30.—"On account of rain on the western front and thawing weather in the east there were no important events," says the official statement issued here. "There were no new developments in Macedonia."

Canadian troops made four attacks last night on German positions east of Neuville, St. Vaast, the war office announced. They were repulsed with heavy losses.

"An attack of several Russian companies on Prince Leopold's front, west of Dvinsk, failed under our fire," says today's official report from the east. "There were no important events on the fronts of Rrch Duke Joseph and Field Marshal von Mackensen.

"In Macedonia reconnoitering detachments advanced into the French positions between Ochrida and Presba lakes and captured several quick firing guns and large stores of ammunition."

HEAVY FIGHTING IS SUSPENDED.

Paris, March 30.—The heavy fighting on the French front since the beginning of the German withdrawal has come to an end for the time being.

"From the Somme to the Aisne the night was calm along our outposts," says today's official report. "There were no important events elsewhere on the front with the exception of patrol and grenade fighting in the sector of Maisons de Champagne."

The Matin says that decisions of the highest importance have been reached by the economic committee after a two hour session which was attended by most of the ministers and under secretaries. The decisions will be published today after they have been submitted to the cabinet for ratification.

BRITISH SHIPPING LOSSES.

London, March 30.—The figures for British ship losses from submarines and mines in the first 18 days of December, January, February and March were given as follows today in the house of commons by Thomas J. MacNamara, financial secretary, to the admiralty: December, 30; January, 26; February, 66; March, 55.

PEACE FEDERATION WILL BE OPPOSED BY NAVY LEAGUE

New York, March 30.—Leaders of the emergency peace federation said today that cancellation of permission to parade in Washington next Monday would not stop their campaign to influence congress against a declaration of war. Although a large body of pacifists will assemble in Washington next week, plans for a demonstration there will be modified. The federation will keep up its effort to raise a $200,000 fund. Most of the money will be used for newspaper advertising.

The naval training association of the United States is conducting an active campaign to offset the work of the organized pacifists. An appeal sent to the 2,000 members of the association urges them to join "in endeavoring to show the real patriotic spirit of American citizens by telegraphing to the president or your congressman to stand firm for American rights and American honor at whatever cost."

A society to be known as the "Vigilantes" to encourage patriotism was organized last night at a dinner at the Harvard club, attended by writers and artists. Irvin S. Cobb, one of the speakers, likened the United States to "a nice large, juicy oyster without a shell, just waiting for some one with an oyster fork to come along."

TERRE HAUTE CONVICT DIES

END COMES TO HIM IN LEAVENWORTH

Former Circuit Judge and Leading Lawyer in Vigo County.

Leavenworth, Kan., March 30.—Eli H. Redman, one of the men convicted in connection with the alleged election conspiracy at Terre Haute, Ind., died here early today in the federal penitentiary, where he was serving a five year sentence. He formerly was circuit judge.

WAS PROMINENT MAN.

Terre Haute, Ind., March 30.—Eli H. Redman for twenty years was a well known attorney of Vigo county. He was indicted in the election fraud cases in Terre Haute and with twenty-one other city and county officers, was sentenced to Leavenworth prison for a term of five years. He was one of the over 100 defendants in the spectacular trial of these cases held before Judge A. B. Anderson in Indianapolis two years ago.

At the time of his indictment he was judge of the Vigo county circuit court. He was an alleged beneficiary of the scheme by which Donn M. Roberts and other political leaders elected the county and city tickets and Judge

GUARD DIVIDES ON METHOD FOR CREATING ARMY

New York, March 30.—The opinion of the national guard concerning the method of raising a big army is divided, and two separate recommendations will be sent to congress. These recommendations agree in advocation of the present national guard although under federal control, while the other does not mention the militia.

The first of these recommendations was adopted yesterday at the close of the national defense convention of the National Guard association of the United States. It provides that the national guard be taken out of the militia class and become a "veritable federal force," under control of the general staff. After the convention had adjourned, militia men assembled at a meeting in the same armory, called by the universal service committee of the national guard and naval militia, and adopted resolutions favoring "universal military training and service under exclusive federal control for all male citizens of the United States of suitable age."

Officers of the veterans' committee declared the convention had taken its vote earlier than they expected and that they had not been given a proper opportunity to present their views.

LOVEJOY LIFTS VOICE AGAINST CONSCRIPTION

Washington, D. C., March 30.—Owen R. Lovejoy, secretary of the national child labor committee and a member of the executive committee of the American union against militarism, today made public a letter he had written to President Wilson urging him to resist pressure from Senator Chamberlain and others, to include compulsory military training and service among the subjects scheduled for consideration at the special session of congress. "I do not see why the present national defense act with its provisions for the training of 300,000 young men a year on the volunteer basis, should not be given a fair chance to prove its merit before the country abandons it for conscription," wrote Mr. Lovejoy. "The suggestion recently made by ex-President Taft that a conscription law be 'put over' now while the people are inflamed seems to me highly immoral from the standpoint of statesmanship.

"If there is to be any conscription, I submit that we should make the sacrifice of minor interests first, before presenting the ultimate gift."

AUSTRIA HAS PASSION FOR PEACE WITH US

Berne, Thursday, March 29.—(Via Paris, March 30.)—A neutral diplomat who arrived here from Vienna today asserts that Austria is almost feverishly anxious to retain good relations with the United States, but is even more desirous and determined to support Germany. The continuance of friendly relations between Washington and Vienna depends almost entirely, he believes, upon the outcome of the crisis between Germany and the United States. According to the diplomat, if America and Germany go to war, Austria will follow the lead of her ally, but if peace is preserved Vienna hopes to avoid a break with the United States. The economic situation in Austria is described by the traveler as very bad and getting steadily worse, although not worse than that in Germany.

FIND SPAHR NOT GUILTY

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Huntington, Ind., March 30.—John C. Spahr, of Markle, was acquitted of the charge of murder by a jury in the circuit court Friday morning. The jury reached its decision at 8 o'clock Friday morning, having wrestled with the question since Thursday evening, when Clifford F. Jackman, special judge, finished his instruction. At 7:30 Thursday evening the jury asked that the instructions be read to them again, especially the one in which the judge said that if the jury found Spahr guilty they must find that the killing of Arrel Littler was done with a shovel or spade, according to the theory of the prosecution.

At 9 o'clock Thursday morning Spahr was taken to the court room and the jury filed in. In answer to a question whether they had reached a verdict, M. L. Vickery, the foreman, said they had. The verdict was handed to the judge, who read the verdict

INSPECTION OFFICER FINDS BATTERY O. K.

Captain G. R. Green, of the Sixth artillery, U. S. A., conducted the inspection of Battery D, at the State street armory, Thursday night and found the equipment and men in good shape. There were ninety-two men and five officers present at the inspection. The regular army officer seemed to be very much pleased with the manner in which the men went through the inspection.

Sunday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock the battery members will meet at the armory and will take a march to New Haven and back, over the Lincoln highway.

Captain John C. Scheffer has received word from the war department that he should submit the names of ten of the best men in the company, who will take examinations for commissions.

CALIFORNIA'S HIRAM JOHNSON STOPS HERE

Ex-Governor Hiram Johnson, of California, passed through Fort Wayne Thursday night at 9 o'clock on his way to Washington to attend the special session of congress. He stopped over five minutes and told an inquirer that he was on his way to do his little part. He paid a glowing tribute to Fort Wayne and said it was one of the best cities in the country, and that Indiana was one of the best states in the union. He said he would never forget the favors shown him and the courtesies extended to him while in this city in 1913.

TO MAKE NO PEACE MOVE

Berne, March 29—Via Paris, March 30.—The Swiss parliment decided today by a vote of 88 to 22 that Switzerland should make no move in behalf of peace at the present time.

This action was taken after hearing the majority and minority reports of a commission appointed to consider the possibility of a peace move by Switzerland. The majority of the committee advised against any action at this time. The minority suggested: First, that the Bundesrat declare itself ready to take part in a general conference of states immediately after the war for the purpose of creating an international organization for the peaceful settlement of all political and economical disputes. Secondly, that the Bundesrat declare itself ready, either alone or in connection with other neutral states, to offer its good services for peace negotiations

SPAIN TRANQUIL IN FACE OF BIG LABOR UPRISING

Washington, March 30.—A revolutionary movement, which resulted in the calling of a great strike, was directly responsible for the suspension yesterday by Spain of constitutional guarantees, according to an official dispatch received to-day by Ambassador Riano from Madrid.

The government having arrested the signers of the strike manifesto, is said in the dispatch now to be relying upon the "common sense" of workmen and the effectiveness of the measures taken, to preserve public order. The country was quiet at the time the dispatch was sent.

The text follows: "A manifesto having been published by the representatives of the workmens' union proclaiming a general strike without fixing a date and clearly with revolutionary purpose and with the idea of disturbing public order, which was very marked last night at a public meeting, the government has suspended constitutional guarantees, after having arrested by judicial order the signers of the manifesto. Absolute tranquility reigns all over Spain and the government trusts in the common sense of the workmen and in the effectiveness of the measures adopted, to preserve public order."

POLICE OUT TO STOP CHICAGO FOOD RIOTING

Chicago, March 30.—Hundreds of policemen were detailed today to protect the meat markets and groceries in the west side Ghetto which were attacked yesterday by angry crowds, composed mostly of women who protested against the high prices of food.

Armed with stones and kerosene which they poured over meat the women attacked the kosher butchers who, they said, were chiefly responsible for the high prices. Windows were shattered and hundreds of pounds of foodstuffs destroyed. Women who entered the shops to make purchases were seized, their clothing torn and their parcels taken from them and thrown into the street.

The rioting began early yesterday and was kept up until the markets closed late at night. It is said that a boycott of all kosher butchers in the city has been planned for today and to prevent rioting police officials early today sent mounted and motorcycle squads to the congested districts of the west side, where crowds are likely to congregate. It was said by the police that the disturbance was not due so much to the inability of the rioters to buy food as to their desire to lower prices by keeping others from obtaining it and thus increasing supply.

NAME CHAMP CLARK FOR SPEAKERSHIP WITHOUT CONTEST

USUAL DELAYS AT OPENING ARE CUT OUT

Washington, D. C., March 30.—Plans for prompt organization of the house when it assembles on Monday so that there may be no unnecessary delay in hearing President Wilson's address were made by the democratic caucus today when Champ Clark was nominated by acclimation for speaker of the ways and means committee was instructed to report democratic committee selections directly to the house. This latter provision will eliminate the usual delay of submitting the selections to another caucus and was made to save time.

Mr. Clark is confident of re-election when the house meets Monday. There was no opposition to him today and it took fifteen minutes to make the nomination. Representative Shackleford, a colleague, made the nominating speech and the formality of voting was dispensed with. Mr. Clark has been in congress more than twenty years and has been the speaker for the last three congresses.

After the nomination the caucus took up questions of house organization.

Present house officers were renominated and present democratic members of the ways and means committee renamed. This committee acts as the committee on committees and will make all committee selections for nomination to the new house. There were 181 member at the caucus, which was undisturbed by any serious fights. Thirty-three democrats, some of them classed as insurgents, failed to show up.

WILL INITIATE CLASS.

The Modern Woodmen, camp No. 4761, will initiate a class of candidates at its lodge rooms, 219 East Berry street, Saturday evening, March 31. Members of the Kendallville camp will be in attendance to perform the ceremonies. Large delegations from various cities will be present. A smoker and supper will precede the ceremony of adoption of the candidates.

SUCCESSFUL TRAINING FOR AVIATION CORPS.

Chicago, March 30.—McMillan Weddell, of Hinesdale, a suburb, is today in the government aero service after having been refused earlier in the week. Weddell, who is an experienced aviator, tried to enlist but was found to weigh only 142 pounds, six pounds under the weight required for the aero service. Yesterday he brought his weight up to the required 148 pounds by eating four very large meals.

BISHOP TALKS TO NEW CLASS

DEPAUW GRADUATES FORM ORGANIZATION

Rev. J. A. Beatty Makes Good Showing in Muncie District.

Huntington, Ind., March 30.—The announcement of the results of the conference examinations, the calling of the roll of the various districts for reports from the pastors, and the address of Bishop Nicholson to the entering classes from the first, second, third and fourth years of the conference course were the big events of the Methodist conference Friday morning.

The conference began the day by singing the conference hymn written by Rev. T. C. Neal, of Marion, Ind., and the bishop continued his expository address on the twelfth and thirteenth chapters of First Corinthians. The bishop said that money is not worth much until it buys something worth more than money, and only when society is dominated by the mind of God will the highest state of society life be reached.

As gangrene poisons the body, so the weakest and least prominent preacher can not do a mean thing without injuring the whole body. The worst thing to be done is to put a small man in a big place. He said the man that took J. D. Rockefeller into the church never received a salary of more than $1,200 a year, yet he was behind all the Rockefeller benefactions.

Several ministers were excused to attend funerals. A telegram of sympathy was ordered sent to the Rev. R. W. Stokes, of Bourbon, whose wife was reported very ill. A short time after the Rev. R. J. Wade announced that Mrs. Stokes was dead. The members of the conference stood and were

Wsahington, March 30.—Orders were placed by the navy department today with the American Steel and Wire company, of Philadelphia, for the immediate construction of one hundred steel rope submarine nets. The nets will cost $1,881 each, will be 1,050 feet long, 30 feet wide with a twelve foot mesh. Deliveries will begin three weeks and continue at the rate of ten a week thereafter.

EASTER FLOWERS HAVE NOT ADVANCED IN PRICE

A Dollar Will Buy Just as Few Blossoms as It Did a Year Ago.

Our well known acquaintance, Hi C. Livin, who has done about as much damage as any one we can think of right now and excused his actions by the utterance of "war," has had no effect on the price of Easter flowers. At least the florists say so. A dollar will buy just as few flowers this joyous Easter tide as it did a year ago.

The once aristocratic egg may have advanced to a level where you cannot reach it and place it in the menu, but along with the new suit or dress you can sport a bouquet of violets or even, perhaps, the custom-decreed Easter lily.

Florists as a whole have ruled that neither the war, tariff, submarine blockade, or the general advance in all things have had any effect on the price of the beautiful flowers.

The official flower for Easter, as custom has established, is the lily. Corsage bouquets of violets livened up with lilies of the valley or an orchid will also be correct for a week from Sunday. The tendency is to return to the old June roses of years gone by. At any rate if we all wear flowers on Easter Sunday a shortage may be declared and prices may advance. Knock on wood.

GARRETT NEWS.

Garrett, Ind., March 30.—The stereopticon lecture given at the high school building, Thursday evening, to the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades and their parents was very well attended and very interesting. The pictures showed Indiana history.

Quite a number of the Garrett lads who are members of the Auburn Y. M. C. A. are taking part in the "Giggling Bros. & Cells" circus which is being given at the association building in Auburn, Thursday and Friday nights. A great many from this city will attend this entertainment.

The Johnston building, on the corner of King and Randolph street, occupied by the Patterson drug store, has been leased by Mr. Patterson for ninety-nine years and he is planning to erect a new building there soon. The present building on the site is a frame structure and one of the oldest in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Herdman Sherlock and daughter, of Pittsburg, Pa., are visiting Mrs. Sherlock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jno B. Mager.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church, have secured the services of the well known Garcia Concert company, who will give a concert at the church, Friday evening. The company consists of four members and the music lovers of this city will enjoy a rare treat in hearing them.

Mrs. Seward Martin was able to return to her home in this city Wednesday after a three weeks' stay at Sacred heart hospital.

Mrs. Homer Johnson and Miss Florence Hill are spending the week-end in Chicago.

The death of Berneice Hollis, the seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hollis, which occurred yesterday was indeed a sad one. The child had attended school Tuesday and upon reaching hom in the evening complained of a severe headache. She gradually grew worse and she finally went into convulsions, and her death occurred in less than twenty-four hours after taking sick. She leaves her parents and six brothers and sisters. Another younger child in the family is reported very ill also.

Friends in this city have received announcement of the engagement of W. Lyman Campbell, of Baltimore, and a Miss Underwood, daughter of President F. W. Underwood, of the Erie railroad. Mr. Campbell was a resident of this city for several months, being trainmaster over the Chicago division of the Baltimore & Ohio. He left here to become a member of the staff of the operating vice president at Baltimore.

The annual Easter services of the Apollo Commandery No. 19, Knights Templar, will be held in this city at the First Methodist church, the Rev. Charles Tinkham, who is a sir knight, delivering the sermon. The meeting last year was held at Butler and was attended by hundreds of people. Knights will be present from Angola, Butler, Waterloo, Auburn, Albion and Kendallville. The committee in charge of the program will arrange for special music and a very interesting meeting to which the public is invited.

Through the fire which destroyed the Hunsel block in this city the Knights of Columbus were thrown out of a lodge room. They had occupied the front rooms of the Hunsel block for several years, and were nicely situated there. However, they have secured excellent quarters in the second story of the Clark building recently completed on Randolph street and move into the same next week. They expect to purchase considerable new furniture and have spacious quarters.

At the vesper service in the local Presbyterian church next Sunday evening, Miss Julia Hodge, of Auburn, will give a talk on her missionary work in the Philippines. Miss Hodge was engaged in missionary work in that locality for several years but owing to failing health was compelled to give it up for several months. However, she expects to leave soon to resume her work as instructor in the Ellenwood college, in the Philippines.

The congregation of the Methodist Episcopal church of this city gave a reception Tuesday evening for Rev. Charles Tinkham and family, before their departure for the Northern Indiana conference, at Huntington, which opened Wednesday morning. Rev. Tinkham has been pastor of the Garrett church six years and during this time the congregation has enjoyed a remarkable growth in every way. As a token of the esteem in which they are held by the people of Garrett, Rev. Tinkham was presented with a beautiful Knights Templar ring and Mrs. Tinkham a silver clock and silver candle stick. The congregation hopes that the Tinkhams will be returned here for another year.

The body of William Moore, whose death occurred at Sacred Heart hospital Tuesday evening, was shipped to Kendallville, thence to his former home at Wauwaka. Mr. Moore had been a patient at the hospital three weeks, suffering with pneumonia, but was improving nicely and was able to be up. He started to get a drink of water when he was attacked with heart failure and dropped dead. He was fifty-one years of age and leaves a wife and five children. Undertaker George Iler removed the body to his morgue where it was prepared for burial and shipped to his home.

GRANITE MEMORIAL TO MRS. EDDY COMPLETED

Boston, March 30.—The memorial to Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, erected in Mt. Auburn cemetery at Cambridge, Mass., has been turned over to the Christian Science board of directors by Elbert S. Barlow, of New York, who had charge of its construction. More than a year and a half has been required to complete it. Christian Scientists throughout the world have contributed, as expressions of sentiment, the entire cost of more than $150,000.

The memorial is of Bethel white granite and consists of an open circular colonnade of eight columns fifteen feet in height, surmounted by a cornice and cresting. The space inside the colonnade is to be filled with growing flowers. The columns rest on a stylobate of three steps, which also rest, at one side, on a broad platform of Pompton pink granite and, at the other, which is about five feet lower, on a double flight of circular steps. These are flanked on each side by a large pylon.

Detail Work Elaborate.

The pylons were exhibited a short time ago at the American Institute of Architecture in New York, and were pronounced by several experts to be the finest pieces of carved grantie ever executed. The detail is elaborated to an extent never before attempted in granite; some of the stems and leaves are practically free standing, so great is the relief.

Interviewed regarding the memorial the architect, Egerton Swartwout, of New York, said: "The site is singularly pleasing; in fact, I question whether a finer site could anywhere be found. It can be seen from all side equally well, close at hand from the cemetery road, and from a quarter of a mile away across the lake. Indeed, it is this body of water which forms the chief beauty of the site. There is a drop of approximately ten feet from the level of the road to the level of the lake, these being a natural terrace on the axis of the plot which lends itself admirably to the architectural development of the memorial. The lake is unusually still, and has a mirrorlike quality which reflects admirably the white granite of which the memorial is made.

Regarded as Remarkable.

"As to the memorial, I think it can be said without contradiction that, leavin gaside any artistic excellence, such perfection and delicacy have never been attained before in this unyielding and enduring material. There is certainly noting in modern times that can approach it nor, as far as I know, in any of the monuments of antiquity."

Mr. Swatwout designed the new Missouri state capitol and the new federal building in Denver and recently won the competition for the new George Washington memorial.

All that now remains to be done to complete the memorial to Mrs. Eddy is the planting of the landscape, which is to consist chiefly of some evergreen plants that will preserve their form and leaves throughout the year, and some cedars and rhododendrons.

ALCHOL ON KIDNEYS

The constant regular or irregular use of beverages containing alcohol, will sooner or later make trouble for the kidneys. Sometimes an excess acid secretion is formed, but usually the beginning of urinary trouble is denoted by an excess alkaline secretion giving rise to frequent desire of urination, followed by pain, burning, scalding, with irritation manifest in the passage. The urine highly colored and strong with odor should be corrected with

Indigestion and Constipation.

Indigestion and constipation are among the most common causes of ill health. A man never feels so completely used up as when his stomach goes back on him. Fortunately quick relief may be had by taking Chamberlain's Tablets, and in most cases this relief becomes permanent. Do not give up but take Chamberlain's Tablets, get well and stay well as many others have done. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

46 And they came to Jericho: and as he went out of Jericho with his disciples and a great number of people, blind Bartimeus, the son of Timeus, sat by the highway side begging.
47 And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry out, and say, Jesus, thou Son of David, have mercy on me.
48 And many charged him that he should hold his peace: but he cried the more a great deal, Thou Son of David, have mercy on me.
49 And Jesus stood still, and commanded him to be called. And they call the blind man, saying unto him, Be of good comfort, rise; he calleth thee.
50 And he, casting away his garment, rose, and came to Jesus.
51 And Jesus answered and said unto him, What wilt thou that I should do unto thee? The blind man said unto him, Lord, that I might receive my sight.
52 And Jesus said unto him, Go thy way; thy faith hath made thee whole. And immediately he received his sight, and followed Jesus in the way.

22 And he cometh to Bethsaida; and they bring a blind man unto him, and besought him to touch him.
23 And he took the blind man by the hand, and led him out of the town; and when he had spit on his eyes, and put his hands upon him, he asked him if he saw aught.
24 And he looked up, and said, I see men as trees, walking.
25 After that he put his hands again upon his eyes, and made him look up; and he was restored, and saw every man clearly.
26 And he sent him away to his house, saying, Neither go into the town, nor tell it to any in the town.

No Compromise Possible.

It seems to be a thoroughly settled belief that congress, which meets in extra session next Monday, will go no farther than to declare Germany has committed acts of war against the United States and that a state of war exists between the two governments. It is believed that congress will vote the president ample credit for the national defense and authorize all necessary steps to effect it. President Wilson is expected to recite the chapter of America's grievances against Germany, which consists mostly of unwarned attacks by submarines and the los sof American lives in several different instances of ruthlessness.

Germany fully asserts her intention to go on with unrestricted use of submarines. She claims her international right to do so. Washington disputes it, declares America will not recognize Germany's barred zone and will hold Germany to account for the loss of American lives. Just how these two radical attitudes can be compromised, as some have suggested by way of pacific effort, is not clear. Germany has been for two months in the full pursuit of her policy or ruthlessness. Several American ships have gone down and many American lives have been sacrificed. Germany is stubbornly refusing to back up a step on her declarations of frightfulness at sea. No longer ago than Friday, Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg stood in the reichstag and proclaimed that if the "American nation considers unrestricted submarine warfare cause for which to declare war against the German nation, we shall not have to bear the burden of responsibility for it." That does not seem to leave much room for a compromise. It does seem to sound the "last word" which Mr. Bryan is fond of saying never should be spoken between friends. Any indication that Germany might abate ruthlessness perhaps would ease the situation, but there has not been from the first any word or sign that this is probable. Our ships have been sunk in warfare at sea. Americans have perished when ships have gone down. The case that the president said would determine matters has been made out. It remains to be seen whether or not there is to be any backing down and if it is this country that is going to do it. Certainly President Wilson is in no mood to do that and it is not believed that even the feverish campaign of American pacifists, supporting the activities of the ingenious and dangerous pro-German propaganda in the United States, will be enough to deter congress from declaring that a state of war exists.

If national cognizance of that situation be taken the days may be counted that will pass before actual war follows. It is tantamount to a declaration of war to declare that there is war. That point reached it is not likely that there would be any delicacy about coming to a clinch. The American navy and its auxiliaries are being hastened into condition for that purpose. Talk about compromise has been outdated by events. The Washington government will make good what it has said or will back down. Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg does not leave America the least degree of hope that he wants or expects compromise or is willing to consider negotiations. The two governments have come to a fatal split upon a vital issue. When governments do that they try to settle the dispute with the war club. And that is the situation.

Good May Come of It.

The plan already approved by the democratic state committee and likely to receive similar approval from the republican state organization for a coalition to circumvent partisan contests in the election of delegates to the constitutional convention is a movement out of which a good result may come. If both parties act in wholly good faith the value of such a purpose is not to be doubted. The fear that there may be a resort to slate-making on a bi-partisan basis along familiar lines and according to ancient partisan practices holds place in some minds, but this can be removed by the party organizations themselves if they omit no effort to prove the rectitude of their intentions. It will be unfortunate for the new constitution if delegates are to be chosen in partisan contests. There are issues upon which plenty of contests will be based. A plan to insure that capable and unbiased men who have the confidence of the people shall sit in the convention will do much at the outset to make the work of the convention of a high character and worthy of public belief in its merits. The manner of the reception of the bi-partisan plan will be determined by the degree of good faith in which both great political organizations shall act in the execution of this proposal.

There is reason to suspect that when the suffragettes of the Congressional union fully understand Lloyd George and Mr. Asquith have both been converted to suffrage, they will resume the silent sentineling.

NEW ALBANY'S DANGER.

(Indianapolis News.)

Contributions to the New Albany relief fund were somewhat more generous yesterday, but the Red Cross and other relief workers are still very much in doubt as to how far they dare go in providing assistance to those who are actually suffering, for as yet the contributions have not been large enough to warrant the belief that enough money can be raised to continue the work. In fact, New Albany stands in danger of being left with some 300 families to feed and house, and no money to defray expenses. The situation has become acute principally because public attention has been attracted elsewhere, and not because of a public disposition to let the city suffer the consequences of a disaster for which it is in no way responsible.

The war department's order calling into the service of the government the Second Indiana regiment, including the companies which have been preserving order at New Albany, brought further anxiety to the stricken city, for the local authorities could not risk an outbreak among the convicts detailed to clear the city of wreckage. The refusal of certain saloonkeepers to close their places in the interest of good order shows also that within the city itself there is an element which must be watched. There has as yet been no looting, but unless it can be demonstrated that the relief work is in the hands of men who have generous financial support and adequate authority, there may at any time be an outbreak of lawlessness.

The Red Cross has been forced to appeal to the nation for funds for New Albany through national Red Cross headquarters. But the country is on the verge of war, and the Red Cross is busy trying to prepare for the mobilization of its forces. It can not be expected to stop this work. It should not be asked to stop it. The principal need is money, and the money should come from middle western cities. Every community should open a subscription list.

NEW COMPANY TO USE 600 CARS OF APPLES

Expects to Bottle 1,500,000 Gallons of Apple Juice.

Lafayette, Ind., March 30.—The National Fruit Juice company, of this city, has announced that it will manufacture and bottle this season more than 1,500,000 gallons of apple juice, requiring approximately 600 carloads of apples. Horticulturists and orchardists over the state are interested in the prospect, as it means much to the apple-growing business in Indians. It will permit farmers to sell that part of their apple crops that formerly went to waste. The juice company has been authorized to increase its capital stock from $10,000 to $750,000.

The prohibition of alcoholic beverages in the state after April 2 next year is expected to stimulate traffic in non-intoxicating beverages and the local company intends to utilize the Indiana apple crop for its product. The new beverage was introduced at the state apple show last year at West Baden, and since then has been in demand all over the United tates. The Indiana Horticultural society and the Purdue university agricultural department are encouraging the venture and urge farmers to conserve their apple crops.

Five-Story Storage Building.

Although some of the men interested in the fruit juice company also are interested in a local brewery, the two establishments are entirely separate and the brewery buildings are not to be used by the fruit juice concern when the state goes "dry," other plans having been adopted for the utilization of the large plant now operated as a brewery. The old Monon freight house, which was abandoned last week when the railroad company moved into the commodious new freight terminal, has been leased by the fruit juice company as a warehouse for its finished product. A contract has also been let for a five-story, concrete storage building which is an addition to the present equipment.

Giant fruit presses have been bought and a large addition to the present bottling plant is being erected. The Monon railroad is laying new sidetracks for the local industry.

Officers of the Company.

The officers of the company are: John Wagner, president; Frederick P. Thieme, xice president and treasurer; Frank H. Wagner, secretary; Gustave L. Goob, general manager. The directors are: William Gude, of Lafayette; John W. Eggeman, of Fort Wayne; C. I. Stone, of Indianapolis; Joseph G. Hamling, of Lafayette, and Theresa W. Thieme, Lafayette. The company has learned that Indiana has more than 5,000,000 bearing apple trees and with a normal crop from these trees it is believed the state will be able to provide for the company's needs.

SHOP AND RAILROAD NEWS

ALL TOO SMALL FOR THE CROWD

Many Fail to Get in to Hear Lecture at Y. M. C. A. on Superheaters.

The auditorium of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. was inadequate to the demand upon it Thursday night, when the first of a series of educational events for the benefit of railway men, shopmen and others was given. Before W. A. Buckbee, the speaker, commenced his address every seat and a number of extra chairs had occupants and standing room was at a premium. In fact a number of men who applied for admission to the room were compelled to turn away because of not being able to get in, so great was the crowd. W. A Buckbee, of the Locomotive Superheater company, the speaker, spoke on "Superheat and Superheaters," a question of great importance to railway men and particularly to those who work in the cab, in the shops and in the round house, where a knowledge of superheaters is a most valuable asset because they are fast becoming in general use on all first-class railways. The audience was composed chiefly of engineers and firemen and the success of the gathering was due in a great measure to J. H. Hanna, road foreman of engines of the Pennsylvania. The new locomotives of the latter company are all equipped with superheaters and the time is near when none others will be used on that road. Mr. Buckbee is one of the best informed men in the country on that subject. Following the lecture, the men in the audience asked questions concerning points not fully clear to them and in this manner obtained a very good idea of the mechanism of the superheater and its operation.

Mr. Buckbee was introduced by Master Mechanic E. E. Griest and James A. Foster, foreman of the air brake department of the Pennsylvania and chairman of the lecture committee, presided in the absence of H. T. Sympson, assistant division engineer of the Pennsylvania and chairman of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. committee of management, who was called out of the city. An interesting talk was given by General Secretary E. W. Pierce, of the Y. M. C. A., and the musical end of the program was well taken care of by Val Ewig, Elmer Stoll and the Blacksmith quartet.

The next event in the series will be a lecture on "Seamless Tubing," illustrated by moving pictures, which will be given by someone from the east. It will show the metal which enters into the tubing, from the mines to the finished product, illustrating the many different processes necessary to bring about the transformation. This lecture will be given in the First M. E. church, on East Wayne street, because of the inadequacy of the accommodations at the Y. M. C. A.

SHOT IN THE HIP.

The Sentinel yesterday told the story of an encounter between Pennsylvania patrolmen and brass thieves at Gary, but failed to state that the patrolman, Harry S. Stout, was shot in the hip by one of the thieves. The fellow with the gun shot under a car from the opposite side from Patrolman Stout, the bullet striking a steel handcuff, he had in his pocket and glancing, embedded itself in the flesh of the hip. The patrolman got after the thieves, sending several shots at them as they ran away and it is believed one of them was hit. They had sixteen journal brasses in sacks, which they dropped when the patrolman got busy with his gun. Mr. Stout, in making the report to Captain Stoll, requested that the news that he had been shot be suppressed until he came home, on account of his wife, whom he did not wish to frighten. The wound was dressed by the company's surgeon at Gary and Patrolman Stout came home last night, still carrying the bullet. This morning he went to the Lutheran hospital where Dr. Budd Van Sweringen extracted the bullet and stated that unless the wound became infected, it would soon heal. The shooting took place Wednesday night.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO THIEME.

Frederick Landis Says He Caused Call for New Constitution.

"Fort Wayne has a man who has done more to bring about common sense government in Indiana than any other citizen of which I know. That man is Theodore F. Thieme," said Ex-Congressman Frederick Landis, while the audience cheered heartily, Thursday night. Landis delivered his lecture, "Good Fellows Club," before the Electro-Technic club of the Fort Wayne General Electric works, at the Moose hall. Two hundred of the men attended the oratorical treat.

"It is a conceded fact that Mr. Thieme was the most vital force in bringing about the call for a constitutional convention in Indiana," Mr. Landis said. "I would rather see him sent as a delegate to the convention, which is to frame our organic law, than any other man in the state. He has shown that he looks upon our government from a business standpoint."

Landis spoke for new spirit of law enforcement and launched a bitter arraignment against the liquor traffic.

"Instead of a class of our laboring men spending the money for booze on Saturday night and their Sundays in the lock-up, picking gray backs off each other, let us make it possible for them to stay at home after they draw their pay and on Sunday they can take a walk in the park with their families," he said.

He said in conclusion: "I hope the time will come that it will not be possible in America for factory horrors to occur when hundreds of women operatives can be burned up in fire-trap buildings and the owners escape scot free. I hope to see the time come in our national experience when such a crime as the Eastland horror will not be possible, where nearly one thousand men, women and children were swept to their deaths in the Chicago river, and no one ever went to jail for it, so cleverly was the investigation whitewashed and the owners protected from prosecution. Injustice and tyranny must be banished and citizenship in old age must be provided for and honored instead of becoming a thing of reproach and neglect. These things enter into the very life of our nation and cannot be overlooked."

Fred G. Duryee, president of the Electro-Technic club, presided at the meeting and J. B. Mills, chairman of the educational committee, introduced Mr. Landis.

PATRIOTISM AT THE "LIGHTS."

Various Departments In Office Building Are Decorating.

"I guess none of the other rooms have anything on us in the way of flag display," said one of the men in the office of Chief Shop Clerk J. H. Evans at the General Electric works this morning, as he waved his hand towards the decorations. On the south wall of the big room, arranged so as not to interfere with the light, were three flags and on the north will another one, each being 8x15 feet in dimensions. Nearly all of the other rooms in the big office building were decorated with national colors and arrangements were made to-day to decorate those not already displaying the national colors. A mammoth flag will be hung in the general testing room to-morrow, and other departments are preparing to make similar display. These flags are bought with money contributed by the men and women in the various departments, and it is said that so far not one has refused to donate.

LOOKING OVER PLANS.

Y. M. C. A. Building Committee Meets Architect.

E. E. Griest, E. W. Peirce and Theodore Wentz, of the building committee of the Y. M. C. A., went to Chicago this morning to Shattuck & Hussey, the architects, and with them carefully go over the revised plans of the proposed building. This is the third time the committee has looked over the plans and discovered opportunity for improvement and it is believed to be the final consultation in this connection.

EDWARDS RECEIVED HIGHEST MARK.

F. M. Edwards, one of the twelve or fifteen applicants for apprenticeship at the Pennsylvania machine shop, stood highest in the very rigid examination and was assigned to the only opening in the ranks. He commenced work this morning as an apprentice, being assigned tothe round house. It is said that the other applicants made a very creditable showing, but they will have to wait a vacancy before they can be given an apprenticeship. The following quarterly transfers of transfers of apprentices takes place Sunday, the first day of the quarter: K. Laughlin from the erecting shop to the michine shop; N. Wyatt from the machine shop to the recting shop; T. Litot from the round house to the machine shop, and R. Bryant from the machine shop to the round house.

PATRIOTIC DISPLAY CONTINUES.

The Pennsylvania shopmen continue to show their patriotism and are getting ready to throw more flags to the breezes. Instead of the display being made by the individual departments altogether, a movement is now on foot which contemplates a massive staff and flag that will extend far above the buildings and be visible from all parts of the city. The flags erected by the individual departments will continue in position, however. The planing mills employes have arranged to erect a 25-foot staff bearing an 8x12 flag on the Lafayette street cone of the main building and will float it tomorrow.

MOVING PUNCH DEPARTMENT.

The transfer of the machinery of the punch department of the General Electric works from the old factory building east of Broadway to the first floor of building No. 26, on Wall street, commenced this morning. Joseph Schwartzkopf is the general foreman of the department. The first machinery to go to the new home is that in the east part of the present quarters, known as the "Madison" work, in which there are about twenty machines. The foreman of this part is Clyde Atwater. It will take at least a week to transfer all the machinery to the new shop.

NATIONAL COLORS UNFURLED.

Yesterday the employes of the N. Y. C. yards and freight house and office raised a flag on the freight house, on Clinton street, and when the banner swung out in response to the breeze, the men stood with uncovered heads while two engines added to the din in honor of the patriotic demonstration. The employes at the round house also purchased a flag, which was mounted amid the cheers of the patriots who witnessed the ceremony and the shrill screech of some locomotive whistles.

IDLENESS NOT HIS FORTE.

Louis Baker, the Pennsylvania employe, who had to quit work because he had reached the age limit, seventy years, finds thime dragging heavily on his hands and has decided to take other employment. He has secured a job with the Fort Wayne Building Supplies company, on Hayden street, and begins work next Monday. He will continue to receive a pension from the Pennsylvania company, which does not object to him taking any honorable employment he can find.

IS PENNSY X-RAY MAN.

Havice the oculist, has been appointed assistant surgeon, to have complete charge of the X-ray work. Dr. Grandy has had charge of this feature at the Lutheran hospital for six years.

SHORT ON LABORERS.

MOVING INTO NEW HOME.

DISQUIETING RUMORS ARE HEARD IN CHINA

Peking, March 30—Disquieting rumors are in circulation in Peking concerning an alleged plan to make a separate state out of Manchuria and place it under Manchu rule, with the capitol at Mukden.

Three sons of the late Prince Ching, the most famous of the Manchu statesmen who directed Chinese affairs during the last years of the monarchy, recently went from Dairen to Japan, where they are to take courses in military schaals. The departure of these young Manchus, all of whom are of age, prompted much newspaper discussion as to the plans of the young princes. Many newspapers in North China regard Japan's interest in the young Manchus with much suspicion.

Sculptor's Romantic Career.

If there be anything more remarkable than the mighty genius of Rodin, the world's greatest living sculptor, who recently married at the age of seventy, it can only be the romantic story of his life's career. As a boy he ran about the streets of Paris unkempt and uncared for, depending for a livelihood on the charity of passers-by, and performing sundry errands for artists of the Latin quarter. His first permanent occupation was that of mixing clays for a now famous sculptor. It was during these days that he developed a love for modeling. He was twenty-two when he exhibited his first statue, "The Man With the Broken Nose."

Germany Developing Water Power.

Germany is making more and more use of her water power for the production of electricity. This extended use of water power has powerfully contributed to the saving of human labor, with the result that Germany can now produce electrical energy almost as cheaply as the countries possessing an unlimited supply of water power. The business of extracting nitrogen from the atmosphere has been so successful, according to report, that in 1917 the "Government will be able to dispose of 5,000,000 tons of nitrous manure, which is four times the amount needed in peace time."

The luncheon was appointed in pink and yellow with jonquils and sweetpeas blossoms in vases and dainty place cards and nut holders also expressive of the same colors. Miss Poole found a lovely bunch of the flowers marking her place at the table and after the delicious spread of numerous good things had been served this popular bride-to-be was showered with gifts tied in white with blue and yellow ribbons to hold them. The guests took their sewing along to prolong their visit after the luncheon as invitations had expressed the desire for their company and there was much visiting, but no startling amount of needlework accomplished.

AT THE PALACE.

THE DINING CAR MINSTRELS.

Sons of Late Frank Howard in Black Face at Palace.

Two of the sons of the late Frank Howard, one time minstrel idol of America, who call themselves Howard and Fields, are, with the assistance of an interlocutor, presenting a novel minstrel arrangement at the New Palace in which ballads, comedy gags and soft shoe dancing combine to recall the days of their father. The setting is novel and the comedy is the sort that takes big.

Thiesson's dogs, a canine act without a peer in vaudeville, opens this bill. Thiesson has taught his canine actors some remarkable tricks and the kiddies especially will go wild over them. A special matinee for the youngsters has been arranged for Saturday afternoon.

Grace DeWinter, the girl ventriloquist and light change artist; the three Willie Brothers in startling head balancing; Carson and Willard in their absurd chatter at the bulletin board, and Douglass Flint and company in The Merchant Prince, an epigrammatic bit of modern day comedy, completes this bill.

What the Chicago booking office claims is the greatest vaudeville combination ever assembled for the New Palace is billed for the first half of the coming week. It is headlined by the big time star Izetta, whose splendid skill as an accordeonist is matched only by the engaging manner in which she can sing comedy character songs, playing her own accompaniment. Among others on this bill are The Three Bordos; J. C. Lewis and company; Lew Madden and company; Dickenson and Deagon, and the big girl act, School Playgrounds.

Ray Samuels, herself, is coming back to the New Palace in an entirely new repertoire of comedy songs. The irrepressible Ray will be here Easter week. This week she is the star of the Palace show in Chicago.

MAY TRY OTHER QUEER MEANS TO FIND BODY

Driven to desperation by the futility of six days of tireless labor, in the hunt for the body of Frank Claus, police may employ more traditional methods in their quest for the corpse, Friday, although the ancient loaf of bread scheme seemed a failure, on Thursday.

Chief Lenz said Friday that he had learned that the home-made bread loaf, which was dropped into the swirling stream at the point where the small row boat is supposed to have capsized, sank beneath the tide at a point below the Four Mile house. He will have police make many drags in the region of the cluster of willows, which line the shore at that point.

Underwear of the water victim, if dropped into the stretam at the point where the body sank, will come to rest where the corpse lies, Lenz has been told. He has also heard that a hat of the drowned person will seek to locate upon the head of the body if the top piece is dropped in the river where the person went down.

Lenz says that since all scientific methods, such as dragging the river and using dynamite charges to jar the body free from entanglements, have been found fruitless and since his men will be constantly on duty patrolling the stream, until the corpse is recovered, he sees no harm in attempting the homely means suggested by housewives and others who hold to mystic lore. Use of these processes of locating the body at least make people understand that police are following all possible suggestions, Lenz says. The police may try to find the body of Claus by dropping a part of his clothing into the raging river.

"Have you tried sinking a sack of wheat yet?" a woman inquired of the chief Friday morning.

"No," Lenz admitted.

"I have heard that the sack of grain will go direct to the body of the drowned person," the woman explained.

"How big a sack?" asked Lenz promptly. He believes that question was a most important one- considering the grain market.

"I never heard. But they claim they foun dthe body of my brother, who was drowned at Muncie, that way."

Lenz does not expect to try the sack of wheat plan because of the price of wheat, he says. He asked reporters to attempt to raise a "sinking" fund in order that all ancient methods of locating drowned bodies might be tried..

Police patrolled the river for a distance of two miles below New Haven, Friday. It is believed that the body of Claus will not be found below that point, owing to a large island which sets in the middle of the stream at that location. No more dynamiting of the stream will be carried on. Police fear that the body may not be located until the river falls below flood tide and the water is cleared.

Formal Fashions to Follow Freaks

New York, March, 29.—Beneath umbrella draperies, straight chemise robes and tissue evening gowns swathed orientally there remain the lovely natural curves of the female figure.

Perhaps the one high note of the openings of Paris models has been a tendency to display these lines once again. Certain small boleros, close fitting empire waists, and directoire coats curved to fit smoothly at the normal waist line seem to show Dame Fashion in a new frame of mind.

Lately fashion has been like a painter who gets his effects by the way he contrasts his colors. There are hints that she will soon turn sculptor and deal directly with the human form divine.

There is a promise of things precise and formal in some of the most artistic new creations. Therefore women who delight in unbalanced arrangements are making the most of their present opportunities. for instance there is the "opposed" treatment of the two sides of a dress: one sleeve of draped chiffon and the other arm merely braceleted with beaded banding; or looped drapery of tulle on one side of a skirt and satin plaits or a broad embroidered sash on the other; or evening capes with but one sleeve.

Other charming and persistent eccentricities are the uneven or wavy hem; the Algerian or under-caught hem; trains made of a straight width of silk suspended from the shoulders; and such violent contrasts as the uncollared bodice and the Elizabethan ruff which is wired and fluted and which flares from the square cut waist to a point well above the ears.

FRENCH FOUND MORE MUNITIONS ARE NEEDED

But It Was Not Realized Until the Battle of the Marne.

Paris, March 30—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—It was not until the Battle of the Marne was at its height when war munitions were running low that the French government realized the imperious need of an intense production of war material, according to statements made by Albert Thomas, Minister of Munitions, in the Chamber of Deputies. M. Thomas was speaking in reply to criticisms of the conditions under which war material had been supplied to the French army.

From his assertions, it appears that the French War Department had estimated before the war that it would be necessary for state arsenals to produce not more than 13,000 shells a day. In belief that the conflict would be short, no provision whatever was made for the production of explosives during the hostilities.

When it was discovered, during the battle of the Marne, that this estimate was insufficient, Alexandre Millerand, the Minister of War, summoned to Bordeaux the heads of all manufacturing establishments available and organized them into groups for the rapid production of 3-inch shells.

Neither the government nor the manufacturers had then any basis for figuring the cost. The exceptional conditions and the great need of immediately replenishing the supply, M. Thomas said, accounted for the abnormal prices and for the fabulous profits reaped by the manufacturers. Three-inch shells at that time cost the government fifiteen frances each. Today they are purchased at prices ranging from six frances and fifty centimes to seven francs and fifty centimes.

The French War Department has placed 64,000 contracts for artillery, projectiles and explosives since September, 1914, M. Thomas said: All munitions producing plants in France, he added, have been under the control of the state from the beginning. Replying to deputies who demand that all industries able to contribute to the national defence should be requisitioned by the government, M. Thomas declared that this would cause disorganization. He accepted a proposal for a regime under which the state would exercise a control and share in the profits of these industries.

The government has established ten new gun foundries since September, 1914, and has enlarged eighteen others, it developed in the debate.

SOME REMARKABLE VALUES IN RUGS

"WATCH US GROW"

It is through buying in the large quantities such as only an exclusive rug house can do that we are able to give such values.

WE HAVE SUCH AN ARRAY OF VALUES THAT IT would be useless to attempt to give prices in this space.

We can now show you rugs which we can furnish in twenty-nine different sizes, and in the season's most beautiful patterns.

In the Wiltons we have the Royal Ka-Shan, Savalan, Royal & Trewan, Wilton, also Bangor, Bagdad, etc.

And just as women have found comfort in full skirts of a convenient shortness there appears a very long and narrow model which is sure to receive the attention if not the approval of the fashion makers.

For a more elaborate street suit, she selects something which is touched up with linen crewel, Bonnaz embroidery, chain stitch, soutache braid or tinsel thread. For her also, as well as for the woman who motors, are distinctive designs in long separate coats of Scotch mixtures, cut in mannish fashion, or full gathered models in velour de laine and other soft cloths.

There is no reason whatever why the economical shopper should not indulge in some of the pretty freakish things which she usually avoids. They cost no more than the common articles and they give a costume that sophisticated look which is the final test of good style.

The collarless blouse, for instance, is one of the prominent features of late fashion, which the average shopper is prone to overlook. Short sleeves and high necks are a combination to be noted.

Suede and glace leathers are used in millinery. Wide suede belts are much to be desired.

Draped hats are the last word in millinery. And no matter what the width, there are high crowned hats for those who like them and queer little flat crowns for those who can wear them. Wooden beads are employed to make hat ornaments.

Hats are very simple as to trimming, but striking in the use of different materials for crowns and brims. And historical designs are strangely modified as when the Napoleonic shape is done in tulle and violets.

Fringes are of almost every material and any length less than 12 inches. They are used on street suits as well as on afternoon and evening dresses.

Poplins are in high favor for coat suits. And very handsome one-piece garments, called suit-coats are made up of about equal parts of satin and serge.

MIDNIGHT HOURS BRING NO ALARM OF DREAD CROUP

And Mother Sleeps Without Fear of Hearing that Awful Brassy Choking Cough.

This fine boy is Master Charles Kern, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hurley, 1026 Madison St., LaPorte, Ind. Charles has a little "Bodyguard" who lives in a little blue jar, and protects him against croup, colds, sore throat, bronchitis—in fact all kinds of cold troubles.

The name of this "Bodyguard" is Vick's VapoRub Salve, and the best thing about him is that he doesn't have to be swallowed. To "post th guard." Charles' mother just applies VapoRub externally and covers with a warm flannel cloth. Quick relief comes by absorption through the skin and by inhalation as a vapor.

"We always try to keep VapoRub in the house," writes Mrs. Hurley, "as the children are very susceptible to croup. By rubbing it on their throats and chests they are soon relieved. My husband and I used VapoRub when we had pleurisy and our pains went almost immediately.

PANAMA COALING PLANTS.

Washington, March 30.—The two great coaling points of the Panama canal—one at Cristobal and the other at Balboa—which together have a total emergency storage capacity of 700,000 tons, have been completed. That at Christobal, the Atlantic terminus, is the larger and it is expected that most of the coaling will be done there. The plant there has been in commercial operation for several months, and it is expected the Balboa plant will be placed in use soon.

The completion at this time of these coaling plants of the Atlantic terminal of the canal is considered highly important should the United States be dragged into the European war.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream to your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

ENTOMOLOGIST GLAD TO ANSWER QUESTIONS

Indianapolis, March 30—A request to the newspapers of the state that they inform the public that the office of the state entomologist is for the use of any citizen of Indana and any one should feel free to ask its advice, has been made by Frank N. Wallace, the state entomologist. In his request, Mr. Wallace says the present high price of food stuffs make it advisable that more care be taken in their production and that his office is willing to help in every way possible. His communication to the newspapers follows:

"The law creating the office of State Entomologist was enacted in 1907 and the duties of the office included the work of identifying any injurious insect or disease pest in the state and recommending remedies for the same. We receive thousands of requests for information each year, yet the name of our office leads many people to infer that our work is all of a very technical nature and many who need our assistance do not apply for information, thinking it will not be given in plain practical form. I am asking the newspapaers of the state to make a statement as to what our duties consist of and that all residents of Indiana are to feel free to send in specimens for identification and to call upon us for directions to assist them in combating insect and disease pests.

"The present high prices and the shortage of food supplies make it highly desirable that more care than ever be given to the care of all crops and that they be protected from insect and disease pest in every way possible."

EJECTED BACHELORS.

Philadelphia, March, 30—Men weren't permitted to hear the serious side of "How to Choose a Husband" the other night at the Lighthouse, Lehigh avenue and Waterloo street. That's the reason that at least three young bachelors never may know why some girl did not choose them.

After hearing the address on the subject by Dr. Alice Norton, Supervisor Agnes Hamilton requested the bachelors to leave the room.

Dr. Norton characterized marriage as a lottery and told the girls that they probably would discover this themselves after they had drawn their prizes.

"Awomen is not complete until she marries," said Dr. Norton, "and then she is finished."

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of the Sunday School Course in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

JESUS GIVES SIGHT TO BLIND.

GOLDEN TEXT—I am the light of the world.—John 9:5.

This, another of the signs which Jesus performed, is recorded only by John. It probably occurred in October, six months before the crucifixion, while Jesus was attending the Feast of the Tabernacles. There are six other cases of blindness recorded as having been cured. Look them up.

I. The Case (vv. 1-4). It was absolutely hopeless. No human skill could touch it, but Jesus "passed by," and that changed everything. What men cannot do Jesus can. Jesus is passing today, and we may expect things quite as wonderful to happen (John 14:12). This blind man illustrates the unsaved sinner (I Cor. 2:14). He never had seen. He was beyond human help (v. 32). He had doubtless given up all hope of seeing. He was without sympathy, suspected and despised (vv. 2, 34). Poor—he was a beggar. He is also a type of the nation of Israel (Rev. 3:17). We must not attempt to explain all sickness (v. 3). God frequently uses it for the advancement of his kingdom (John 11:4). Jesus not only passed by but he "saw." The feeling of the crowd was that of curiosity and contempt. His feeling was that of compassion (vv. 2, 4 and 6). Sickness sometimes manifests God's sustaining grace (II Cor. 12:8-10). It is doubtless true that a large percentage of sickness is the direct result of sin (John 5:14; Mk. 2:5; Acts 12:23), some, of course, indirectly (Job 23:14-80).

II. The Cure (vv. 4-11). The word "must" in verse four is a strong one. The time for us to do our work is "now." This word "must" carries with it the idea of a divine imperative, and the reason for that imperativeness is the approaching "night." Night is coming fast, when no man can work. Notice the works we are to do are not our own, but "the works of him that sent me." Compare carefully verses two and four, and see that Jesus considered delivering the man from evil far more important than speculating about the origin of his complaint. Too much time is spent in investigation. Let us have more of action. The means used in this cure were clay and spittle. The miracle was performed in plain view of all who might see. The man did not ask Jesus to help him, but Jesus had gone where he was (v. 5). His words, "Go wash" were a test of the man's faith (II Kings 5:10-14), and his part in the transaction was a testimony that it was Christ who worked the cure. The use of the material means in this ceremony made the man more willing to go and wash. It gave him something to do, and doing is always an end to faith. Siloam means "sent," and was a type of Jesus himself (v. 4; John 10:36; Rom. 8:3; Gal. 4:4). If we wish to receive sight for our blind eyes, we should go to him and bathe (John 8:12).

III. The Controversy (v. 12 to end of chapter). This controversy gave opportunity for testimony, as we have already seen, first of all upon the part of the man whose testimony was progressive. At first he merely spoke of the fact. He was not acquainted with Jesus, for he calls him "The man called Jesus." Later on he is moved to call him a "prophet." He is a prophet (v. 17), and later still he recognizes him as "The Son of God" (vv. 35-38). This controversy established beyond question the fact of the cure. It brought out the deity of Christ (v. 38). The man was excommunicated, but for that matter he was already outside because of his physical infirmity, but, best of all, he became truly Christ's disciple.

IV. Comments. This lesson with its vivid contrasts of belief and unbelief gives us a wonderful opportunity to urge upon pupils a decision to live the Christian life. Has Christ opened the eyes of our scholars to the love of God, to the awfulness of sin, to the need of a Savior, our divine Leader and Brother? Urge them, in the class and out, to be as outspoken and courageous for Christ as was this man who had never before perhaps seen or heard of Jesus, and whose gratitude at once called forth this wonderful confession.

Being cast out by the rules of the synagogue brought this man into closer and deeper fellowship and communion with Jesus.

He had believed far enough to obey his bidding, and had thus been healed.

Now he is brought to a great saving, transforming faith, viz., that Jesus is the Son of God.

Do we take advantage of our privilege of confession?

Before Christ came there were no hospitals.

He is the inspiration of all charitable institutions, but healing of the body is of secondary iniportance; the healing of the soul is primary. "Whereas I was blind, now I see."

Start with what you know—your own experience—and he will reveal himself according to your developing and progressive needs.

U-BOAT CREW DID NOT LET OLD GLORY FLY

(Place Deleted by Censor,) March 30.—The crew of the German submarine which shelled and sank the American Algonquin without warning in British waters on March 12, refused to let the freight ship go down with the stars and stripes flying, Captain Nordberg, of the Algonquin, said today.

The captain and twenty-five of his men arrived this morning at an American port on the Cunard liner Orduna, from a British port. Before the Algonquin's men abandoned the vessel she was being shelled by the U-boat. Captain Nordberg said he decided not to haul down the American flag and hoped to see it flying when his ship disappeared. But the Germans who went aboard to place bombs, he said, lowered the emblem before they accomplished their work of destruction. Captain Nordberg's story, upon his arrival, added no other essential details to the cabled accounts of the loss of the Algonquin. He confirmed dispatches which have told how he and his crew were denied aid by the U-boat's captain and had to row sixty-five miles to land. About three miles off shore another submarine was sighted, he said. The Algonquin was on her way from New York with grain and provisions when sunk.

AMERICAN SHIP ESCAPES MINE SOWN CHANNEL

(Place Deleted), March 30.—The fact that the Cunard liner Orduna was stopped off the Irish coast by a British torpedo boat destroyer and hurriedly ordered into the nearest port while the North channel was swept clear of a great flock of mines suddenly discovered, there was revealed by the ship's officers as the reason the vessel was three days overdue when she reached her American destination today.

Upon arrival in the Irish port of refuge, her officers said they found twenty-seven other ships had already escaped the mine peril by putting in there, including one American ship. Two other vessels had fallen victims to the mines, they learned, and had gone down. The mine sweepers worked two days clearing the sea of the menace, destroying more than 100 mines. Then all the ships were ordered out at once, making their way through a lane of protecting torpedo boat destroyers and patrol boats until they reached safe waters.

On board the Orduna were five airplane experts who have been engaged in destruction and instruction work for the French on the western front. It was learned they have been called back here to assist the development of this country's aerial service.

Manes—Flickinger.

Miss Bessie Flickinger, of Hillside avenue, and Mr. Delbert Manes, of Garden street, were married in Jackson, Mich., on Monday of this week. Although Mr. Manes had a home ready for his bride at 2103 Pauline street, the wedding was in reality an elopement, as the bride and groom kept their plans entirely to themselves. Mr. Manes belongs to local union, No. 14, of the Steel Workers, and he is employed at the Rolling mills. On his return to work on Wednesday evening Mr. Manes was serenaded by the whistle of the works that blew for several minutes. The bride has been employed as a lamp inspector at the Holman street plant and she is a sister of Mr. Walter Flickinger. After the first of April Mr. and Mrs. Manes will be at their own home.

REFUSES TO SALUTE FLAG

WILL SALUTE GERMAN FLAG, HE DECLARES

Refusing to salute the American flag when asked to do so by his teacher, Herbert Tagmeyer, thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Tagmeyer, of 1207 Breck street, was expelled from the Bloomingdale school Friday morning.

Upon his refusal to obey a custom that has been in practice at the school every morning for the past month, Miss Margaret McPhail, principal of the school, took him to task. He again refused and then is alleged to have removed a small flag from his coat lapel, tearing it to shreds and throwing them upon the floor.

His actions aroused the entire school and had not the authorities exercised their authority it is feared that the other boys in the room would have taken it upon themselves to inflict the sort of punishment that would not have been to the young man's liking.

Officials of the school board declare that Tagmeyer on Thursday morning told two or three of his companions that he would always salute the German flag before he would the Stars and Stripes.

The boy had been a student at the Bloomingdale school since Monday. Prior to last Monday morning he had attended the Lincoln school in Washington township.

Miss McPhail, principal, declares that she will not tolerate disloyalty to the flag in any school over which she supervises. For that reason the boy was expelled.

WORK GIVEN CLASS OF SEVENTY AT CATHEDRAL

Work for the fourth to the fourteenth degrees was exemplified on a class of seventy at the Scottish Rite cathedral beginning at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. This is a special class, but a large number of Scottish Rite Masons both from the city and out of the city were in attendance.

It was announced that the work would not be concluded until about 10 o'clock Friday evening, at which time it is believed that the weary way of the candidates will come to an end after seeing all the sights along the beautiful lane which leads from the first to the second stopping place.

At 6:30 o'clock Friday evening all Scottish Rite Masons in the city will sit down to a banquet at the cathedral. It is estimated that an exceedingly large number will be in attendance.

REPUBLICAN CHIEFS MEET IN CONFERENCE

Indianapolis, Ind., March 30.—Republican leaders from all parts of the state began arriving here this morning to attend the conference to be held this afternoon for the purpose of discussing proposed plans for selecting the fifteen delegates-at-large to the constitutional convention. The conference was called by State Chairman Hays. He asserted before the opening of the meeting today that there would be no discussion of the availability of particular men for delegates. The conference was limited to members of the state committee, the executive and advisory committees, county chairmen and members of the Republican Editorial association.

Of this number eight were women. The cry for help from the country has not abated in the least and during the past six days work in the country was secured for fifteen men.

The following jobs were secured for applicants: Three boys, one clerk, two dishwashers, seven drivers, two engineers, fifteen farm hands, one fireman, 110 laborers, one machinist, four general houseworkers, two housekeepers, one nurse and one waitress.

ELECTORAL REFORM NOT POSSIBLE NOW

So Says German Chancellor, Who Also Blames Wilson for the Crisis.

London, March 30.—A Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam today adds the following to the wireless version of the speech of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German imperial chancellor, to the reichstag:

"Regarding the military situation I have little to add to the army reports. In the east, extensive operations are out of the question at the present. The season of impassable roads prevents operations on a great scale.

"In the west our backward movements are being effected according to plan and lead to daily increasing freedom of movement. The thanks of the entire people are due to the troops and their skilful leaders.

"On all the other fronts our troops are standing with undiminished tenacity. In Macedonia, Bulgarian and German troops are splendidly repulsing French attacks on a great scale.

"Regarding the submarine war, the secretary o fthe admiralty today made a detailed statement to the main committee of the reichstag."

Discussing internal politics, the dispatch quotes the chancellor as saying: "Although I would like it best if we could make reform in the franchises tomorrow, I doubt whether the moment, when we are concentrating all our strength in fighting the enemy, is the right one for originating a new electoral law. We must subordinate everything to bring the war to a happy conclusion."

Shifts Responsibility.

Respecting the American situation, the chancellor said: "Germany never had the slightest intention of attacking the United States of America and does not have such intention now. It never desired war against the United States of America and does not desire it today."

The chancellor made important declarations concerning Germany's policy toward the United States and Russia.

Declaring that Germany had undertaken unrestricted submarine warfare for its defense, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg said:

"If the American nation considers this a cause for which to declare war against the German nation with which it has lived in peace more than 100 years, if this action warrants an increase of bloodshed, we shall not have to bear the burden of responsibility for it."

He is expected to arrive Saturday morning.

George E. Martin, of the Breeders' Gazette, and William E. Huey, of the Shorthorn World, will also be in attendance at the sale. Prominent cattle men from various parts of the country have written that they will he here.

SLIPS ON ICY WALK AND BREAKS HIP BONE

George Conklin, of Angola, a brother of Guy Conklin, of this city, is a patient at the Lutheran hospital suffering with a broken hip bone. He sustained the injury Wednesday night when he slippe don an icy spot on the sidewalk near his home. The injury was considered as only a bad sprain but Thursday afternoon he was advised to go to a hospital. By use of the X-ray it was discovered Friday morning that he was suffering from a broken bone. The injury is giving him much pain.

THAW CIVILLY DEAD; CANNOT BE REMOVED

Philadelphia, Pa., March 30.—Harry K. Thaw, having been adjudged insane by a court of law, he is "civilly dead" and cannot be tried for crime was the declaration made by James Gay Gordon, of this city, representing the Thaw family in the hearing here today to have Thaw extradited to New York. The hearing was held before Attorney General Brown, representing the governor of Pennsylvania, to whom requisition for Thaw's removal to New York had been made by Governor Whitman to stand trial for beating Frederick Gump, jr., a Kansas City school boy. Thaw was recently declared insane by a Philadelphia court. He is still in a local hospital where he was taken January 12, after trying to commit suicide.

DEFERS FLIGHT TO AVIATION CORPS

The manager of the Anthony hotel stirred up the tempest which prevented Ramsey Frederick from making a successful take-off towards the army aviation service, Friday morning. Although telegraph wires between Fort Wayne and the lad's West Virginia home were sizzling, the recruit had not been able to make a flight on Friday afternoon.

Frederick had neglected to tell those in charge of the Anthony hotel, where he had been staying, that he was going to join the army, it is claimed. The manager of the establishment says that the young man owes the hotel more than $60 for lodging and food. When the chief clerk o fthe hotel learned that Frederick, who has been a salesman for an Indianapolis firm, it is said, was about to join the colors as a bird-man, he started action.

The youth was arrested Friday morning. He admits owing the hotel keeper, police say. He hoped to get the money from his parents in West Virginia in time to be able to leave for Indianapolis at 12 o'clock, as he claimed was the schedule. If he secures the money, the case, charging him with defrauding a boarding house keeper, will be dropped. He is held under $200 bond.

Uncertainty as to whether or not Judge Kerr would be able to hold the young man for civil court if Frederick was to leave for the army was expressed by the judge. Since Frederick is not yet a regular soldier, recruiting officers say they will make no effort to prevent his being kept for any length of time by civil authorities.

Thomas Found Guilty.

George Thomas was found guilty of the charge of assault and battery upon a small girl. He was fined $10 and costs and sentenced to 60 days in jail. The wife of Thomas, to whom he has been married but a few weeks, wept when Judge Kerr delivered his decision.

Thomas was said to have made an attack upon a fifteen-year-old girl when he was supposed to be escorting her to the home of a sick friend. The girl escaped from him and ran into a house near where the assault was supposed to have been made. The girl told in court that Thomas had attacked her.

The defendant denied the charge. He was represented by an attorney. Credence of the girl's story was questioned by the defense. Judge Kerr delivered a lengthy comment, in review of the trial of the case, before giving his verdict.

Other Police Court Cases.

John Cassedy, whose great toe peeped from his worn gaiters, was trying to sell two new pairs of shoes, in a second hand store when attention of police was called to him, Thursday. Cassedy attempted to get out of the store when he learned that the police were coming. He struck at the proprietor, who tried to detain him, police said. On a disorderly charge Cassedy was fined $5 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail.

Fred Wells, 40, was in Newcastle when the cyclone hit that city, he told Judge Kerr. Wells was so shaken and unnerved by that shocking storm that he sought relief in the ru mglass, he explained to the court. He was in Fort Wayne but a few hours Thursday, when taken on an intoxication charge. He was fined $1 and costs.

Other cases of public intoxication were Walter Sullivan, released; Frank Hall, to be tried Tuesday, and Charles Gray, to be tried Monday.

WANTS MORE HUMAN RIGHTS IN NEW LAW

More human rights, especially for protection of the working classes, should be expressed in the proposed new constitution for Indiana, said Mrs. Henry Wiesner in her address on "Why a New Constitution?" before a gathering of women voters in the assembly room of the court house Thursday night.

"Our present constitution pays too much attention to property and money and gives no ear to rights of men and women as human beings," said Mrs. Wiesner.

Organization of women voters was formed and will be called the Non-Partisan league. Dr. Carrie Banning was elected chairman of a committee of five which is to govern the new organization. Catherine Wagenhals, Mrs. O. N. Guldlin, Mrs. Wiesner and Miss Mary O. Kolb were the other members of the committee named.

AUSTRIAN WIFE IS DIPLOMAT'S BURDEN

Washington, March 30.—From authentic private sources it was learned today that personal reasons alone influenced the Russian provisional government in removing M. Bibintoff from the Russian legation at Berne. M. Binintoff is married to an Austrian woman and it was deemed improper for him to represent Russia.

There was no indication that the incident marks a change of policy in the Russian diplomatic service. The provisional government is said to have communicated with most of the Russian diplomatic representatives abroad its desire for the present at least they shall remain at their posts.

CONCORDIA CADETS IN MILITARY TOURNAMENT

The much heralded Concordia patriotic demonstration will be held Friday evening. Captain G. L. Byroade has been drilling his cadets with unusual rigor for some time in anticipation of the affair and the results acquired would certainly satisfy the most skeptical.

On commenting on the affair he said in part: "This latest achievement of our cadets will exceed everything of a military nature ever offered the public in the last few years. During these days when the cry for preparedness is at fever height, it is a most opportune time to dmeonstrate some of the results acquired by diligent military practice. But aside from the fact that real trained men are secured for the defens of our country; a boy or man subjected to a rigorous military life acquires a certain independence, precision, alertness and carriage of body which immediately distinguishes him from one who has been unfortunate enough not to receive such a training. In our tournament we are aiming not only at dressy formations but also to show the public a few practical things of real warfare. Several especially interesting drills have been assigned each company, while Company C has a most spectacular surprise in store for the crowd. The evening will be replete with thrills and I am sure that the wall-scaling in itself will almost pay for the entrance fee."

Tickets can only be secured at the door as those that were on sale uptown have already been withdrawn. The price is twenty-five cents.

NEXT CONFERENCE GOES TO WARSAW

Huntington, Ind., March 30.—Late this afternoon Warsaw was selected as the next meeting place for the Northern Indiana Methodist Episcopal conference. Several other cities asked for the meeting. Warsaw made a bid for the conference at the meeting held in Fort Woyne last year. It is never customary to give the conference to a city the first time it is asked for.

A resolution presented by Rev. C. Claud Travis, D. D. pastor of the Wayne street Methodist Episcopal church at Fort Wayne, calling for an endorsement of President Wilson in the present crisis with Germany and asking for the display of the American flag in all pulpits of the conference was passed by an unanimous vote of the members.

TO USE FOUR KINDS OF STREET PAVING

Items for Ten Improvements Require Two Hours in Reading.

Four kinds of paving materials will be used forthe improvement of ten city streets, it was decided by the board of works, Thursday night. Objection to the kind of materials to be used must be filed with the board within ten days. Hearing on any petition asking change of the paving plan will be held a week from Thursday, at 10 o'clock.

Materials chosen for the ten streets are bituminous concrete for Lafayette street, Oakwood drive, Andrew street and Glasgow avenue; vitrified shale block for Fox avenue, Melita street and Wayne street; sheet asphalt for Hoagland avenue and re-inforced concrete for Delaware avenue and Oak street.

Three local contracting firms, Brooks Construction company, Moellering Construction company and Grace Construction company, submitted bids on the improving of the streets. The total will amount to about $154,000.

Item of costs for paving each street, with any one of several kinds of materials, was submitted in each case. Clerk Becker, of the board of works, had the trying task of reading all bids. There were 1102 items. He croned over the dry statements from 8 o'clock until 10 o'clock, Thursday evening.

The board also confirmed the assessment roll for a sewer in the alley between Bowser avenue and Holton avenue, from Grier street to Eckart street. The plat for a new addition, to be known as the Bluffton interurban division, was up for approval.

DAIRIES GRADED.

Gradings of Fort Wayne dairies are announced after five weeks of gathering sample from the dairy plants and milk wagons. Dr. Paul Kucher, who has been conducting the test, announces that he is well satisfied with the showing of local dairies as a whole. Further investigation will be made of plants which fall below 3 per cent in butter fat and above 1,000,000 in bacterial count.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

First Case of the Present Year is Reported.

Beulah Garling, aged 8 years, 1820 Antionette street, a pupil in the Smart school, suffers from attack of infantile paralysis, health board was notified Thursday evening. Quarantine card was placed on the home Friday morning.

This is the first case of the infant child plague to appear in Fort Wayne this year. It is an exceptionally early start for the disease. Dr. James McHugh, who was treatitng the patient and who reported the disease to health officers, says there can be little doubt of the ailment being paralysis. It is not a critical case, however, he gives out.

Health officers do not fear an epidemic of the disease if precautions are taken at once, they say. Plenty of fresh air in the school room and home and care of the physical welfare of children generally will prevent a raging sweep of the plague, it is given out.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 30.—A telegram which seems to indicate that those members of the organized militia of Indiana, who did not take the dual federal and state oaths of allegiance, as specified in the Hay-Chamberlain act, shall be dropped from the Indiana national guard, as it is mustered into the federal service, has been received by Harry B. Smith, adjutant general, from Major General Barry, commanding the central department. The message declares that it is the old organized militia that is being called out, but the Indiana national guard constituted under the Hay-Chamberlain act.

AFFIDAVITS AGAINST FOUR MEAT DEALERS

Three affidavits charging adulteration of meats and another alleging that animals were killed outside of a licensed slaughter house, were filed against four Fort Wayne butchers Friday by Deputy Meat Inspector Josse. The defendants are ordered to appear in the cty court on Tuesday.

George W. Geller, whose meat market is at 2204 Fairfield avenue, is said to have followed the practice of killing animals in the country and carting their bodies to his market. Law states that killing must be in a licensed slaughter house.

Charged with adulterating meats are: Adolph Haller, 940 West Main street, claimed to have charged sausage with sulphites; F. J. Session, 1903 Hanna street, in whose sausage meat was found quantities of starch, it is set out, and The Hoosier meat market, 1326 Calhoun street, where cereals were found in sausage, the warrant shows.

In case the last three defendants do not plead guilty, State Chemist Miller will be brought to Fort Wayne to assist in the trial of their cases.

There was no demonstration in the room when the reading was done. The jury answered emphatically that it was their verdict, and after Judge Jackman had thanked them for their attention he dismissed them.

Spahr's attorneys and several bystanders shook hands with him. Spahr hurried to the jury box and shook hands with the twelve men as they passed out. He sobbed audibly as he expressed his thanks and the jurymen responded as they thought proper.

The entry on the court docket now reads: "Jury returns, in open court, a verdict of not guilty. Verdict received. Jury discharged. efendant discharged. State asks thirty days for bill of exceptions."

State Wants an Opinion.

The state probably will appeal the cause to get a ruling of the higher court on the instruction of the judge, which said the jury would have to find that the killing was with a shovel, if they found the defendant guilty. The appeal will not in any way affect the verdict of the jury.

Spahr left the court room soon after the verdict was returned and took the news of his release to his wife and three children. He has not made plans for the future.

The verdict followed a second trial of a charge of first degree murder, arising from the tragedy in which Arrel Littler lost his life on the evening of October 9, 1916. Spahr claimed self-defense, and that the killing was done with a brick or stone, while the state contended that he used a shovel. Mrs. Harley Derr, who said she was an eye-witness, was the main witness for the state on the shovel theory.

The jurors were W. A. Griffith, M. S. Myers, M. L. Vickery, D. F. Biliter, Alfred Redding, Dan Andrew, John Blose, Dan Shenkel, F. A. Heiney, Russell France, Francis Leavell and Bert Wynn. The trial began Monday, March 19.

His wife and son survive him. The son, Hilton H. Redman, was also one of the defendants in the case and served one year in Leavenworth.

Mr. Redman was born in Clarke county, Illinois, in 1861. After graduation from Lees seminary he became a student in the office of Judge G. W. Graham, at Marshall, Ill., and later entered the office of John M. Scofield, former judge of the supreme court of Illinois. He later became a member of the firm of McDonald and Butler, at Indianapolis, and came to this city in 1888, practicing law here up to the time of his election as circuit judge. He was admitted to the bar in local, state and United States courts. His body will be brought here for burial.

Mr. Redman had been ill only a few days. Intestinal grippe was given as the cause of death.

He was received at the prison on April 20, 1915, with Donn M. Roberts, former mayor of Terre Haute, and others of those convicted. Mrs. Roberts, the former mayor's wife, who has been visiting her husband here, telegraphed yesterday to the Redman family that the prisoner was seriously ill.

The two reports wore discussed yesterday and parliament at first declared itself in favor of the majority report, with the amendment that the bundesrat, the federal executive committee, should have a free hand to act if future developments render it desirable. The minority group was dissatisfied with this action and forced the question to a vote to-day, with the result that they were decisively defeated. Mr. Hoffman, director of the political department, in supporting the majority report, said that the petitions for a peace move by Switzerland were well meant but that the psychological moment for peace had not arrived.

"However," said Mr. Hoffman, "we are optimistic enough to declare that there is an absolute necessity to reconstruct international law so as to create new guarantees in order that such things as we are experiencing now will be impossible again. The first threads, however, will be spun in some other way, perhaps according to the Bryan scheme of agreements to defer war, which America has concluded."

Summary of the Day's War News

German troops in northern France are still falling back toward Cambrai under the British pressure. Evidently they have not reached, in this sector at least, a line on which they feel inclined to make a stand against the entente armies.

Today's announcement from Berlin of a German retirement on a four and a half mile front between Ruyalcourt and Sorel was forecast to some extent by the British announcement last night that the village of Neuville Bourjonval, on this line, had been captured. Berlin reports that the Germans gave way on the front indicated after an engagement with stronger British forces.

The French apparently have suspended temporarily their attacks along the southern end of the line. Paris reports a quiet night along virtually the whole front. North of the line of the retreat, near Neuville-St. Vaast, Berlin reports four attacks by a Canadian regiment, all of which were failures. There have been no important events on any of the other fronts.

A BREAST IN WHICH WARLIKE ARDOR BURNS.

Newark, N. J., March 30.—Andrew Miller, a young farmer who is on his way today to join the United States marines at Charleston, S. C., walked 25 miles to enlist because he had no money and was too proud to beg a ride. "I want to fight," he told the rcerulting officer. "I was working in a field when a fellow came along and said the Germans had declared war on the United States and were bombarding New York city. I dropped my hoe and didn't even wait to get the money that was coming to me. I don't need a uniform; all I want is a gun."

BRITISH PUBLISHERS ARE ALSO HARD HIT

By the Order Restricting Importation of Publications.

London, March 30—American publishers of books and magazines are not the only ones who stand to lose money by the new order of the government restricting the importation of publications. The British publishers have found that they also are hit pretty hard.

It was a growing custom for English publishers to have their books printed in the United States and the loose sheets transported and bound in England. In that manner they secured the American copyright, which is applicable only to books printed in the States. This is all done away with by the newest restrictions.

The American publishers of magazines and perioricals, for which England has become such fertile field, will of course, feel the worst effects of the order against importations. The only way the reader can now procure his American magazine is by ordering it direct from the publisher in United States.

Except that precipitation occurred in northeastern and northwestern districts, and in the north Pacific states, the weather has been generally fair during the last 24 hours. Moderate temperatures prevail, but the weather is colder than the seasonal average in the Plateau region and in the north Pacific states, and it is warmer than the normal on the eastern slope of the Rockies. Temperatures are lower this morning in northeastern and far northwestern districts, and higher in the districts lying between the Rocky mountains and the Mississippi river.

AIRCRAFT SUPERIORITY IS LESS PRONOUNCED

Germans Come Forward With Many New Types of Machines.

London, March 30-(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The superiority of the English and French aircraft, which was frequently asserted in official statements from the Entente side last year, is less pronounced this year, according to the British correspondents at the front. This is due to the appearance of several new types of German machines, chiefly modeled, it is said, on French and British designs, and known as the Albatros, Halberstadt, Ago, Roland, and the new Fokker.

The majority of them have fixed cylinder enginees, giving about 160 to 200 horse power. A few retain the rotary enginees with which the Germans achieved some success in the Fokker two years ago, but these rotary enginees are seldom of more than 130 horse power.

The new German machines have a speed of about 120 miles an hour, but their chief feature is their ability for climbing. Ordinarily they frequent the 14,000 foot levels, and they have been observed on picket duty as high as 20,000 feet. The latest German order for airplane enginees is said to have specifications designed to give their machines a radius of action up to at least 30,000 feet.

Meanwhile the British Air Service is putting forth strenuous exertions to keep ahead of its rival. Only in part is this a question of planes and enginees. It also involves the problems of more skilful pilots, and in this direction of training the British service has expanded extraordinarily.

After a class of military aviators have passed through their course of training on the slower types of school machines, those who show special aptitude are passed on to the "scout school", where they are given a special course in what is commonly called "aerobatics", which involves the use of the highest speed machines and as is necessary in air fighting. The inhandling them acrobatically in the air structors carry on sham fights in the air with their pupils, armed with cameras instead of guns.

Must Know Machine Gun.

Then there are the post-graduate aerial gunnery schools. The most expert pilot in the world is useless as a fighting man if he does not throughly understand his machine gun, for a perfect flyer with a jammed gun is of little use against a merely moderate pilot who is a crack shot and a real gun master. A combination of the two is the desideratum, as, for example, in the case of a young pilot recently mentioned in despatches, whose engine stopped dead at a height of 15,000 feet when he was being attacked by two German aeroplanes. Despite this loss of motive power forcing him to descend constantly, he shot down one machine drove the other away, and glided into his own lines undamaged.

The work of the aviator has become highly specialized in the course of the last twelve months. At the British aviation camps along the front in France, thare are separate squadrons of machines for reconnoissance, infantry contact, photography, artillery-spotting, and bomb dropping and, in almost every instance, squads of these machines may only accomplish their duties successfully when they are protected from enemy attack by machines of a type comparable to the torpedo-boat destroyers of a naval fleet.

Far these "destroyer machines," high speed, high-climbing ability, and high fighting and manoeuvring power are essential. Some of the newer British machines of this type are said to show a speed of over 150 miles an hour.

In all cases where the word "steel" occurs in the authorized version of the Bible the true rendering of the Hebrew should be "copper." Whether the ancient Hebrews were acquainted with steel is not certain. Steel appears to have been known to the Egyptians.

NEW RECRUITER COMES FOR NAVY

Roy Wort, chief quartermaster in the United States navy and who calls Fort Wayne his old home town, will come to the city Saturday to take charge of the naval recruiting station in the federal building. He will take the place of Officer Dalton, who goes to Terre Haute for permanent work.

Wort is the fourth officer to be placed in charge of the local station within two weeks. He has been on duty at the Indianapolis station for several months. He has several relatives living in Fort Wayne and his father resides near the city.

The enormous cost of the present war is largely accounted for by the vast quantities of ammunition that are daily being used. According to figures compiled by United States ordnance officers, the material used in constructing torpedoes and the expert workmanship that is required to perfect them brings the cost of firing one torpedo to about $7,000. (A torpedo must be accurate in all parts to a 5,000 of an inch or it will not work properly.) Shells and shrapnel cost about $20 apiece and machine guns eat upu ammunition at the rate of about $12 worth a minute. Rifle bullets cost 5 cents apiece and pistol cartridges about 2 cents.

TRADE BETWEEN SPAIN AND AMERICA IMPROVES

Madrid, March 30—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—There are some curious features of the increase in trade between Spain and America which has resulted from the submarine war and the cutting of Germany's trade with Spain. While American automobiles are having a great boom in Spain, they have one curious drawback in not being able to bring along the American tires, as these are rubber and contraband of war, subject to all kinds of restrictions and regulation.

The American auto-trucks are causing a revolution in Madrid along three distinct lines; first, doing away with the huge antique carts which labor along the streets; second, supplanting the long tandem teams of oxen and donkeys, covered with jingling bells; and finally, changing Madrid from one of the worst paved capitals of Europe to one of the best. The Spaniards look with awe at the disappearance of their ancient methods before the march of improvement.

A complication has arisen over the shipment of American meat to Spain. The Spanish ships were glad to get this class of freight, but the ships were not provided with the necessary refrigerating plant. As this essential for shipping meat long distances, many Spanish ships are being overhauled to put in the modern cold-storage equipment so as to handle this new class of American product. Once equipped this way, fresh Spanish fruit will be going to America, and fresh American meat coming to Spain.

American flat-irons and other electrical novelties are now being used for the first time, and the Spaniards say these articles are so much better finished than the German goods that used to come here that they will hold the market permanently even if German trade gets a footing again after the war. Even American drugstores with American medicines have made their appearance along the streets of Madrid.

Big Demand For Antiques.

Besides stepping into the place of France and Italy in supplying America with antiques, curios, etc., the war is also having the effect of giving Spain a good deal of the American trade in perfumes, toilet articles and soaps, which used to go from France in large quantities. Some of these articles, such as castile soap, have their origin here in Castile.

It is in the American demand for their art treasures that the Spanish are taking their chief interest. Buyers for the big American department stores are now coming here for the first time instead of to Florence, Milan, Paris and other art centers from which it would be risky to ship art treasures now.

America would have received a number of the painting of the great Spanish master, Goya if it had not been for a recent complication at the New York custom house. The pictures actually went to New York, were held on the pier for some time because of irregularities in making out papers, and were finally sent back here unopened. The owner had meantime made two trips to New York, but at last gave up the shipment as hopeless. One of the pictures was Goya's study of Madame Haro, another his Virgin painted on a panel of wood, and a third a peasant dance, on wood.

KING'S DAUGHTERS OF INDIANA ELECT

Terre Haute, Ind., March 30.—The concluding session of the state convention of the Indiana branch of the King's Daughters, held today, was featured by the announcement of the electoral ballot taken last night. It showed the re-election of all the present state officers except Mrs. James Turner, of Fort Wayne, secretary, whose place is taken by Mrs. Carl Steeg, of Indianapolis. The other officers are: President, Mrs. O. T. Wingfield, Indianapolis; vice president, Miss Blanche Maine, Indianapolis; treasurer, Mrs. L. E. Hitz, Madison; executive board, Mrs. John Conn, Evansville; Mrs. J. M. Merker, New Albany; Mrs. Louis Orth, Terre Haute; Mrs. E. J. Scott, Madison, and Miss Rose Farrington, Terre Haute.

Devotional services, the report of the auditing committee and accounts of the general convention held last June at Burlington, Vt., marked the concluding session. The next general convention will be held at Philadelphia.

Maybe the pigs will complain, and maybe they will be glad, when they learn that another patent has been granted for a process of manufacturing artificial lard, or a substitute for lard. This consists in subjecting cottonseed oil to a process known as hydrogenization, during which hydrogen gas combines with the oil to a greater or less degree. The result is a fatty substance which contains about 22 per cent. of a certain kind of oil or fat known as "stearin." Then there is mixed with this "hydrogenized" cottonseed oil enough oily lard to give the resulting mixture as nearly as possible the same flavor and thickness as natural lard. This lard substitute is designed to be used for all the purposes for which real, genuine lard is now used.

FINDS FOR TRACTION COMPANY.

In the case of Justus, versus the Fort Wayne & Wabash Valley Traction company, the supreme court of Indiana, Thursday, found for the defendant. The case has long been the subject of litigation and one which envolved a question of wide interest. The suit grew out of the Kingsland wreck, when L. C. Justus, of Bluffton, was killed. His wife sued for damages. The defendants' contention was that the plaintiff had no right to ask for a judgment, since the man who was killed was riding with a pass.

Our $17.00 Suits for men are guaranteed to be equal to any garment you'll find at $20.00 elsewhere.

The Bluffton Interurban Gardens is the name of a new suburban addition to be placed upon the market this spring by the real estate firm of W. E. Doud. The addition is located southwest of the city, five miles from the court house, and is one of the most beautiful tracts of land in that part of the county. It is being placed upon the market especially for employes of the General Electric company, who can reach their work from this addition by an eight minute ride.

The tract contains nineteen acre lots, all facing on a street with large Elm trees. Stop 10 on the Bluffton interurban line is just six hundred feet from the entrance, so that three or four minutes from any point will take one to the little station, which has already been erected by the traction company for the benefit of its patrons along this line. The addition is so located that drainage has been afforded within fifty to one hundred feet of each lot. This, withthe electricity from the interurban line, makes possible all-modern homes.

The stockholders of the company are W. E. Doud, Edward E. Doehrman, J. D. Banning, Paul C. Guild, Ethel Doud and Loretta E. Hayes. The addition has already been platted and recorded and several deals for building are being started. Fort Wayne real estate men, as well as other business men who have been attempting to solve the housing problem and the reducing of the high cost of living are agreed that the suburban tract, where vegetables and other produce for the table may be raised with little effort, gives the solution. The fare from the addition to the interurban station is six and one-half cents, which is but one and one-half cents more than is required for men to ride to work from one part of the city to another. The land on the addition as shown upon the county survey is the richest in Allen county.

The addition was purchased from W. J. Vesey and is a portion of the land which has been used for raising plants for the Vesey green houses. This nineteen acres have been used to raise the most delicate of the plants and are extremely fine soil.

Kensington Park Boulevard.

Kensington Park boulevard will be one of Fort Wayne's most beautiful additions if the plans of the company which was organized Thursday afternoon materialize. The Kensington Park company with a capital of $175,000 was organized at the Commercial club with W. E. Doud as president.

The purpose of the organization of this company is to promote the sale of the highest class subdivision in the state of Indiana lying east of Anthony boulevard between Lake avenue and State street. The tract was purchased from James Peddicord, the promoted of the northeast development of which the company is a part.

The other officers of the organization and its directors are as follows: P. J. Archer, vice president; Paul G. Guild, secretary, and C. F. Pfeiffer, treasurer. The directors are W. E. Doud, L. F. Curdes, C. A. Wilding, L. A. Moore, W. J. Vesey, P. G. Wolfrum, F. W. Smitley, C. F. Pfeiffer, W. H. Scheiman and H. H. Roose.

It is estimated that after all the improvements have been completed that this part of the city will represent about three-quarters of a million of dollars. The large boulevard will be laid out and platted similar to Driving Park.

The following well-known real estate men have invested in the new company:

L. F. Curdes, L. H. Moore, L. L. Bart, J. S. Peddicord, John G. Wolfrum, W. H. Scheiman, Paul C. Guild, C. S. Kitch, W. P. Walsh, J. D. Banning, Frank W. Smitley, H. W. Sigrist and Charles A. Rastetter.

Real estate men consider the forming of this company as a turning point in Fort Wayne property. They say it marks the change from the south part of tow nto the north. Due to the fact that development has gone south so much faster than north, the widest field for this kind of work lies to the north of the main business district.

SPRING'S AWAKE! EASTER, APRIL 8th---FETE DAY OF FASHION

—A day of triumph dedicated to Queen Fashion, and to you!—Spring's awake, and even the plumage of the majestic Peacock, with all its fire, its brilliance, its symphony of color, fades as the colors of a decadent painting in comparison with the glories of the colors, the art, the beauty of Tepper's Easter Fashions—the very styles that will flash across the promenade of Atlantic City's board walk and the famous strand of Palm Beach.

And young and shy and pink
As grown-ups, don't you think?

—the little gifts and trinkets and the garments so precious.
—Second Floor.

WAR WOMEN OF AMERICA

Thrilling Tales of How Women Have Served Our Country in Time of Need—Mother Bickerdyke, The Angel of Civil War Wounded.

(American history is full of the stories of heroic women, some of whom deserve places among the greatest national idols. With the United States on the brink of another war, the Sentinel is calling to mind the deeds of some of our national heroines, in a series of articles of which this is the third).

BY WINONA WILCOX.

Wherever a line of battle passes, there follows a second army which struggles futilely to repair the work of the first. Until modern times, this army of mercy was made up of women volunteers, women whose homes happened to be near the battlefield.

Today this second army is a highly organized band of skilled men and women known as the Red Cross. It was a woman, Clara Barton, who raised the banner of the Red Cross in the United States. Miss Barton was probably the greatest woman of the nineteenth century, but she died unrewarded by her generation. Perhaps it is best that way for certainly she would be very proud to stand in the ranks with hundreds of other national war nurses.

The revolution had its quota of devoted heroines, but it was during the civil war, and still before the era of the Red Cross, that American women did their most remarkable work in tent hospitals and fever camps.

MOTHER BICKERDYKE

The most picturesque figure of them all was Mother Bickerdyke, who was present at 19 battles of the civil war. She was an eye witness of the battle of Fort Donelson in 1862, the second year of her service as a war nurse. The accommodations for the wounded were pitifully insufficient. The December night was so cold that the clothes of the bleeding men froze to their bodies.

"The night grew darker and darker over the deserted field where the dead still awaited burial," runs a biography of Mother Bickerdyke. "At midnight an officer noticed a light moving among the dead and dispatched a messenger to see what it meant.

"It proved to be a lantern carried by Mrs. Bickerdyke, who was examining the bodies to make sure that no living man was left to suffer alone in such weird surroundings. She did not seem to realize that she was doing anything remarkable, but continued her search after the messenger had gone."

In order to provide nourishing food for her sick boys, Mrs. Bickerdyke at a later date organized her famous "Cow and Hen Missions." She succeeded in collecting 100 cows and 1,000 hens near the Corinth hospital. One of the humorous incidents of her career was a "surprise review" arranged by some of her convalescents. The procession consisted of all of her cows, smoothly curried, with horns polished and hoofs blackened.

When the federal troops returned north at the end of the war, Mother Bickerdyke had a place of honor in the grand review. Few women have shared such a triumph. Upon this extraordinary occasion she wore, as always, a plain calico gown and Shaker sunbonnet. Once when she visited Chicago to collect funds, the women of that city replenished her wardrobe with garments of fine quality, but she traded them off to southern women for eggs, butter and other delicacies required in the hospital. The dress and bonnet which she wore at the final review sold for $100—which sum she immediately converted to the use of needy soldiers.

The measure of her service to her country cannot be made in words. Perhaps the most impressive of all the tales concerning this woman will reveal the spirit in which she worked.

After the battle of Shiloh she was discovered by an army surgeon dispensing soup and whisky to the wounded. She was a shabby figure wearing the overcoat of a confederate soldier, and for once she was without her sunbonnet. Moreover she was not attached to the government's sanitary commission. "Under whose authority are you working?" asked the officer gruffly. Mrs. Bickerdyke proceeded to give aid and comfort to a fainting man as if she had not heard.

The surgeon watched her skillful methods for a while, then said politely, "Madam, you seem to combine in yourself both a diet-kitchen and a medical staff. May I inquire under whose authority you are working?"

Mother Bickerdyke's busy hands never stopped for a moment, but she answered quietly, "I have received my authority from the Lord God Almighty. Have you anything that ranks higher than that?"

CLOVER SEED PRICES BEGIN THEIR ADVANCE

Others Are Unchanged and Wheat Seems to Be Steady.

Dealers in cloverseed today advanced some of their quotations, while others remained steady. The better grades were raised 25 cents and are selling at $11.50 per bushel. Paying prices were also advanced somewhat.

Practically all other local prices remained the same, with wheat seeming to hold steady in its new position at $1.94 and $1.96 a bushel.

Business on the wholesale street market was just about normal and there was nothing unusual about the trading. Thirty-three loads were weighed at the city scales, of which twenty-seven were hay, three corn and the other three oats. The hay continued to sell at $10.00 to $12.00 per ton. Corn became a little firmer and while the top price was reduced 1 cent to $1.20, the bottom went up to $1.19. The grade of corn was almost uniform throughout the market. Oats were 1 cent lower than on Thursday and the trio of loads went at 64 cents per bushel.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, March 30.—Predictions of unsettled weather in Nebraska led to hopes today of a breaking of the drought there and caused wheat prices to ease off. The market was decidedly nervous. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 1½c lower, with May at $1.96⅞@1.98 and July at $1.65¾@1.66¾, were followed by a material setback all around and then a moderate upturn.

Corn weakened in sympathy with wheat. After opening unchanged to ¼c lower the market underwent a general sag, but later showed something of a rally.

Oats displayed relative firmness.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, March 30.—War shares were the strong features at the outset of today's trading, overnight developments evidently being helpful to those issues. Gains of 1 to 3 points were made by United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel new stock, Republic Iron, Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Crucible Steel, with 4½ for Virginia Iron. Leathers and oils rose 1 to 2 points with Baldwin Locomotive and Marine preferred. Wilson Packing continued its upward course with Ohio Gas and Montana Power, and malting issues were again in process of absorption. Rails and metals moved within fractional limits.

Some of the munitions and equipments, as well as unclassified specialties, increased their opening gains before profit-taking caused a moderate setback. Rails then became the dominant issues at advances of 1 to 2 points in the leading shares, their strength being concurrent with a ruling of the interstate commerce commission granting higher rates on various commodities to roads traversing southern and southwestern territories. The movement in that quarter failed to hold, however. Bonds were irregular.

WEEKLY REPORTS WILL POINT OUT BEST ROADS

Bulletins Will Be Issued from San Francisco Office of Forest Service.

Washington, March 30—Beginning early in April the San Francisco office of the Forest Service will issue weekly reports on the condition of the principal automobile roads in the National Forest of California. This information will be obtained from the Forest rangers and will be furnished to newspapers, press associations, automobile clubs, hotels, and other interested organizations, by which it will be made available to motorists.

The twenty National Forests in California comprise more than 13,500,000 acres of land and contain approximately 8,600 miles of road. There are in addition 9,500 miles of trail which make accessible the more remote regions. Many of these roads penetrate large stretches of wild mountain country where thousands of people go each summer to escape the heat of the lower valleys.

The present roads are to be supplemented by others, made possible by the Federal Aid Road Act, one section of which provides a million dollars a year for ten years for the construction of roads in or near the National Forests in all the States. Of this fund a total of $281,751 has been apportioned to California for the fiscal years 1917-1918. To provide an adequate road system for the California National Forests the District Forester at San Franisco has tentatively estimated that the construction or repair of 837 miles of road would be required. Of this amount 663 miles would be in the National Forests and the remainder in the nearby localities. The roads are intended primarily for the purpose of developing the resources of the National Forests but would also open up new areas to tourist travel.

In addition to telling you the time of day, your watch may be used for keeping track of the sun. When the orb of day finishes its day's journey and disappears in the west, note the time by your watch. Then draw a horizontal line (imaginary, of course) from the point of the hour-hand to the opposite side of the dial. The time indicated by the line on this side will be the time at which the sun rises in the morning. Thus if the sun sets at 8 at night, the line shows that it will rise at 4 in the morning; if it sets at 7 it will rise at 5; if at 5 it will rise at 7, and so on.

News of Our Neighbors

FINDS HIS FORD.

But Geneva Man Is Still Shy Wife and Money.

Montpelier, Ind., March 30.—Thurman Huey, the Geneva stock buyer, who was here Monday night looking for his wife, his Ford car, and the fellow who stole the two and forged an $80 check on him, came back to the city and found the Ford stored at the Slusher garage. When Mr. Huey saw the car with his Indiana numbers on it, he told Mr. Slusher that it belonged to him, but Clusher told him he would have to identify it. On being informed of this, Huey pulled a paper from his pocket with the engine number on it, and when Mr. Slusher compared it with the number on the engine they were the same.

100 LOTS FOR GARDEN.

Huntington, Ind., March 30.—One hundred lots are ready for allotment to the citizens of Huntington who wish to cultivate them. This announcement was made Thursday afternoon by Carl P. Steele, chairman of the committee in charge of the work. Mr. Steele also announced a meeting of the committee for 7 o'clock Friday evening in the Commercial association rooms, at which final arrangements will be made for making allotments of garden space, and he suggested that citizens who wish to plant and farm lots should make application immediately to him or to C. B. Williams. The requests for lots will be taken up in the order of their receipt —first come, first served. It is hoped to have all garden space allotted by next week.

SEEKING A PAROLE.

Plymouth, Ind., March 30.—William B. Hess returned from Indianapolis Wednesday night, where he went and appeared before the board of pardons for the release on parole of Fred Rettinger, a "lifer" at the Michigan City prison, where he was sent ten years ago for the murder of William Bates, whom he shot to death on the streets of Bourbon. It was understood at that time that the jury, of which the late Peter Heim was foreman and John McFarlin was one of the jurymen, believed there was strong provocation, owing to a feud between the two families, for Rettinger's act, but the jury felt that the taking of a life was a they brought in a verdict for a life they brought in averdict for a life sentence on the ground that human life must be held sacred; that no man had a right to take.

HOLDERBAUM PLEADS GUILTY.

Bluffton, Ind., March 30.—Clem Holderbaum, confessed chicken thief, faces the possibility of serving two sentences in the penitentiary. He has been sentenced from one to fourteen years by Judge Charles on this charge and Tuesday he pleaded guilty to a similar charge in the Huntington court. Sentence was not passed upon him there. Sheriff Wright of Grant county, took Holderbaum to the Huntington court and took him back late Tuesday night. It is not known whether the Huntington court will sentence the former Bluffton man at the present time or wait until he has finished the term given him by the local court.

ROBBERY AT AUBURN.

Auburn, Ind., March 30.—A thief entered the back door of the People's Clothing and Shoe store on East Seventh street Wednesday night and fitted himself out with a complete outfit of clothing. Entrance was made at the rear of the store by means of a crowbar, or some other heavy instrument, as the marks on the door jam and casing show where something had been used to pry open the door. The lock was broken and when Louis Mayers, one of the proprietors, came to the store at 7 o'clock Thursday morning to open up, he found the back doors wide open and the stock all "mussed up."

WILL WEAR PLAIN DRESSES.

Bluffton, Ind., March 30.—Girls of the 1917 eighth grade graduating class are to be plain in their manner of dress on commencement night, according to present plans. The middy blouse with a plain white skirt is to be the garb of all the girls and in many instances the apparel will be made by the mothers.

The school authorities are commending the girls upon their action. It is said that the sameness of dress of any graduating group makes a prettier scene and for girls of the eighth grade class the middy style is a good one.

STRAY DOGS MUST GO.

Huntington, Ind., March 30.—The police are about to declare war on the wandering canines that tear up home gardens and flower beds. They have received many complaints from persons who are trying to combat the high cost of living by raising stuff, to the effect that marauding dogs destroy more garden in a single night than can be grown in a summer. These people want some protection, especially as the Commercial association is bending every effort to have all vacant lots tilled.

Auburn, Ind., March 30.—The largest judgment in a personal injury case ever returned by a jury in the Dekalb county circuit court was rendered Wednesday night about 9 o'clock in the case of Albert M. Croy against the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad company. The sum of $12,500 was awarded Croy for personal injuries sustained by him in 1914 while in the employ of the company as a freight conductor. The case was venued to this court from Allen circuit court.

Nelson, vice president, both of this city, and Arthur Smalley of Ligonier, secretary, was appointed to make an active campaign and have the organization perfected as soon as possible.

He had been ill for two weeks and his death was caused by paralysis. Mr. Koontz was one of the early settlers of this county and had spent practically his entire lifetime on a farm near this city. Since the deathh of his wife six years ago he had made his home with his daughter.

INJURED BY A HORSE.

Leesburg, Ind., March 30.—Tom Phillips, a former resident of Leesburg, but now residing at Rigdon, Ind., received a broken collar bone when he was squeezed against the side of a stall by a horse which he was caring for. The injury is causing him much pain.

LARWILL NEWS.

Larwill, Ind., March 30.—Mrs. Anna Berry went to Fort Wayne, Thursday.

Mr. J. R. Reader, of Warsaw, who died Wednesday noon, was buried here Friday, at the Lakeview cemetery. The funeral was held at Kosciusko, at ten o'clock, after which he was brought here. Mr. Reader was well known in this vicinity, especially in Troy township. He was postmaster at Kosciusko, formerly known as Wooster, and he also taught school in this near vicinity. He leaves two half-sisters, Mrs. Lyman Whiteleather, of Salem, O., and Mrs. Amer Watson, of Boston, Mass., and a sister, Mrs. Sam Heddington, of Larwill. He was sixty years old and had been failing in health for the past six or eight months, which was thought to be due to a light stroke of paralysis.

GERMAN AMERICANS WOULD FOLLOW FLAG

We Owe Them Sympathy Rather Than Distrust, Says Fred Landis.

"I am glad I was in Fort Wayne on the night when you welcomed your soldier boys home. The spirit shown by your citizens overcame all talk I had heard to the effect that Fort Wayne, with its large population of German born men and women, might not respond to the government call in an hour of need. That demonstration of loyalty was splendid. It was magnificent," said Ex-Congressman Frederick Landis, in his address on "Good Fellows Club," before the Electro-Technic club, of the General Electric works, at the Moose hall, Thursday night.

"We should have deep sympathy for our German born citizens and not suspicion," Landis went on. "My ancestors, several generations back, came from Germany. I have enough red blood in my veins to realize the view point of men and women whose ties to the Fatherland are not so far removed."

"Our German-American citizens who came direct from the Fatherland, or whose fathers did, are as true Americans today, and in many cases more loyal than the families whose ancestors stepped foot on Plymouth Rock.

"In case of war with Germany, these people would be forced to trample the fairest flowers of sentiment, if they followed our flag. They would have to take up arms against the land where their fathers are buried. They would have to battle against their cradle, against their roof tree. But they would do it, if need be.

"They would prove as patriotic as they did in 1861, when they kept Missouri in the union and gave up their lives on southern battlefields in order that every stra should remain in the blue field of Old Glory.

"In a moment when our principles are assailed you will find that the German-Americans are for United States, first, last and always."

The audience registered approval of these remarks.

LINCOLN LIFE SEMI-PRO CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Will Have Semi-Pro Outfit in Fort Wayne This Season

Mart Cleary Will Boss Club Put in Field by Lincoln Life.

Playing under the name, Lincoln Life, a team of the fastest semi-pros obtainable will be launched this spring. A lease was closed this morning for League park on all Sundays and holidays on which the Central league club is out of town, and the insurance men's club will play here on those dates. When Vandy's club is home the semi-pros will be on the road.

The club was organized last night with Mart Cleary as manager and Bert Dennis as secretary-treasurer. Backing for the club is being furnished by the Lincoln Life Insurance company and from that source comes the name. Uniforms have been ordered and will be of pearl gray, with black caps and black stockings with grap stripes. On the sleeves of the shirts there will be a monogram, L. L., in a diamond. With the strong backing and management of the club there is no doubt that it will be the niftiest and fastest semi-pro organization in this part of the country.

Lines have already been stretched out for players and nothing but high class signers will be accepted. The booking of games has also started and it is expected that inside of a week the schedule will be well under way. This will be completed as soon as possible and the season will probably start about the same time as the Central opening. Nothing but high class clubs will be booked and the semi-pro games will be real all the way.

EXHIBITION GAMES.

Little Rock, Ark., March 30.—The Brooklyn Nationals won from the Boston Americans 1 to 0 here yesterday in a game that was filled with sensational fielding. Ruth had the Brooklyns well in hand and Fabrique saved the game for Brooklyn when he made a spectacular catch of Manager Barry's fly with the bases full and only one out, the catch resulting in a double play. Pennock succeeded Ruth in the sixth and with two out in that inning Johnston, of Brooklyn, singled and Fabrique scored him with a slashing double down the third base line.

TRAIN AT CHILLICOTHE.

Grand Rapids Club Will Prepare in Real Class.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 30.—Owner "Vinegar Bill" Essick has completed arrangements for his players to do their spring training at Chillicothe, O. He has been granted the free use of the old Ohio State league park there and a low hotel rate has been secured.

Essick has ordered his battery candidates to report for practice April 8 and two days later the infielders and outfielders will arrive on the scene. There will be about twenty-five players in the squad.

The training season will continue for three weeks, the squad being divided into two teams by the end of the first week. Daily games will be played, with a number of exhibition contests being booked. Essick has not as yet completed his roster, but will have a majority of last season's veterans and an equal number of very promising recruits.

A FINE IDEA.

Woman Will Pitch First Ball in Opener at Richmond.

Richmond, Ind., March 30.—A woman will pitch the first ball when the Richmond club of the Central league opens its season here this year. The club management has left the selection of the woman to the Richmond Franchise league.

Local fans are planning a gala day for the opening of the season here, as it will mark Richmond's advent into the Central league. An attempt is being made to have all factories and places of business close on the opening day and all fans join in a monster parade through the downtown streets to the baseball park.

Sentinel Want Ads Pay.

ROBINS MAY HAVE ANOTHER COOMBS IN ROOKIE CADORE.

BY PAUL PURMAN.

(The Sentinel special sport writer touring the major league training camps to size up the teams as they prepare for the 1917 campaign.)

Hot Springs, Ark., March 30.—I watched some of the Robins' pitchers the other day in an exhibition game with the Red Sox. They won their game and I was treated to two surprises.

One was Jack Coombs pitched remarkable ball for four innings, allowing two hits, one a home run.

As I watched Coombs I wondered if it would be possible for the old iron man to weather another season successfully.

I wondered whether those four innings of superb ball early in the spring would preface many nine inning games when the weather became warmer or whether when the pinch came Coombs would have to be asked to be taken from the box as he did in the world series last fall.

Coombs' baseball obituary has been written time and time again. He was consigned to the has-been class when he injured himself with the Athletics a few years ago, but he came back and pitched some masterful games.

Will he be able to stage another great year? It would be a wonderful achievement indeed.

When Robinson sent in a relief pitcher he did not pick, as would have been supposed, a left-hander to take the place of Coombs. Instead he sent in Cadore, another right-mitted hurler.

I was treated to another surprise.

The Red Sox went after Cadore's goat. He was a rookie and fair game.

Did they get it? Not quite. Cadore either ignored them or gave them their own medicine with a calm smile.

Cadore should make good. He has a good arm and a good assortment of pitching goods. He is cool and level-headed. His motion is easy and his delivery masterful.

It was good to see the veteran and the youngster both pitching cool, consistent baseball against the club that so outclassed Brooklyn last fall.

SHOP LEAGUE CLUBS OPEN ON MAY FIFTH

Play Four Times Around and Close the Season September Fifteenth.

Saturday, May 5, is the date set by Industrial league managers for the opening of the circuit at their meeting held in The Sentinel office last evening. The schedule will be arranged so that each club plays four times around and the close is scheduled for September 15. The schedule will be arranged and submitted to the managers at the next meeting to be held next Thursday evening.

At this meeting the forfeit money will be called for. The same amount required last year, $25, will hold for the coming season. Final dance preparations will be made at this meeting also. The dance will be held at the Moose hall, April 11, and the managers expect to sell a big bunch of tickets. The proceeds will be used to finance the league and will do away with the old program, the hoodoo of former shop leaguers.

A little trouble was encountered over the parks to be used. Lawton, Weisser park and Foster park are turned over to the leaguers by the park board during the summer. Last year the Turners and the Pennsy used Lawton, Bowsers and the Western Gas paired off at Weisser park, and the Electric works and Dudlos had Foster park. Because most of the Pennsy players live near Weisser park the Railroaders tried to make an exchange with the Western Gas club. This was found impossible, however, and the teams consented to stay as they were last season.

GOPHERS ELECT WALLACE.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 30.—Carl Wallace of this city, a senior at the University of Minnesota, yesterday was elected captain of the 1917 university track team to succeed James Ballentine, who recently resigned because of scholastic ineligibility. Wallace competes in the mile and two mile events.

By a decisive score the St. Paul Juniors last night defeated St. Mary's Cardinals in the final of a three game series. The count at the end of hostilities was 34 to 10. CHICK EVANS TO RETIRE.

San Francisco, Cal., March 30.—Charles J. (Chick) Evans, jr., national amateur and open golf champion of America, has announced his purpose of retiring from golf tournaments after this year. He made the announcement as he was leaving for Chicago. He said that he had won all the honors within his reach and would try to round out his career before retiring by winning this year the triple event of America—the national and western amateur and the open championships. He is retiring, he said, to give more attention to his business.

MACK SELECTS SOX.

Dublin, Ga., March 30.—Manager Connie Mack of the Athletics believes the Chicago White Sox will be the toughest team in the American league this year.

"The White Sox have the pitchers," he said. "There are eight of them who are surely big league caliber. I have an idea that Faber will have a good year. I look to see the team campaign well."

Everything is ready for the meeting of Johnny Coulon and Frankie Mason tonight at the Majestic in a bout which means much to both fighters. No scrap has ever been staged here which was more in earnest than this one will be, for both bantams have a great deal at stake. To Coulon defeat means a serious setback in his fight to regain his lost title and to Mason it means many more months of fighting men out of his class before getting another show. It will be the first time Frankie has stepped into a real chance to set himself farther along toward the uppercrust, and if he don't deserve it no glove artist ever did.

A pair of bantams who are evenly matched as to weight and both as fast as they make them can put on a regular battle when they want to, and everything points to their wanting to. Fight fans realize this and, looking for a mighty unusual treat in tonight's engagement, have bought tickets right and left. However, it takes a mighty large crowd to fill the Majestic and there are still some good seats left.

In the opening go Battling Hess of this city meets Art Wellsbacher of Toledo, a hard-boiled customer who can stand punishment and swing a kick guaranteed to relieve his opponent of all consciousness for some time. The local boy's class is pretty well known and in recent engagements he has shown plenty of kayo ability himself. Following this fight Holzhauer, the come-back, meets Young Brown of Toledo. Brown comes highly recommended and is slated to meet another pug in the semi-windup of the Dillon-McCarron fight next month. The local German is another scrapper who needs no inthoduction or touting. Altogether the bill is a headliner from the start.

Coulon's party, which arrived this morning, was to consist of the bantam, Charlie White, K. O. Brown and Nate Lewis. All fighters weighed in at the Berry Buffet at 3 o'clock.

SHARP INCREASE IN PRICE OF MANY DRUGS

New York, March 30.—There has been a big jump in the price of drugs, and, as regards opiates, which are practical a necessity in the practice of medicine, a shortage exists which seems critical.

Morphine and codeine, which are derived from opium, can be purchased only in small quantities, and the prices asked are almost fabulous. Quotations on these drugs have increased at the rate of almost $1 an ounce a day wholesale, and to the consumer, of coursefi the price is much higher. The quotations in this city, good only for the day, are $20. Two weeks ago the drugs were selling at $14.

Failure of Crop.

The reasons given for the phenomenal rise are the failure of the opium crop in India, and the great demand for these drugs becaus of the war. No new opium is coming into the country, and there will soon be a shortage that will make the drug as precicus as any jewel.

Quicksilver, which in nomal times is quoted from $35 to $40, is now $150 a seventy-five-pound flask. Permanganate of potassium, a disinfectant, is now $4.50 a pound; before the war it was 12 cents a pound. As this comes principally from Germany, the high price is easily explained.

Quinine Much Higher.

Quinine is 200 per cent. higher and continues to go up. Campher is 50 per cent. higher than two years ago.

Haarlem oil, which comes from Holland, is pracically out of the market. Before the war it was 2cents a bottle wholesale, but it has been cut off from import altogether.

Cyanide of potassium, used in the manufacture of steel, has risen from 45 cents to $2.75, and cod liver oil is $135 a barrel wholesale. Before the war it sold at $35 a thirty-gallon barrel.

Arenic has gone up 400 per cent. in the last few weeks. Tincture of arnica, in common use for burns and bruises, has also joined the upward movement. Before the war it was 25 cents a pound. It is now $2.75 a pound.

Why Colds Are to Be Dreaded.

It is not the cold itself but the serious disease it so often leads to that makes a common cold by far the most dangerous of any of the minor ailments. The cold prepares your system for the reception and development of the germs of pneumonia, consumption, diphtheria and other germ diseases. The quicker you cure the cold the less danger. To accomplish this you will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy most effectual. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

TELLS HOW IT FEELS TO SHOOT A COMRADE

By Arthur G. Empey.
(Copyright, 1917, by the Newspaper Enterprise Association)

I'm away down in the dumps, clicked for a rotten job the other day, You know, when I was in United States cavalry, I was considered a pretty fair shot; well I like shooting alright enough, but right now I'd willingly throw my rifle out into No Man's Land and leave it there to rust.

Jim, I was one of twelve selected to execute a Tommy! When it comes to shooting the enemy I'm right there, but when you have to send one of your own mates, a Tommy Atkins, arcoss the Great Divide, it's time for me to pack up and beat it for good old New York.

Last Thursday was a cold and miserable day, drizzly and misty, so when it came time to turn in, I soon hit the straw in our billet.

About three in the morning I was awakened by some one shaking me. Opening my eyes, I saw our C. S. M. (company sergeant major) stooping over me with a lantern in his hand. He put his finger to my lips for silence and whispered:

"Get on your equipment and without any noise, come with me."

It was raining like the mischief.

We splashed along a muddy road, finally stopping at an old barn. The C. S. M. whispered,

"Go into that barn and wait orders, and no talking. Understand?"

I stumbled into the barn and sat on and floor in the darkness. I could hear men breathing and moving, they seemed nervous and restless. Iknow I was, Jim.

We fell in, standing at ease. Then he commanded,

We must have marched over an hour, ploughing through the mud and occasionally stumbling into a shell hole in the road, when suddenly we found ourselves in a sort of enclosed courtyard.

The dawn was breaking and the rain had ceased.

The officer brought us to attention and gave the order to unpile arms. We each took a rifle. Giving us "Stand at ease," in a nervous and shaky voice, he informed.

"Men, you have been selected as a firing squad for the execution of a soldier, who, having been found guilty of a grievous crime against king and country, has been duly sentenced to death by army court-martial. It is our duty to carry out the sentence of the court.

"There are twelve rifles; one contains a blank cartridge. Every man is expected to do his duty and fire to kill. Squad—'shun!" Then he left.

My heart was of lead and my knees shook.

After standing at "attention" for what seemed a week, though in reality it could not have been over ten minutes, we heard a low whispering in our rear and footsteps on the stone flagging of the court-yard.

"Squad—'shun! About—Turn!"

We turned about. In the grey light of dawn, a few yards in front of me, I could make out a brick wall. Against this wall, was a dark form with a white square pinned on its breast.

We were supposed to aim at this square. To the right of the form I noticed a grey spot on the wall. This would be my target.

"Ready! Aim! Fire!"

The dark form sank into a heap. My bullet hit that greyish spot on the wall, I could see the splinters fly. Someone else had received the rifle containing the blank cartridge, but still my mind was at ease. There was no blood of a Tommy on my hands.

It was daylight. After marching about five minutes we were dismissed with these instructions:

"Return to your companies and remember no talking about this affair, or it will go hard with the guilty ones."

While I am writing this, I am wondering who the victim was and what was his crime. In a few weeks an army order will be read to us on parade, giving his name, number, regiment, nature of crime and date of execution.

In the published casualty lists, his name will appear among the "accidentally killed." His family will never know the truth. Thank God for that.

"EMP"

Be What You Should Be!

HAVE A RESERVE OF FIRE AND GINGER IN YOUR SYSTEM

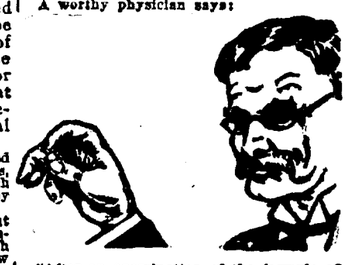
The exultation and the joy of living radiates a magnetism that is irresistible in such a person—man or woman. Good health, strong, well-nourished nerves, a cheerful mind, and hope eternal are ever present in the man of snap and fire So-fine enjoy these blessings throughout life. Others for a brief period only—a few years at most—and then comes bleak, lonesome lives, and physical and mental decline.

Scores of men are permanently weakened by la grippe, followed by kidney disorders, liver, stomach and bowel disorders, which produce "starved nerves," and it is they who need Cadomene.

There are many tributary causes, but always a "starved nervous system" is present, and manifested by symptoms, which often the public often suspect, and of few of which are, extreme nervousness, insomnia, cold extremities, sluggist circulation, despoadency, aching in back, headache, kidney disorders, dreadful dreams, timidity, fear without cause, and a general inability to concentrate the mind, and act naturally and rationally as others do under all circumstances.

A weakened nervous system will be indicated by some of the foregoing symptoms; and the treatment is simple, though most effective and lasting in its benefits. Go to your druggist, get a sealed tube of three-grain Cadomene Tablets, and begin their use at once. After you have taken them ragularly a short time you will recognize the improvement in your feelings and sensations. Your appetite will improve, the food will taste better and you will begin to notice how springy is your step and how much brighter the world in general appears, and soon the "pep" and the "snap" of energy of a strong nervous system will be yours. Then you'll be glad you know about the marvelous medicine, Cadomene Tablets.

A worthy physician says:



"After an examination of the formula of your Cadomene Tablets, I feel that nowhere could I obtain a tonic superior to this. Consequently I prescribe them whenever indicated, and with a degree of satisfaction to my patients that amazes me. The uniformity of the benefits to all cases of "nerves" has indeed given me cause to speak a generous word for this unequalled product."

Kidney & Co.

(By Dr. V. M. Pierce.)

The kidneys and the skin work in harmony. They're companions, the skin being the second partner. If we are anxious to keep well and preserve the vitality of the kidneys and, also, free the blood from noxious elements, we must pay special attention to a good action of the skin and to see that the kidneys are flushed so as to eliminate the poisons from the blood.

Sweating, by hard work or in a bath, at least once a week, helps to keep the skin and kidneys in good condition. Flush the kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water with meals and between meals. Occasionally obtain at the nearest drug store Anuric, which will help flush the kidneys and the intestines. You will find that Anuric is many times more active than lithia and that it dissolves uric acid almost as hot water does sugar.

WHEN A TONIC IS NEEDED.

New Albany, Ind.—"For five years I suffered with neuralgia of the head and I took everything anyone told me about but nothing seemed to do much good, only to relieve me at the time. One day I was suffering terribly and a friend asked me if I ever tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery so I tried it, and am glad to say after taking three bottles of it and also the 'Pleasant Pellets' (which I am never without), I am never troubled with neuralgia at all. I gladly recommend it."—Mrs. J. H. Aterburn, 46 E. 4th St.

ANTI-RECRUITING MATTER IN SALOONS

I. W. W. Sympathizers Are Again Active at Duluth, Minn.

Duluth, Minn., March 29.—Anti-recruiting literature and "stickers" made their appearance in the saloons and other resorts here today. There was no indication of their authorship. One sticker reads: "Politicians, capitalists and newspaper editors are never found in the trenches. Why should the working men be?"

As an aftermath of the riot in which more than 100 Industrial Workers of the World sympathizers took part Tuesday night, double details of police have been placed in the district. United States secret service operatives seeking the authors of the anti-recruiting literature were reported mixing with the crowds of so-called "reds" in the I. W. W. gathering places. Twenty-eight men arrested Tuesday night have been sentenced to the work farm.

CUT DOWN ARRESTS.

Coolrado Springs, March 30.—Colorado Springs in 1916 had nearly 1,000 fewer arrests than in 1915, Colorado's last "wet" year. The number of arrests last year was 1,658, as compared with $2,594 in 1915. Chief of Police Howard Clark gives most of the credit for the decline in arrests to prohibition.

"The same condition, I am sure, exists in almost every city in the state," said the chief.

Because of its pleasure offering possibilities, Colorado Springs was always well supplied hitherto with "drunks" from Denver and Pueblo, bith within easy access by rail. This type of visitor disappeared very largely during 1915, according to the city's authorities.

Of the total arrests made in Colorado Springs in 1915 nearly 75 per cent. were for violation of traffic regulations.

(By the Office of Information, United States Department of Agriculture.)

Washington, March 30.—From twelve to twenty-five hens are sufficient to provide the ordinary family with enough eggs and meat to render the keeping of the birds worth while according to poultry specialists in the United States department of agriculture. The amount of outdoor space the flock will require may be estimated at about twenty-five square feet for each bird. There are instances in which chickens have thrived with much less than this, but unless the soil is especially favorable and the birds receive unusually good care, crowding is likely to prove unprofitable.

Poultry specialists do not recommend, however, that every one with the requisite space at his disposal should go in for chicken raising. Unless there is a natural interest in poultry or a determination to make the flock a source of real economy even if it does take time and trouble, the venture is not likely to prove successful. Lack of care may result in disease that will sweep off the entire flock and it is almost certain to cause a reduction in egg production that will make the birds a burden instead of a help. In some localities where municipal ordinances may prohibit the keeping of poultry within certain limits, care should be taken that the poultry yard is not in a prescribed area.

Space For a Flock.

While it is possible to get along with twenty-five square feet per bird, a larger space affording more green and insect food is very desirable. For one thing, the ordinary poultry keeper wishes to perpetuate his flock and the raising of young chickens requires as much land as the keeping of mature hens. After she is two years old, the best laying days of the average hen are over and it usually pays to get rid of her. This means that half the flock must be renewed each year. Since as many cockerels as pullets will be hatched and a certain percentage are certain to die, it is customary to hatch each year a few more chickens than there are hens in the flock. With a flock of twenty-five, for example, about thirty chickens should be raised. The same space must be allowed for these as for the laying hens. The cockerels are consumed through the season, being used either as broilers when they are about three months old, or as frienrs or as roasters.

It is also most desirable as a precaution against disease to divide the available area into two plats. On one of these the chickens are allowed to range while a green crop—wheat or oats, for example—is being grown for them on the other. The preliminary turning under of the soil, the green crop, and freedom from chickens for a period serve to prevent the land from becoming contaminated.

Additional range, with the advantage of a large supply of insect feed for the birds, may sometimes be obtained where a vegetable garden is maintained. At different times in the growing season there are areas in the garden which are either idle or occupied only by crops that the hens will not touch. The birds, confined to these with the aid of a portable fence, benefit without injury to the vegetables.

Some Housing Required.

An important item to be considered by those thinking of maintaining a home flock is the cost of the house. For some part ofthe year, at least, in almost every section of the United States, chickens require the shelter ofa tight, dry building. In planning the house, approximately 4 or 5 feet of floor space should be allowed for each bird. The eight may be determined by the convenience of the operator, for the birds themselves need only two or three feet. Such low houses, however, are very difficult to clean, and, in consequence, are likely to be neglicted. It is better to build them so high that a man may work in them without discomfort.

A not uncommon device is to use a piano box for a chicken house. The cost of these houses depends largely upon circumstances, though no estimate can be given. It may be possible to find one the owner will be glad to give away; and, on the other hand, one may have to pay $1.50 or more for a box that is no better. By combining two piano boxes, a very satisfactory shelter for a small flock can be made at little expense. Where lumber must be purchased, it has been estimated that the materials for a substantial chicken house may cost anywher from 50 cents to $1.00 per bird, and it is not unlikely that with the present prices of commodities of all kinds, these figures will be somewhat low. Portable chicken houses are also on the market at costs varying greatly. The majority, however, will probably cost the owner from $1.50 to $2.00 for each bird sheltered by them. In any event, it is probable that unless there is plenty of spare lumber available and the prospective poultryman happens to be a good carpenter, the cost of the chicken house will not be met by the value of the products over the cost of feed for the flock for a year or two. The house should last, however, for a number of years, especially if painted and well cared for. Substantial profits from the investment should be made thereafter.

In many cases also, where the surroundings are such that the chickens can not be allowed to range at will, the cost of fencing must be considered. This, obviously, will vary greatly with the size of the area to be enclosed and the kind of fencing selected. Ordinary chicken wire is not expensive.

Cost of Keeping Chickens.

The actual economy secured by the keeping of a small flock of chickens depends primarily upon their egg production, and this, in turn, is largely a matter of care. Under favorable conditions, however, it is estimated that 150 eggs the first year and 120 the second is a fair return from the ordinary hen. On the other hand, at least from 25 to 50 cents a year must be expended for grain and other feeds, the exact amount depending upon the quality of table scraps and green and insect food available. Where all the feed must be purchased, from $1 to $1.25 is allowed. Even in the most thrifty household, however, there is always a large quantity of table scraps, vegetable parings, and other "left-overs" for the hens, so that a considerable portion of their feed consists of what otherwise would be carried off the place by the garbage man.

Although of less importance than the eggs, the supply of poultry for the table furnished by the home flock is an item that can not be overlooked. As has been pointed out, in a flock of twenty-five which the owner is perpetuating, there will be approximately twelve to thirteen cockerels, almost all of which can be used for food. Half of the hens must go each year also, so that allowing for losses and for birds reserved for breeding there still will be enough appreciably to affect the butcher's bill.

Child's Foot Crushed by Munition Truck in Street.

New York, March 30.—Hilmer J. Carlson, eight years old, received, before Supreme Court Justice Kelby and a jury, in Brooklyn, a verdict of $10,000 against the E. W. Bliss company for injuries he suffered January 20, 1916, when one of his feet was run over by a five-ton munition truck, causing amputation of three toes. The boy's father was awarded $3,000 for the loss of his serveices.

The boy was sitting on the curb of Fortieth street, Brooklyn, near his home, with his feet in the guter. The truck, loaded with three-inch shells, rounded the corner, skidded and ran over his foot. Edward J. McCrossin, counsel for the boy, contended that the driver of the truck violated a city ordinance by turning the corner faster than four miles an hour.

She Likes Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"I like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy better than any other for children because it gives the quickest relief, and is about the only one they will take willingly," writes Mrs. James Kern, Manchester, N. Y. "It is equally good for colds and croup and is deserving of all the good I can say for it. I am never without it in the house for it is invaluable when needed." $10 FOR AN HONESTY TEST.

Oberlin, Ohio, March 30.—Lowell H. Gray, Oberlin sophomore, was anxious to test the honesty of the average Oberlin student, and to carry out his experiment placed two $5 bills on the steps of one of the college buildings one night recently. The bills were gone the next morning and nothing has been heard of them. Gray says he is satisfied as to the result.

WOMEN SHOULD GET THIS HABIT AS WELL AS MEN

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous, and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.—Advertisement.

WOULD REFORM DRESS.

Newark N. J. Board Members Protest Against Short Skirts.

New York, March 30—Public school authorities in Newark, N. J. have started a movement to have the high school girls and even teh women teachers in both the high tnd elementary school change their style of dress.

David A. McIntyre, a member of the board of education, protested against short skirts and low neck and transparent waists now worn by both pupils and teachers. He said the custom was a shame and urged that the board take action to abolish present day dress fads. Superintendent Poland was directed to request the principals and teachers to co-operate with the board in the movement.

Mr. McIntyre further complained over the way the schoolgirls and teachers daubed their faces with powder. Referring to the pupils, he said:

"Many of the girls are trying to conceal the bloom of their youth by covering their faces with powder. If I were a principal or a teacher in a school I would ask such a girl to wash her face. This is a question of considerable importance. The fault may lie with the parents, and then again it may not, but I am convinced action should be tken."

3-Grain Tablet Makes Flesh.

Any one wishing to add to their weight, improve their color, and restore a normal condition of the stomach and nerves, should adopt the wonderfully successful treatment known to physicians and druggists as "3-grain hypo-nuclane tablets," put up in sealed packages with full directions for home use. Red lips, pink cheeks, and 10 to 30 pounds increase in weight are not uncommon results from several months' usage. Ask your physician or a well-stocked druggist for them.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you can not find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.—Advertisement.

Father Hugronard is dead at the Indian school, Lebret, Saskatchewan, where he has lived since 1872. What the white residents of Qu'Appile valley owe to Father Hugonard, during the troublesome times of 1885, few appreciate. Single-handed he kept the Indians of File hills and Crooked lakes from a massacre. Star Blanket, one of the big chiefs from the File hills, had come down and entrenched his braves in the ravines to the north of Lebret. Father Hugonard met the old chief and practically forced him into submission.

Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which, if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limstone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.—Advertisement.

NATIONAL SERVICE BY LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

Great Institution at Washington Ever Ready to Lend Books.

Washington, March 30.—Twenty years ago the library congress took up all its belongings and moved from its cramped quarters in the capitol into its beautiful new building, known to all residents and visitors of Washington, says the Star. The library renders service which reaches all over the country.

With the removal of the library, its administration was placed under the librarian, in whom was vested the authority to make rules and regulations for its government, and with that change its great development began. Then the principle was adopted that the function of a great library is to be much more than a storehouse; it must be a disbursing agent of thought. Those who come seeking knowledge must be shown where it can be found, and upon those who can not, or perhaps even will not, come it will nevertheless throw its comfortable warmth.

"Its methods are simple," said Frederick W. Ashley, for nineteen years connected with the library, and now superintendent of the reading rooms.

"One of them is under the system of interlibrary loans, to lend books to other libraries for the use of investigators. Its purpose is to aid research by providing unusual books—those that are not accessible elsewhere. For this reason the books and documents lent can not include those which the borrowing library ought to have, or at least be able to procure readily. Nor can it include material in constant use in Washington either by congress, the departments or readers.

"When a library borrows such books from the congressional, it must assume liability for their transportation and safe return, and under such conditions any of the 25,000 or more public libraries can have the use of the unusual book or the book for the unusual reader. During the last year the library of congress supplied in more than 3,400 instances the books which the research man needed to help him over the holes in the road.

"It does not seem like a great thing to lend a few old books, or ducuments, or pieces of music, but to the extent of just what could not be obtained otherwise the library of congress has supplemented the strength of smaller institutions.

"It calls for no vivid imagination to see the professor of the university, the chemist or engineer of some great plant, the inventor in his laboratory, brought to a halt in his investigations for lack of some book which his library does not have and can not easily procure, and then it is Washington to the rescue. The student may not be able to come to the mountain; then, this mountain of a library, if informed, will give aid to the student and feel that it has realized on its opportunity. For is not that one of the objects of its being?

"Another method it has or giving a hand to the young libraries is by the cataloguing of books and preparation and printing of index cards. A suitable index card contains much valuable information—the name, dates and pseudonym (if any) of the author, the makeupof the volume, the title of the book and a graphic statement of its contents. The preparation of such a card involves an examination of the book and whatever further effort may be necessary to secure all this information, which must then be set up and printed, and all this is not inexpensive.

"The library found that in the several million pieces in its 102 miles of shelves, it covered the contents of most libraries of this country. Its cataloguersare trained and skillful and it conceived the idea of striking off many copies of their most generally used cards and supplying them at cost to libraries throughout the country.

Catalogues for Libraries.

"More than 23,000 institutions obtained these cards last year to the amount of something like 6,600,000, at a cost running a trifle more than one-eight of a cent apiece. Some libraries purchase entire sets of index cards in order to have the bibliography on any subject; others purchase only such cards as they require. Nor is their use confined to public libraries, for many men order the sets of cards which cover a subject of particular interest to them. The index cards of the books in the library of the Smithsonion institution are also published in this division. They are very complete and give a clear idea of the names and nature of the books and documents in this valuable collection.

"The cards are prepared in the cataloguing room, made by the government printing office and returned to the card room for disposal. They are stored there in indexed series by the millions, ready to be delivered when called for It is the ambitious desire of this section to keep its work current, and its chief, Charles H. Hastings, and his assistants sort, put up and bill a few thousand cards in less time than it takes to find a car ticket on a cold day. The hardest problem is to 'guess' how many cards to carry in stock. It was 'guessed' that 500 sets would be ample to cover the demand for literature on the European war, and it has exhausted a second edition. It can not forecast with any certainly what the call will be for any class of books in response to popular demand.

"But the library, not content with the many books which it possesses publishes some on its own account and they are eagerly sought by many institutions. They include the reports of the doings of the library itself and similar productions, its cataloguing rules, notes on the care and classification of manuscripts and maps, copyright, information circulars, some historical papers, catalogues of engravings and music, lists of books about various countries, histories, manuscripts of prominent Americans and many special subjects. All of them are prepared by the library staff.

Special Attention to Research.

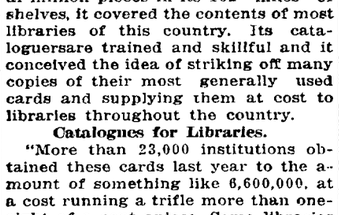
"A pleasant way the library takes of sending out its warmth rays is to answer many questions that come from all over the country as to whether the library has a certain book existing writings on a subject, most useful authorities on a given subject, the author of a book by a known title and all similar inquiries—only it has to draw a line somewhere or the whole force would be taken from the work and put to answering questions.

"Another way, which is not generally known, is the giving of especial facilities to the readers engaged in serious research work involving the use in the reading room of a number of the same books day after day. Such a worker will have assigned to him an alcove where his material may be set aside for him. If he desires to dedicate to a stenographer he may have the use of a separate room.

"The sepcial facilities for study thus offered are proving very attractive to the scholars of the country, many of whom are getting into the habit of coming to Washington for research in the great national collections. University professors often spend here a great part of the precious 'sabbatical' years granted them by the authorities of their universities—one golden year in every seven for rest and recreation. At the present time the library of congress is the literary host of professors of history, economics and law in Harvard, University of Pennsylvania, Northwestern, Smith college, Western reserve, the state universities of Ohio, Minnesota, California and Wisconsin.

"A resident of Formosa is in Washington engaged in the study of everything appertaining to sugar including the growth of the cane and the beet, their refining and marketing. A resident in Stockholm is spending six months in Washington engaged in the problem of city-making, using the library as his place of study and the city as his object lesson."

Thus the library, in addition to maintaining those great divisions which all who come may see—its reading room with 20,000 volumes of reference books its stacks with all the copyrighted books in the United States, besides hundreds of thousands that have been obtained by purchase or gift, its division of maps, manuscripts, prints and its valuable rarebooks, giving out information and cards, publications and books—is aiding scholars and investigators and building up the library spirit throughout the land.



The Evening Line-Up

Both children and grown-ups, with coughs and colds, are all the better for a dose of Foley's Honey and Tar at bed time. It wards off croup, stops tickling throat, and hacking coughs, and makes an otherwise feverish, sleepless night of coughing and distress, a quiet and restful one.

BROWNSVILLE, TEXAS, Mr. Chas. Baker, writes: "My wife would not think of using any other cough medicine, as Foley's Honey and Tar is certain to bring quick relief. It is especially effective in cases of bad coughs, and we give it to our children and recommend it always as a safe remedy, for it contains no opiates."

POTHOOKS MADE TO MUSIC

New Method of Teaching Penmanship Uses Fox Trot.

Boston, March 30—the successful use of phonographic music as an aid to writing instruction was described by L. M. Rand, and instructor in the English high school, to the New England Penmanship Association. Music acts as a speed guide for the writer, he said.

"Teaching penmanship in the Dorchester evening high school has been successful under this method," he said. "The music takes off the fatigue and the drudge of writing letters and combinations of letters and stimulates the mind. It helps to create a correct and uniform speed, furnishing an exact count for the operation of letters and thus furnishing rhythm.

"Letters and numbers, particulaly capitals, are adapted to this. For some letters written in four movements we play a fox trot. Others and most figures require three movements, and the triple time of waltz music furnishes an excellent rhythmic guide."

Model Objects to Use of Another's Face on Shoulders.

Philadelphia, March 30—The courts are against something entirely new: Is a pretty woman whose head has been decapitated, photographically speaking, to make way for the head of another beauty, entitled to $50,000 damages or any financil balm at all?

There is an intercity interest involved in this instance, as the flowing hair, flashing eyes, pearly teeth and bewitching smile of Mrs. Blanche Buckius, 4604 York road, Logan, were substituted for the charms of Mrs. Anna Yost, of 512 West One-hundred-and-eighteenth street, New York.

Mrs. Buckius, is an art model, and she registered no protect when her head was transferred to Mrs. Yost's shoulders, but for advertising purposes.

Mrs. Yost has asked the courts in New York to enjoin the photographic use of her body topped by Mrs. Buckius's head pending the suit which she has brought for $50,000.

The New York beauty has said nothing unkind of Mrs. Buckius's face, but it is perhaps not strange that she should prefer to have her own head on her own body—even if it is anly an advertisement.

BELIEVE AMERICA CERTAIN TO ENTER THE WAR

Washington, March 30.—As the cabinet met today with President Wilson for the last time before the assembling of congress Monday, the concensus of opinion was that the United States was about to actively enter into war with Germany.

Washington, March 30.—Steps in anticipation of President Wilson's address before congress next week for action on whatever recommendations he makes to meet the national emergency began to take final form today. These steps were:.

The president held a final conference with his cabinet preparatory to starting the actual writing of the address he will deliver before a joint assemblage of the house and senate. House democrats held a caucus to consider plans for organizing of the house by their party and a committee of twenty-seven republicans met to prepare its final recommendations for organization of the house which will be laid before a caucus of republicans tomorrow. Plans for raising revenue were discussed at a meeting of democratic members of the house ways and means committee.

Senator Chamberlain, chairman of the military committee, following his conference with the president yesterday over his universal military training plan agreed to press for prompt action in the senate on the regular army appropriation bill which failed at the last session, as soon as it comes over from the house. The senator assured the president that he already has authority without further congressional action to raise an army of more than 700,000 by increasing the regular army to war strength and calling out the entire national guard at war strength. Reports of submarines having been seen off Montauk Point Monday night were believed today to have been disposed of by Secretary Daniels' announcement that they were in reality patrol motor boats returning to Long Island sound after trial trips.

President Wilson now has before him recommendations of his principal cabinet advisors and in a general way has heard the sentiment of the country. The preponderance of opinion forwarded to the white house is for a declaration that a state of war exists between the United States and Germany. Telegrams advising the president are being received in large numbers. Many of them, couched in identical language, favor the maintenance of peace.

HEAVY FIGHTING IS SUSPENDED ON WEST FRONT, IN EUROPE

Berlin, Thursdya, March 29.—By Wireless to Sayville, March 30.—"On account of rain on the western front and thewing weather in the east there were no important events," says the official statement issued here. "There were no new developments in Macedonia."

Canadian troops made four attacks last night on German positions east of Neuville, St. Vaast, the war office announced. They were repulsed with heavy losses.

"An attack of several Russian companies on Prince Leopold's front, west of Dvinsk, failed under our fire," says today's official report from the east. "There were no important events on the fronts of Rrch Duke Joseph and Field Marshal von Mackensen.

HEAVY FIGHTING IS SUSPENDED.

Paris, March 30.—The heavy fighting on the French front since the beginning of the German withdrawal has come to an end for the time being.

"From the Somme to the Aisne the night was calm along our outposts," says today's official report. "There were no important events elsewhere on the front with the exception of patrol and grenade fighting in the sector of Maisons de Champagne."

The Matin says that decisions of the highest importance have been reached by the economic committee after a two hour session which was attended by most of the ministers and under secretaries. The decisions will be published today after they have been submitted to the cabinet for ratification.

BRITISH SHIPPING LOSSES.

London, March 30.—The figures for British ship losses from submarines and mines in the first 18 days of December, January, February and March were given as follows today in the house of commons by Thomas J. MacNamara, financial secretary, to the admiralty: December, 30; January, 26; February, 66; March, 55.

PEACE FEDERATION WILL BE OPPOSED BY NAVY LEAGUE

New York, March 30.—Leaders of the emergency peace federation said today that cancellation of permission to parade in Washington next Monday would not stop their campaign to influence congress against a declaration of war. Although a large body of pacifists will assemble in Washington next week, plans for a demonstration there will be modified. The federation will keep up its effort to raise a $200,000 fund. Most of the money will be used for newspaper advertising.

The naval training association of the United States is conducting an active campaign to offset the work of the organized pacifists. An appeal sent to the 2,000 members of the association urges them to join "in endeavoring to show the real patriotic spirit of American citizens by telegraphing to the president or your congressman to stand firm for American rights and American honor at whatever cost."

A society to be known as the "Vigilantes" to encourage patriotism was organized last night at a dinner at the Harvard club, attended by writers and artists. Irvin S. Cobb, one of the speakers, likened the United States to "a nice large, juicy oyster without a shell, just waiting for some one with an oyster fork to come along."

GUARD DIVIDES ON METHOD FOR CREATING ARMY

New York, March 30.—The opinion of the national guard concerning the method of raising a big army is divided, and two separate recommendations will be sent to congress. These recommendations agree in advocation of the present national guard although under federal control, while the other does not mention the militia.

The first of these recommendations was adopted yesterday at the close of the national defense convention of the National Guard association of the United States. It provides that the national guard be taken out of the militia class and become a "veritable federal force," under control of the general staff. After the convention had adjourned, militia men assembled at a meeting in the same armory, called by the universal service committee of the national guard and naval militia, and adopted resolutions favoring "universal military training and service under exclusive federal control for all male citizens of the United States of suitable age."

Officers of the veterans' committee declared the convention had taken its vote earlier than they expected and that they had not been given a proper opportunity to present their views.

LOVEJOY LIFTS VOICE AGAINST CONSCRIPTION

Washington, D. C., March 30.—Owen R. Lovejoy, secretary of the national child labor committee and a member of the executive committee of the American union against militarism, today made public a letter he had written to President Wilson urging him to resist pressure from Senator Chamberlain and others, to include compulsory military training and service among the subjects scheduled for consideration at the special session of congress. "I do not see why the present national defense act with its provisions for the training of 300,000 young men a year on the volunteer basis, should not be given a fair chance to prove its merit before the country abandons it for conscription," wrote Mr. Lovejoy. "The suggestion recently made by ex-President Taft that a conscription law be 'put over' now while the people are inflamed seems to me highly immoral from the standpoint of statesmanship.

"If there is to be any conscription, I submit that we should make the sacrifice of minor interests first before presenting the ultimate gift."

AUSTRIA HAS PASSION FOR PEACE WITH US

Berne, Thursday, March 29.—(Via Paris, March 30.)—A neutral diplomat who arrived here from Vienna today asserts that Austria is almost feverishly anxious to retain good relations with the United States, but is even more desirous and determined to support Germany. The continuance of friendly relations between Washington and Vienna depends almost entirely, he believes, upon the outcome of the crisis between Germany and the United States. According to the diplomat, if America and Germany go to war, Austria will follow the lead of her ally, but if peace is preserved Vienna hopes to avoid a break with the United States. The economic situation in Austria is described by the traveler as very bad and getting steadily worse, although not worse than that in Germany.

FIND SPAHR NOT GUILTY

Huntington, Ind., March 30.—John C. Spahr, of Markle, was acquitted of the charge of murder by a jury in the circuit court Friday morning. The jury reached its decision at 8 o'clock Friday morning, having wrestled with the question since Thursday evening, when Clifford F. Jackman, special judge, finished his instruction. At 7:30 Thursday evening the jury asked that the instructions be read to them again, especially the one in which the judge said that if the jury found Spahr guilty they must find that the killing of Arrel Littler was done with a shovel or spade, according to the theory of the prosecution.

At 9 o'clock Thursday morning Spahr was taken to the court room and the jury filed in. In answer to a question whether they had reached a verdict, M. L. Vickery, the foreman, said they had. The verdict was handed to the judge, who read the verdict

Captain G. R. Green, of the Sixth artillery, U. S. A., conducted the inspection of Battery D, at the State street armory, Thursday night and found the equipment and men in good shape. There were ninety-two men and five officers present at the inspection. The regular army officer seemed to be very much pleased with the manner in which the men went through the inspection.

Sunday afternoon at 12:30 o'clock the battery members will meet at the armory and will take a march to New Haven and back, over the Lincoln highway.

Captain John C. Scheffer has received word from the war department that he should submit the names of ten of the best men in the company, who will take examinations for commissions.

CALIFORNIA'S HIRAM JOHNSON STOPS HERE

Ex-Governor Hiram Johnson, of California, passed through Fort Wayne Thursday night at 9 o'clock on his way to Washington to attend the special session of congress. He stopped over five minutes and told an inquirer that he was on his way to do his little part. He paid a glowing tribute to Fort Wayne and said it was one of the best cities in the country, and that Indiana was one of the best states in the union. He said he would never forget the favors shown him and the courtesies extended to him while in this city in 1912.

Berne, March 29—Via Paris, March 30.—The Swiss parliment decided today by a vote of 88 to 22 that Switzerland should make no move in behalf of peace at the present time.

This action was taken after hearing the majority and minority reports of a commission appointed to consider the possibility of a peace move by Switzerland. The majority of the committee advised against any action at this time. The minority suggested: First, that the Bundesrat declare itself ready to take part in a general conference of states immediately after the war for the purpose of creating an international organization for the peaceful settlement of all political and economical disputes. Secondly, that the Bundesrat declare itself ready, either alone or in connection with other neutral states, to offer its good services for peace negotiations

Washington, March 30.—A revolutionary movement, which resulted in the calling of a great strike, was directly responsible for the suspension yesterday by Spain of constitutional guarantees, according to an official dispatch received to-day by Ambassador Riano from Madrid.

The government having arrested the signers of the strike manifesto, is said in the dispatch now to be relying upon the "common sense" of workmen and the effectiveness of the measures taken, to preserve public order. The country was quiet at the time the dispatch was sent.

The text follows: "A manifesto having been published by the representatives of the workmens' union proclaiming a general strike without fixing a date and clearly with revolutionary purpose and with the idea of disturbing public order, which was very marked last night at a public meeting, the government has suspended constitutional guarantees, after having arrested by judicial order the signers of the manifesto. Absolute tranquility reigns all over Spain and the government trusts in the common sense of the workmen and in the effectiveness of the measures adopted, to preserve public order."

POLICE OUT TO STOP CHICAGO FOOD RIOTING

Chicago, March 30.—Hundreds of policemen were detailed today to protect the meat markets and groceries in the west side Ghetto which were attacked yesterday by angry crowds, composed mostly of women who protested against the high prices of food.

Armed with stones and kerosene which they poured over meat the women attacked the kosher butchers who, they said, were chiefly responsible for the high prices. Windows were shattered and hundreds of pounds of foodstuffs destroyed. Women who entered the shops to make purchases were seized, their clothing torn and their parcels taken from them and thrown into the street.

The rioting began early yesterday and was kept up until the markets closed late at night. It is said that a boycott of all kosher butchers in the city has been planned for today and to prevent rioting police officials early today sent mounted and motorcycle squads to the congested districts of the west side, where crowds are likely to congregate. It was said by the police that the disturbance was not due so much to the inability of the rioters to buy food as to their desire to lower prices by keeping others from obtaining it and thus increasing supply.

NAME CHAMP CLARK FOR SPEAKERSHIP WITHOUT CONTEST

Washington, D. C., March 30.—Plans for prompt organization of the house when it assembles on Monday so that there may be no unnecessary delay in hearing President Wilson's address were made by the democratic caucus today when Champ Clark was nominated by acclimation for speaker of the ways and means committee was instructed to report democratic committee selections directly to the house. This latter provision will eliminate the usual delay of submitting the selections to another caucus and was made to save time.

Mr. Clark is confident of re-election when the house meets Monday. There was no opposition to him today and it took fifteen minutes to make the nomination. Representative Shackleford, a colleague, made the nominating speech and the formality of voting was dispensed with. Mr. Clark has been in congress more than twenty years and has been the speaker for the last three congresses.

After the nomination the caucus took up questions of house organization.

Present house officers were renominated and present democratic members of the ways and means committee renamed. This committee acts as the committee on committees and will make all committee selections for nomination to the new house. There were 181 member at the caucus, which was undisturbed by any serious fights. Thirty-three democrats, some of them classed as insurgents, failed to show up.

WILL INITIATE CLASS.

The Modern Woodmen, camp No. 4761, will initiate a class of candidates at its lodge rooms, 219 East Berry street, Saturday evening, March 31. Members of the Kendallville camp will be in attendance to perform the ceremonies. Large delegations from various cities will be present. A smoker and supper will precede the ceremony of adoption of the candidates.

SUCCESSFUL TRAINING FOR AVIATION CORPS.

Chicago, March 30.—McMillan Weddell, of Hinesdale, a suburb, is today in the government aero service after having been refused earlier in the week. Weddell, who is an experienced aviator, tried to enlist but was found to weigh only 142 pounds, six pounds under the weight required for the aero service. Yesterday he brought his weight up to the required 148 pounds by eating four very large meals.

BISHOP TALKS TO NEW CLASS

DEPAUW GRADUATES FORM ORGANIZATION

Rev. J. A. Beatty Makes Good Showing in Muncie District.

Huntington, Ind., March 30.—The announcement of the results of the conference examinations, the calling of the roll of the various districts for reports from the pastors, and the address of Bishop Nicholson to the entering classes from the first, second, third and fourth years of the conference course were the big events of the Methodist conference Friday morning.

The conference began the day by singing the conference hymn written by Rev. T. C. Neal, of Marion, Ind., and the bishop continued his expository address on the twelfth and thirteenth chapters of First Corinthians. The bishop said that money is not worth much until it buys something worth more than money, and only when society is dominated by the mind of God will the highest state of society life be reached.

As gangrene poisons the body, so the weakest and least prominent preacher can not do a mean thing without injuring the whole body. The worst thing to be done is to put a small man in a big place. He said the man that took J. D. Rockefeller into the church never received a salary of more than $1,200 a year, yet he was behind all the Rockefeller benefactions.

Several ministers were excused to attend funerals. A telegram of sympathy was ordered sent to the Rev. R. W. Stokes, of Bourbon, whose wife was reported very ill. A short time after the Rev. R. J. Wade announced that Mrs. Stokes was dead. The members of the conference stood and were

NAVY ORDERS 100 WIRE SEINES TO CAPTURE U-BOATS

Wsahington, March 30.—Orders were placed by the navy department today with the American Steel and Wire company, of Philadelphia, for the immediate construction of one hundred steel rope submarine nets. The nets will cost $1,881 each, will be 1,050 feet long, 30 feet wide with a twelve foot mesh. Deliveries will begin three weeks and continue at the rate of ten a week thereafter.

A Dollar Will Buy Just as Few Blossoms as It Did a Year Ago.

Our well known acquaintance, Hi C. Livin, who has done about as much damage as any one we can think of right now and excused his actions by the utterance of "war," has had no effect on the price of Easter flowers. At least the florists say so. A dollar will buy just as few flowers this joyous Easter tide as it did a year ago.

The once aristocratic egg may have advanced to a level where you cannot reach it and place it in the menu, but along with the new suit or dress you can sport a bouquet of violets or even, perhaps, the custom-decreed Easter lily.

Florists as a whole have ruled that neither the war, tariff, submarine blockade, or the general advance in all things have had any effect on the price of the beautiful flowers.

The official flower for Easter, as custom has established, is the lily. Corsage bouquets of violets livened up with lilies of the valley or an orchid will also be correct for a week from Sunday. The tendency is to return to the old June roses of years gone by. At any rate if we all wear flowers on Easter Sunday a shortage may be declared and prices may advance. Knock on wood.

GARRETT NEWS.

Garrett, Ind., March 30.—The stereopticon lecture given at the high school building, Thursday evening, to the pupils of the seventh and eighth grades and their parents was very well attended and very interesting. The pictures showed Indiana history.

Quite a number of the Garrett lads who are members of the Auburn Y. M. C. A. are taking part in the "Giggling Bros. & Cells" circus which is being given at the association building in Auburn, Thursday and Friday nights. A great many from this city will attend this entertainment.

The Johnston building, on the corner of King and Randolph street, occupied by the Patterson drug store, has been leased by Mr. Patterson for ninety-nine years and he is planning to erect a new building there soon. The present building on the site is a frame structure and one of the oldest in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Herdman Sherlock and daughter, of Pittsburg, Pa., are visiting Mrs. Sherlock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jno B. Mager.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church, have secured the services of the well known Garcia Concert company, who will give a concert at the church, Friday evening. The company consists of four members and the music lovers of this city will enjoy a rare treat in hearing them.

Mrs. Seward Martin was able to return to her home in this city Wednesday after a three weeks' stay at Sacred heart hospital.

Mrs. Homer Johnson and Miss Florence Hill are spending the week-end in Chicago.

The death of Berneice Hollis, the seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hollis, which occurred yesterday was indeed a sad one. The child had attended school Tuesday and upon reaching hom in the evening complained of a severe headache. She gradually grew worse and she finally went into convulsions, and her death occurred in less than twenty-four hours after taking sick. She leaves her parents and six brothers and sisters. Another younger child in the family is reported very ill also.

Friends in this city have received announcement of the engagement of W. Lyman Campbell, of Baltimore, and a Miss Underwood, daughter of President F. W. Underwood, of the Erie railroad. Mr. Campbell was a resident of this city for several months, being trainmaster over the Chicago division of the Baltimore & Ohio. He left here to become a member of the staff of the operating vice president at Baltimore.

The annual Easter services of the Apollo Commandery No. 19, Knights Templar, will be held in this city at the First Methodist church, the Rev. Charles Tinkham, who is a sir knight, delivering the sermon. The meeting last year was held at Butler and was attended by hundreds of people. Knights will be present from Angola, Butler, Waterloo, Auburn, Albion and Kendallville. The committee in charge of the program will arrange for special music and a very interesting meeting to which the public is invited.

Through the fire which destroyed the Hunsel block in this city the Knights of Columbus were thrown out of a lodge room. They had occupied the front rooms of the Hunsel block for several years, and were nicely situated there. However, they have secured excellent quarters in the second story of the Clark building recently completed on Randolph street and move into the same next week. They expect to purchase considerable new furniture and have spacious quarters.

At the vesper service in the local Presbyterian church next Sunday evening, Miss Julia Hodge, of Auburn, will give a talk on her missionary work in the Philippines. Miss Hodge was engaged in missionary work in that locality for several years but owing to failing health was compelled to give it up for several months. However, she expects to leave soon to resume her work as instructor in the Ellenwood college, in the Philippines.

The congregation of the Methodist Episcopal church of this city gave a reception Tuesday evening for Rev. Charles Tinkham and family, before their departure for the Northern Indiana conference, at Huntington, which opened Wednesday morning. Rev. Tinkham has been pastor of the Garrett church six years and during this time the congregation has enjoyed a remarkable growth in every way. As a token of the esteem in which they are held by the people of Garrett, Rev. Tinkham was presented with a beautiful Knights Templar ring and Mrs. Tinkham a silver clock and silver candle stick. The congregation hopes that the Tinkhams will be returned here for another year.

The body of William Moore, whose death occurred at Sacred Heart hospital Tuesday evening, was shipped to Kendallville, thence to his former home at Wauwaka. Mr. Moore had been a patient at the hospital three weeks, suffering with pneumonia, but was improving nicely and was able to be up. He started to get a drink of water when he was attacked with heart failure and dropped dead. He was fifty-one years of age and leaves a wife and five children. Undertaker George Iler removed the body to his morgue where it was prepared for burial and shipped to his home.

Boston, March 30.—The memorial to Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer and founder of Christian Science, erected in Mt. Auburn cemetery at Cambridge, Mass., has been turned over to the Christian Science board of directors by Elbert S. Barlow, of New York, who had charge of its construction. More than a year and a half has been required to complete it. Christian Scientists throughout the world have contributed, as expressions of sentiment, the entire cost of more than $150,000.

The memorial is of Bethel white granite and consists of an open circular colonnade of eight columns fifteen feet in height, surmounted by a cornice and cresting. The space inside the colonnade is to be filled with growing flowers. The columns rest on a stylobate of three steps, which also rest, at one side, on a broad platform of Pompton pink granite and, at the other, which is about five feet lower, on a double flight of circular steps. These are flanked on each side by a large pylon.

Detail Work Elaborate.

The pylons were exhibited a short time ago at the American Institute of Architecture in New York, and were pronounced by several experts to be the finest pieces of carved granite ever executed. The detail is elaborated to an extent never before attempted in granite; some of the stems and leaves are practically free standing, so great is the relief.

Interviewed regarding the memorial the architect, Egerton Swartwout, of New York, said: "The site is singularly pleasing; in fact, I question whether a finer site could anywhere be found. It can be seen from all side equally well, close at hand from the cemetery road, and from a quarter of a mile away across the lake. Indeed, it is this body of water which forms the chief beauty of the site. There is a drop of approximately ten feet from the level of the road to the level of the lake, these being a natural terrace on the axis of the plot which lends itself admirably to the architectural development of the memorial. The lake is unusually still, and has a mirrorlike quality which reflects admirably the white granite of which the memorial is made.

"As to the memorial, I think it can be said without contradiction that, leavin gaside any artistic excellence, such perfection and delicacy have never been attained before in this unyielding and enduring material. There is certainly noting in modern times that can approach it nor, as far as I know, in any of the monuments of antiquity."

Mr. Swatwout designed the new Missouri state capitol and the new federal building in Denver and recently won the competition for the new George Washington memorial.

All that now remains to be done to complete the memorial to Mrs. Eddy is the planting of the landscape, which is to consist chiefly of some evergreen plants that will preserve their form and leaves throughout the year, and some cedars and rhododendrons.

ALCHOL ON KIDNEYS

The constant regular or irregular use of beverages containing alcohol, will sooner or later make trouble for the kidneys. Sometimes an excess acid secretion is formed, but usually the beginning of urinary trouble is denoted by an excess alkaline secretion giving rise to frequent desire of urination, followed by pain, burning, scalding, with irritation manifest in the passage. The urine highly colored and strong with odor should be corrected with

Indigestion and constipation are among the most common causes of ill health. A man never feels so completely used up as when his stomach goes back on him. Fortunately quick relief may be had by taking Chamberlain's Tablets, and in most cases this relief becomes permanent. Do not give up but take Chamberlain's Tablets, get well and stay well as many others have done. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

46 And they came to Jericho: and as he went out of Jericho with his disciples and a great number of people, blind Bartimeus, the son of Timeus, sat by the highway side begging.
47 And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry out, and say, Jesus, thou Son of David, have mercy on me.
48 And many charged him that he should hold his peace: but he cried the more a great deal, Thou Son of David, have mercy on me.
49 And Jesus stood still, and commanded him to be called. And they call the blind man, saying unto him, Be of good comfort, rise; he calleth thee.
50 And he, casting away his garment, rose, and came to Jesus.
51 And Jesus answered and said unto him, What wilt thou that I should do unto thee? The blind man said unto him, Lord, that I might receive my sight.
52 And Jesus said unto him, Go thy way; thy faith hath made thee whole. And immediately he received his sight, and followed Jesus in the way.

22 And he cometh to Bethsaida; and they bring a blind man unto him, and besought him to touch him.
23 And he took the blind man by the hand, and led him out of the town; and when he had spit on his eyes, and put his hands upon him, he asked him if he saw aught.
24 And he looked up, and said, I see men as trees, walking.
25 After that he put his hands again upon his eyes, and made him look up; and he was restored, and saw every man clearly.

No Compromise Possible.

It seems to be a thoroughly settled belief that congress, which meets in extra session next Monday, will go no farther than to declare Germany has committed acts of war against the United States and that a state of war exists between the two governments. It is believed that congress will vote the president ample credit for the national defense and authorize all necessary steps to effect it. President Wilson is expected to recite the chapter of America's grievances against Germany, which consists mostly of unwarned attacks by submarines and the los sof American lives in several different instances of ruthlessness.

Germany fully asserts her intention to go on with unrestricted use of submarines. She claims her international right to do so. Washington disputes it, declares America will not recognize Germany's barred zone and will hold Germany to account for the loss of American lives. Just how these two radical attitudes can be compromised, as some have suggested by way of pacific effort, is not clear. Germany has been for two months in the full pursuit of her policy or ruthlessness. Several American ships have gone down and many American lives have been sacrificed. Germany is stubbornly refusing to back up a step on her declarations of frightfulness at sea. No longer ago than Friday, Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg stood in the reichstag and proclaimed that if the "American nation considers unrestricted submarine warfare cause for which to declare war against the German nation, we shall not have to bear the burden of responsibility for it." That does not seem to leave much room for a compromise. It does seem to sound the "last word" which Mr. Bryan is fond of saying never should be spoken between friends. Any indication that Germany might abate ruthlessness perhaps would ease the situation, but there has not been from the first any word or sign that this is probable. Our ships have been sunk in warfare at sea. Americans have perished when ships have gone down. The case that the president said would determine matters has been made out. It remains to be seen whether or not there is to be any backing down and if it is this country that is going to do it. Certainly President Wilson is in no mood to do that and it is not believed that even the feverish campaign of American pacifists, supporting the activities of the ingenious and dangerous pro-German propaganda in the United States, will be enough to deter congress from declaring that a state of war exists.

If national cognizance of that situation be taken the days may be counted that will pass before actual war follows. It is tantamount to a declaration of war to declare that there is war. That point reached it is not likely that there would be any delicacy about coming to a clinch. The American navy and its auxiliaries are being hastened into condition for that purpose. Talk about compromise has been outdated by events. The Washington government will make good what it has said or will back down. Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg does not leave America the least degree of hope that he wants or expects compromise or is willing to consider negotiations. The two governments have come to a fatal split upon a vital issue. When governments do that they try to settle the dispute with the war club. And that is the situation.

Good May Come of It.

The plan already approved by the democratic state committee and likely to receive similar approval from the republican state organization for a coalition to circumvent partisan contests in the election of delegates to the constitutional convention is a movement out of which a good result may come. If both parties act in wholly good faith the value of such a purpose is not to be doubted. The fear that there may be a resort to slate-making on a bi-partisan basis along familiar lines and according to ancient partisan practices holds place in some minds, but this can be removed by the party organizations themselves if they omit no effort to prove the rectitude of their intentions. It will be unfortunate for the new constitution if delegates are to be chosen in partisan contests. There are issues upon which plenty of contests will be based. A plan to insure that capable and unbiased men who have the confidence of the people shall sit in the convention will do much at the outset to make the work of the convention of a high character and worthy of public belief in its merits. The manner of the reception of the bi-partisan plan will be determined by the degree of good faith in which both great political organizations shall act in the execution of this proposal.

There is reason to suspect that when the suffragettes of the Congressional union fully understand Lloyd George and Mr. Asquith have both been converted to suffrage, they will resume the silent sentineling.

(Indianapolis News.)

Contributions to the New Albany relief fund were somewhat more generous yesterday, but the Red Cross and other relief workers are still very much in doubt as to how far they dare go in providing assistance to those who are actually suffering, for as yet the contributions have not been large enough to warrant the belief that enough money can be raised to continue the work. In fact, New Albany stands in danger of being left with some 300 families to feed and house, and no money to defray expenses. The situation has become acute principally because public attention has been attracted elsewhere, and not because of a public disposition to let the city suffer the consequences of a disaster for which it is in no way responsible.

The war department's order calling into the service of the government the Second Indiana regiment, including the companies which have been preserving order at New Albany, brought further anxiety to the stricken city, for the local authorities could not risk an outbreak among the convicts detailed to clear the city of wreckage. The refusal of certain saloonkeepers to close their places in the interest of good order shows also that within the city itself there is an element which must be watched. There has as yet been no looting, but unless it can be demonstrated that the relief work is in the hands of men who have generous financial support and adequate authority, there may at any time be an outbreak of lawlessness.

The Red Cross has been forced to appeal to the nation for funds for New Albany through national Red Cross headquarters. But the country is on the verge of war, and the Red Cross is busy trying to prepare for the mobilization of its forces. It can not be expected to stop this work. It should not be asked to stop it. The principal need is money, and the money should come from middle western cities. Every community should open a subscription list.

Lafayette, Ind., March 30.—The National Fruit Juice company, of this city, has announced that it will manufacture and bottle this season more than 1,500,000 gallons of apple juice, requiring approximately 600 carloads of apples. Horticulturists and orchardists over the state are interested in the prospect, as it means much to the apple-growing business in Indiana. It will permit farmers to sell that part of their apple crops that formerly went to waste. The juice company has been authorized to increase its capital stock from $10,000 to $750,000.

The prohibition of alcoholic beverages in the state after April 2 next year is expected to stimulate traffic in nonintoxicating beverages and the local company intends to utilize the Indiana apple crop for its product. The new beverage was introduced at the state apple show last year at West Baden, and since then has been in demand all over the United tates. The Indiana Horticultural society and the Purdue university agricultural department are encouraging the venture and urge farmers to conserve their apple crops.

Five-Story Storage Building.

Although some of the men interested in the fruit juice company also are interested in a local brewery, the two establishments are entirely separate and the brewery buildings are not to be used by the fruit juice concern when the state goes "dry," other plans having been adopted for the utilization of the large plant now operated as a brewery. The old Monon freight house, which was abandoned last week when the railroad company moved into the commodious new freight terminal, has been leased by the fruit juice company as a warehouse for its finished product. A contract has also been let for a five-story, concrete storage building which is an addition to the present equipment.

Giant fruit presses have been bought and a large addition to the present bottling plant is being erected. The Monon railroad is laying new sidetracks for the local industry.

The officers of the company are: John Wagner, president; Frederick P. Thieme, vice president and treasurer; Frank H. Wagner, secretary; Gustave L. Goob, general manager. The directors are: William Gude, of Lafayette; John W. Eggeman, of Fort Wayne; C. I. Stone, of Indianapolis; Joseph G. Hamling, of Lafayette, and Theresa W. Thieme, Lafayette. The company has learned that Indiana has more than 5,000,000 bearing apple trees and with a normal crop from these trees it is believed the state will be able to provide for the company's needs.

HALL TOO SMALL FOR THE CROWD

Many Fail to Get in to Hear Lecture at Y. M. C. A. on Superheaters.

The auditorium of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. was inadequate to the demand upon it Thursday night, when the first of a series of educational events for the benefit of railway men, shopmen and others was given. Before W. A. Buckbee, the speaker, commenced his address every seat and a number of extra chairs had occupants and standing room was at a premium. In fact a number of men who applied for admission to the room were compelled to turn away because of not being able to get in, so great was the crowd. W. A. Buckbee, of the Locomotive Superheater company, the speaker, spoke on "Superheat and Superheaters," a question of great importance to railway men and particularly to those who work in the cab, in the shops and in the round house, where a knowledge of superheaters is a most valuable asset because they are fast becoming in general use on all first-class railways. The audience was composed chiefly of engineers and firemen and the success of the gathering was due in a great measure to J. H. Hanna, road foreman of engines of the Pennsylvania. The new locomotives of the latter company are all equipped with superheaters and the time is near when none others will be used on that road. Mr. Buckbee is one of the best informed men in the country on that subject. Following the lecture, the men in the audience asked questions concerning points not fully clear to them and in this manner obtained a very good idea of the mechanism of the superheater and its operation.

Mr. Buckbee was introduced by Master Mechanic E. E. Griest and James A. Foster, foreman of the air brake department of the Pennsylvania and chairman of the lecture committee, presided in the absence of H. T. Sympson, assistant division engineer of the Pennsylvania and chairman of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. committee of management, who was called out of the city. An interesting talk was given by General Secretary E. W. Pierce, of the Y. M. C. A., and the musical end of the program was well taken care of by Val Ewig, Elmer Stoll and the Blacksmith quartet.

The next event in the series will be a lecture on "Seamless Tubing," illustrated by moving pictures, which will be given by someone from the east. It will show the metal which enters into the tubing, from the mines to the finished product, illustrating the many different processes necessary to bring about the transformation. This lecture will be given in the First M. E. church, on East Wayne street, because of the inadequacy of the accommodations at the Y. M. C. A.

SHOT IN THE HIP.

The Sentinel yesterday told the story of an encounter between Pennsylvania patrolmen and brass thieves at Gary, but failed to state that the patrolman, Harry S. Stout, was shot in the hip by one of the thieves. The fellow with the gun shot under a car from the opposite side from Patrolman Stout, the bullet striking a steel handcuff, he had in his pocket and glancing, embedded itself in the flesh of the hip. The patrolman got after the thieves, sending several shots at them as they ran away and it is believed one of them was hit. They had sixteen journal brasses in sacks, which they dropped when the patrolman got busy with his gun. Mr. Stout, in making the report to Captain Stoll, requested that the news that he had been shot be suppressed until he came home, on account of his wife, whom he did not wish to frighten. The wound was dressed by the company's surgeon at Gary and Patrolman Stout came home last night, still carrying the bullet. This morning he went to the Lutheran hospital where Dr. Budd Van Sweringen extracted the bullet and stated that unless the wound became infected it would soon heal. The shooting took place Wednesday night.

PAYS TRIBUTE TO THIEME.

Frederick Landis Says He Caused Call for New Constitution.

"Fort Wayne has a man who has done more to bring about common sense government in Indiana than any other citizen of which I know. That man is Theodore F. Thieme," said Ex-Congressman Frederick Landis, while the audience cheered heartily, Thursday night. Landis delivered his lecture, "Good Fellows Club," before the Technic club of the Fort Wayne General Electric works, at the Electro Moose hall. Two hundred of the men attended the oratorical treat.

"It is a conceded fact that Mr. Thieme was the most vital force in bringing about the call for a constitutional convention in Indiana," Mr. Landis said. "I would rather see him sent as a delegate to the convention, which is to frame our organic law, than any other man in the state. He has shown that he looks upon our government from a business standpoint."

Landis spoke for new spirit of law enforcement and launched a bitter arraignment against the liquor traffic.

"Instead of a class of our laboring men spending the money for booze on Saturday night and their Sundays in the lock-up, picking gray backs off each other, let us make it possible for them to stay at home after they draw their pay and on Sunday they can take a walk in the park with their families," he said.

He said in conclusion: "I hope the time will come that it will not be possible in America for factory horrors to occur when hundreds of women operatives can be burned up in fire-trap buildings and the owners escape scot free. I hope to see the time come in our national experience when such a crime as the Eastland horror will not be possible, where nearly one thousand men, women and children were swept to their deaths in the Chicago river, and no one ever went to jail for it, so cleverly was the investigation whitewashed and the owners protected from prosecution. Injustice and tyranny must be banished and citizenship in old age must be provided for and honored instead of becoming a thing of reproach and neglect. These things enter into the very life of our nation and cannot be overlooked."

PATRIOTISM AT THE "LIGHTS."

Various Departments In Office Building Are Decorating.

"I guess none of the other rooms have anything on us in the way of flag display," said one of the men in the office of Chief Shop Clerk J. H. Evans at the General Electric works this morning, as he waved his hand towards the decorations. On the south wall of the big room, arranged so as not to interfere with the light, were three flags and on the north will another one, each being 8x15 feet in dimensions. Nearly all of the other rooms in the big office building were decorated with national colors and arrangements were made to-day to decorate those not already displaying the national colors. A mammoth flag will be hung in the general testing room to-morrow, and other departments are preparing to make similar display. These flags are bought with money contributed by the men and women in the various departments, and it is said that so far not one has refused to donate.

LOOKING OVER PLANS.

Y. M. C. A. Building Committee Meets Architect.

E. E. Griest, E. W. Peirce and Theodore Wentz, of the building committee of the Y. M. C. A., went to Chicago this morning to Shattuck & Hussey, the architects, and with them carefully go over the revised plans of the proposed building. This is the third time the committee has looked over the plans and discovered opportunity for improvement and it is believed to be the final consultation in this connection.

EDWARDS RECEIVED HIGHEST MARK.

F. M. Edwards, one of the twelve or fifteen applicants for apprenticeship at the Pennsylvania machine shop, stood highest in the very rigid examination and was assigned to the only opening in the ranks. He commenced work this morning as an apprentice, being assigned tothe round house. It is said that the other applicants made a very creditable showing, but they will have to wait a vacancy before they can be given an apprenticeship. The following quarterly transfers of transfers of apprentices takes place Sunday, the first day of the quarter: K. Laughlin from the erecting shop to the michine shop; N. Wyatt from the machine shop to the recting shop; T. Litot from the round house to the machine shop, and R. Bryant from the machine shop to the round house.

PATRIOTIC DISPLAY CONTINUES.

The Pennsylvania shopmen continue to show their patriotism and are getting ready to throw more flags to the breezes. Instead of the display being made by the individual departments altogether, a movement is now on foot which contemplates a massive staff and flag that will extend far above the buildings and be visible from all parts of the city. The flags erected by the individual departments will continue in position, however. The planing mills employes have arranged to erect a 25-foot staff bearing an 8x12 flag on the Lafayette street cone of the main building and will float it tomorrow.

MOVING PUNCH DEPARTMENT.

The transfer of the machinery of the punch department of the General Electric works from the old factory building east of Broadway to the first floor of building No. 26, on Wall street, commenced this morning. Joseph Schwartzkopf is the general foreman of the department. The first machinery to go to the new home is that in the east part of the present quarters, known as the "Madison" work, in which there are about twenty machines. The foreman of this part is Clyde Atwater. It will take at least a week to transfer all the machinery to the new shop.

NATIONAL COLORS UNFURLED.

Yesterday the employes of the N. Y. C. yards and freight house and office raised a flag on the freight house, on Clinton street, and when the banner swung out in response to the breeze, the men stood with uncovered heads while two engines added to the din in honor of the patriotic demonstration. The employes at the round house also purchased a flag, which was mounted amid the cheers of the patriots who witnessed the ceremony and the shrill screech of some locomotive whistles.

IDLENESS NOT HIS FORTE.

Louis Baker, the Pennsylvania employe, who had to quit work because he had reached the age limit, seventy years, finds thime dragging heavily on his hands and has decided to take other employment. He has secured a job with the Fort Wayne Building Supplies company, on Hayden street, and begins work next Monday. He will continue to receive a pension from the Pennsylvania company, which does not object to him taking any honorable employment he can find.

DISQUIETING RUMORS ARE HEARD IN CHINA

Peking, March 30—Disquieting rumors are in circulation in Peking concerning an alleged plan to make a separate state out of Manchuria and place it under Manchu rule, with the capitol at Mukden.

Three sons of the late Prince Ching, the most famous of the Manchu statesmen who directed Chinese affairs during the last years of the monarchy, recently went from Dairen to Japan, where they are to take courses in military schools. The departure of these young Manchus, all of whom are of age, prompted much newspaper discussion as to the plans of the young princes. Many newspapers in North China regard Japan's interest in the young Manchus with much suspicion.

Sculptor's Romantic Career.

If there be anything more remarkable than the mighty genius of Rodin, the world's greatest living sculptor, who recently married at the age of seventy, it can only be the romantic story of his life's career. As a boy he ran about the streets of Paris unkempt and uncared for, depending for a livelihood on the charity of passers-by, and performing sundry errands for artists of the Latin quarter. His first permanent occupation was that of mixing clays for a now famous sculptor. It was during these days that he developed a love for modeling. He was twenty-two when he exhibited his first statue, "The Man With the Broken Nose."

Germany Developing Water Power.

Germany is making more and more use of her water power for the production of electricity. This extended use of water power has powerfully contributed to the saving of human labor, with the result that Germany can now produce electrical energy almost as cheaply as the countries possessing an unlimited supply of water power. The business of extracting nitrogen from the atmosphere has been so successful, according to report, that in 1917 the "Government will be able to dispose of 5,000,000 tons of nitrous manure, which is four times the amount needed in peace time."

Assisting Mrs. Milligan were her sister, Miss Mildred Rowser, and Mrs. Arnold Tresselt and Miss Vera Tresselt. The rooms were fragrant with the perfume of many pink sweetpeas and other spring flowers, yellow and pink being the most favored colors. The luncheon was appointed in pink and yellow with jonquils and sweetpeas blossoms in vases and dainty place cards and nut holders also expressive of the same colors. Miss Poole found a lovely bunch of the flowers marking her place at the table and after the delicious spread of numerous good things had been served this popular bride-to-be was showered with gifts tied in white with blue and yellow ribbons to hold them. The guests took their sewing along to prolong their visit after the luncheon as invitations had expressed the desire for their company and there was much visiting, but no startling amount of needlework accomplished.

AT THE PALACE.

THE DINING CAR MINSTRELS.

Sons of Late Frank Howard in Black Face at Palace.

Two of the sons of the late Frank Howard, one time minstrel idol of America, who call themselves Howard and Fields, are, with the assistance of an interlocutor, presenting a novel minstrel arrangement at the New Palace in which ballads, comedy gags and soft shoe dancing combine to recall the days of their father. The setting is novel and the comedy is the sort that takes big.

Grace DeWinter, the girl ventriloquist and light change artist; the three Willie Brothers in startling head balancing; Carson and Willard in their absurd chatter at the bulletin board, and Douglass Flint and company in The Merchant Prince, an epigrammatic bit of modern day comedy, completes this bill.

What the Chicago booking office claims is the greatest vaudeville combination ever assembled for the New Palace is billed for the first half of the coming week. It is headlined by the big time star Izetta, whose splendid skill as an accordeonist is matched only by the engaging manner in which she can sing comedy character songs, playing her own accompaniment. Among others on this bill are The Three Bordos; J. C. Lewis and company; Lew Madden and company; Dickenson and Deagon, and the big girl act, School Playgrounds.

Ray Samuels, herself, is coming back to the New Palace in an entirely new repertoire of comedy songs. The irrepressible Ray will be here Easter week. This week she is the star of the Palace show in Chicago.

Driven to desperation by the futility of six days of tireless labor, in the hunt for the body of Frank Claus, police may employ more traditional methods in their quest for the corpse, Friday, although the ancient loaf of bread scheme seemed a failure, on Thursday.

Chief Lenz said Friday that he had learned that the home-made bread loaf, which was dropped into the swirling stream at the point where the small row boat is supposed to have capsized, sank beneath the tide at a point below the Four Mile house. He will have police make many drags in the region of the cluster of willows, which line the shore at that point.

Underwear of the water victim, if dropped into the stretam at the point where the body sank, will come to rest where the corpse lies, Lenz has been told. He has also heard that a hat of the drowned person will seek to locate upon the head of the body if the top piece is dropped in the river where the person went down.

Lenz says that since all scientific methods, such as dragging the river and using dynamite charges to jar the body free from entanglements, have been found fruitless and since his men will be constantly on duty patrolling the stream, until the corpse is recovered, he sees no harm in attempting the homely means suggested by housewives and others who hold to mystic lore. Use of these processes of locating the body at least make people understand that police are following all possible suggestions, Lenz says. The police may try to find the body of Claus by dropping a part of his clothing into the raging river.

"Have you tried sinking a sack of wheat yet?" a woman inquired of the chief Friday morning.

"No," Lenz admitted.

"I have heard that the sack of grain will go direct to the body of the drowned person," the woman explained.

"How big a sack?" asked Lenz promptly. He believes that question was a most important one- considering the grain market.

"I never heard. But they claim they foun dthe body of my brother, who was drowned at Muncie, that way."

Lenz does not expect to try the sack of wheat plan because of the price of wheat, he says. He asked reporters to attempt to raise a "sinking" fund in order that all ancient methods of locating drowned bodies might be tried.

Police patrolled the river for a distance of two miles below New Haven, Friday. It is believed that the body of Claus will not be found below that point, owing to a large island which sets in the middle of the stream at that location. No more dynamiting of the stream will be carried on. Police fear that the body may not be located until the river falls below flood tide and the water is cleared.

And just as women have found comfort in full skirts of a convenient shortness there appears a very long and narrow model which is sure to receive the attention if not the approval of the fashion makers.

For a more elaborate street suit, she selects something which is touched up with linen crewel, Bonnaz embroidery, chain stitch, soutache braid or tinsel thread. For her also, as well as for the woman who motors, are distinctive designs, in long separate coats of Scotch mixtures, cut in mannish fashion, or full gathered models in velour de laine and other soft cloths.

There is no reason whatever why the economical shopper should not indulge in some of the pretty freakish things which she usually avoids. They cost no more than the common articles and they give a costume that sophisticated look which is the final test of good style.

The collarless blouse, for instance, is one of the prominent features of late fashion, which the average shopper is prone to overlook. Short sleeves and high necks are a combination to be noted.

Suede and glace leathers are used in millinery. Wide suede belts are much to be desired.

Draped hats are the last word in millinery. And no matter what the width, there are high crowned hats for those who like them and queer little flat crowns for those who can wear them. Wooden beads are employed to make hat ornaments.

Hats are very simple as to trimming, but striking in the use of different materials for crowns and brims. And historical designs are strangely modified as when the Napoleonic shape is done in tulle and violets.

Fringes are of almost every material and any length less than 12 inches. They are used on street suits as well as on afternoon and evening dresses.

Poplins are in high favor for coat suits. And very handsome one-piece garments, called suit-coats are made up of about equal parts of satin and serge.

FRENCH FOUND MORE MUNITIONS ARE NEEDED

Paris, March 30—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—It was not until the Battle of the Marne was at its height when war munitions were running low that the French government realized the imperious need of an intense production of war material, according to statements made by Albert Thomas, Minister of Munitions, in the Chamber of Deputies. M. Thomas was speaking in reply to criticisms of the conditions under which war material had been supplied to the French army.

From his assertions, it appears that the French War Department had estimated before the war that it would be necessary for state arsenals to produce not more than 13,000 shells a day. In belief that the conflict would be short, no provision whatever was made for the production of explosives during the hostilities.

When it was discovered, during the battle of the Marne, that this estimate was insufficient, Alexandre Millerand, the Minister of War, summoned to Bordeaux the heads of all manufacturing establishments available and organized them into groups for the rapid production of 3-inch shells.

Neither the government nor the manufacturers had then any basis for figuring the cost. The exceptional conditions and the great need of immediately replenishing the supply, M. Thomas said, accounted for the abnormal prices and for the fabulous profits reaped by the manufacturers. Three-inch shells at that time cost the government fifiteen frances each. Today they are purchased at prices ranging from six frances and fifty centimes to seven frances and fifty centimes.

The French War Department has placed 64,000 contracts for artillery, projectiles and explosives since September, 1914, M. Thomas said: All munitions producing plants in France, he added, have been under the control of the state from the beginning. Replying to deputies who demand that all industries able to contribute to the national defence should be requisitioned by the government, M. Thomas declared that this would cause disorganization. He accepted a proposal for a regime under which the state would exercise a control and share in the profits of these industries.

The government has established ten new gun foundries since September, 1914, and has enlarged eighteen others, it developed in the debate.

It is through buying in the large quantities such as only an exclusive rug house can do that we are able to give such values.

We are showing all the best patterns from the foremost mills in the country, such as Bigelow-Hartford, Alexander Smith, Overbrook, Beattie, Sloane's Firth Carpet Co., Roxbury Carpet Co., Debson, Schofield-Mason, Thos. Develon, Jr., etc.

WE HAVE SUCH AN ARRAY OF VALUES THAT IT would be useless to attempt to give prices in this space.

We can now show you rugs which we can furnish in twenty-nine different sizes, and in the season's most beautiful patterns.

In the Wiltons we have the Royal Ka-Shan, Savalan, Royal & Trewan, Wilton, also Bangor, Bagdad, etc.

We are selling great quantities of Linoleum and you will understand why when you see the beautiful line and learn the prices. Inlaid, 89c, and printed, 49c per yard.

New York, March. 29.—Beneath umbrella draperies, straight chemise robes and tissue evening gowns swathed orientally there remain the lovely natural curves of the female figure.

Perhaps the one high note of the openings of Paris models has been a tendency to display these lines once again. Certain small boleros, close fitting empire waists, and directoire coats curved to fit smoothly at the normal waist line seem to show Dame Fashion in a new frame of mind.

Lately fashion has been like a painter who gets his effects by the way he contrasts his colors. There are hints that she will soon turn sculptor and deal directly with the human form divine.

There is a promise of things precise and formal in some of the most artistic new creations. Therefore women who delight in unbalanced arrangements are making the most of their present opportunities. for instance there is the "opposed" treatment of the two sides of a dress: one sleeve of draped chiffon and the other arm merely braceleted with beaded banding; or looped drapery of tulle on one side of a skirt and satin plaits or a broad embroidered sash on the other; or evening capes with but one sleeve.

Other charming and persistent eccentricities are the uneven or wavy hem; the Algerian or under-caught hem; trains made of a straight width of silk suspended from the shoulders; and such violent contrasts as the uncollared bodice and the Elizabethan ruff which is wired and fluted and which flares from the square cut waist to a point well above the ears.

Give your clothes a chance to prove their worth by having them carefully and intelligently dry cleaned by SCHUBERTS. We do not experiment with your clothes, as thirty years of actual experience in this line has been our teacher.

This fine boy is Master Charles Kern, the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Hurley, 1026 Madison St., LaPorte, Ind. Charles has a little "Bodyguard" who lives in a little blue jar, and protects him against croup, colds, sore throat, bronchitis—in fact all kinds of cold troubles.

The name of this "Bodyguard" is Vick's VapoRub Salve, and the best thing about him is that he doesn't have to be swallowed. To "post the guard," Charles' mother just applies VapoRub externally and covers with a warm flannel cloth. Quick relief comes by absorption through the skin and by inhalation as a vapor.

"We always try to keep VapoRub in the house," writes Mrs. Hurley, "as the children are very susceptible to croup. By rubbing it on their throats and chests they are soon relieved. My husband and I used VapoRub when we had pleurisy and our pains went almost immediately.

Washington, March 30.—The two great coaling points of the Panama canal—one at Cristobal and the other at Balboa—which together have a total emergency storage capacity of 700,000 tons, have been completed. That at Christobal, the Atlantic terminus, is the larger and it is expected that most of the coaling will be done there. The plant there has been in commercial operation for several months, and it is expected the Balboa plant will be placed in use soon.

The completion at this time of these coaling plants of the Atlantic terminal of the canal is considered highly important should the United States be dragged into the European war.

ENTOMOLOGIST GLAD TO ANSWER QUESTIONS

Indianapolis, March 30—A request to the newspapers of the state that they inform the public that the office of the state entomologist is for the use of any citizen of Indana and any one should feel free to ask its advice, has been made by Frank N. Wallace, the state entomologist. In his request, Mr. Wallace says the present high price of food stuffs make it advisable that more care be taken in their production and that his office is willing to help in every way possible. His communication to the newspapers follows:

"The law creating the office of State Entomologist was enacted in 1907 and the duties of the office included the work of identifying any injurious insect or disease pest in the state and recommending remedies for the same. We receive thousands of requests for information each year, yet the name of our office leads many people to infer that our work is all of a very technical nature and many who need our assistance do not apply for information, thinking it will not be given in plain practical form. I am asking the newspapaers of the state to make a statement as to what our duties consist of and that all residents of Indiana are to feel free to send in specimens for identification and to call upon us for directions to assist them in combating insect and disease pests.

"The present high prices and the shortage of food supplies make it highly desirable that more care than ever be given to the care of all crops and that they be protected from insect and disease pest in every way possible."

EJECTED BACHELORS.

Philadelphia, March, 30—Men weren't permitted to hear the serious side of "How to Choose a Husband" the other night at the Lighthouse, Lehigh avenue and Waterloo street. That's the reason that at least three young bachelors never may know why some girl did not choose them.

After hearing the address on the subject by Dr. Alice Norton, Supervisor Agnes Hamilton requested the bachelors to leave the room.

Dr. Norton characterized marriage as a lottery and told the girls that they probably would discover this themselves after they had drawn their prizes.

"Awomen is not complete until she marries," said Dr. Norton, "and then she is finished."

(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

GOLDEN TEXT—I am the light of the world.—John 9:5.

This, another of the signs which Jesus performed, is recorded only by John. It probably occurred in October, six months before the crucifixion, while Jesus was attending the Feast of the Tabernacles. There are six other cases of blindness recorded as having been cured. Look them up.

I. The Case (vv. 1-4). It was absolutely hopeless. No human skill could touch it, but Jesus "passed by," and that changed everything. What men cannot do Jesus can. Jesus is passing today, and we may expect things quite as wonderful to happen (John 14:12). This blind man illustrates the unsaved sinner (I Cor. 2:14). He never had seen. He was beyond human help (v. 32). He had doubtless given up all hope of seeing. He was without sympathy, suspected and despised (vv. 2, 34). Poor—he was a beggar. He is also a type of the nation of Israel (Rev. 3:17). We must not attempt to explain all sickness (v. 3). God frequently uses it for the advancement of his kingdom (John 11:4). Jesus not only passed by but he "saw." The feeling of the crowd was that of curiosity and contempt. His feeling was that of compassion (vv. 2, 4 and 6). Sickness sometimes manifests God's sustaining grace (II Cor. 12:8-10). It is doubtless true that a large percentage of sickness is the direct result of sin (John 5:14; Mk. 2:5; Acts 12:23), some, of course, indirectly (Job 23:14-30).

II. The Cure (vv. 4-11). The word "must" in verse four is a strong one. The time for us to do our work is "now." This word "must" carries with it the idea of a divine imperative, and the reason for that imperativeness is the approaching "night." Night is coming fast, when no man can work. Notice the works we are to do are not our own, but "the works of him that sent me." Compare carefully verses two and four, and see that Jesus considered delivering the man from evil far more important than speculating about the origin of his complaint. Too much time is spent in investigation. Let us have more of action. The means used in this cure were clay and spittle. The miracle was performed in plain view of all who might see. The man did not ask Jesus to help him, but Jesus had gone where he was (v. 5). His words, "Go wash" were a test of the man's faith (II Kings 5:10-14), and his part in the transaction was a testimony that it was Christ who worked the cure. The use of the material means in this ceremony made the man more willing to go and wash. It gave him something to do, and doing is always an end to faith. Siloam means "sent," and was a type of Jesus himself (v. 4; John 10:36; Rom. 8:3; Gal. 4:4). If we wish to receive sight for our blind eyes, we should go to him and bathe (John 8:12).

III. The Controversy (v. 12 to end of chapter). This controversy gave opportunity for testimony, as we have already seen, first of all upon the part of the man whose testimony was progressive. At first he merely spoke of the fact. He was not acquainted with Jesus, for he calls him "The man called Jesus." Later on he is moved to call him a "prophet." He is a prophet (v. 17), and later still he recognizes him as "The Son of God" (vv. 35-38). This controversy established beyond question the fact of the cure. It brought out the deity of Christ (v. 38). The man was excommunicated, but for that matter he was already outside because of his physical infirmity, but, best of all, he became truly Christ's disciple.

IV. Comments. This lesson with its vivid contrasts of belief and unbelief gives us a wonderful opportunity to urge upon pupils a decision to live the Christian life. Has Christ opened the eyes of our scholars to the love of God, to the awfulness of sin, to the need of a Savior, our divine Leader and Brother? Urge them, in the class and out, to be as outspoken and courageous for Christ as was this man who had never before perhaps seen or heard of Jesus, and whose gratitude at once called forth this wonderful confession.

Being cast out by the rules of the synagogue brought this man into closer and deeper fellowship and communion with Jesus.

Now he is brought to a great saving, transforming faith, viz., that Jesus is the Son of God.

Do we take advantage of our privilege of confession?

He is the inspiration of all charitable institutions, but healing of the body is of secondary importance; the healing of the soul is primary. "Whereas I was blind, now I see."

Start with what you know—your own experience—and he will reveal himself according to your developing and progressive needs.

U-BOAT CREW DID NOT LET OLD GLORY FLY

(Place Deleted by Censor,) March 30.—The crew of the German submarine which shelled and sank the American Algonquin without warning in British waters on March 13, refused to let the freight ship go down with the stars and stripes flying. Captain Nordberg, of the Algonquin, said today.

The captain and twenty-five of his men arrived this morning at an American port on the Cunard liner Orduna, from a British port. Before the Algonquin's men abandoned the vessel she was being shelled by the U-boat. Captain Nordberg said he decided not to haul down the American flag and hoped to see it flying when his ship disappeared. But the Germans who went aboard to place bombs, he said, lowered the emblem before they accomplished their work of destruction. Captain Nordberg's story, upon his arrival, added no other essential details to the cabled accounts of the loss of the Algonquin. He confirmed dispatches which have told how he and his crew were denied aid by the U-boat's captain and had to row sixty-five miles to land. About three miles off shore another submarine was sighted, he said. The Algonquin was on her way from New York with grain and provisions when sunk.

AMERICAN SHIP ESCAPES MINE SOWN CHANNEL

(Place Deleted). March 30.—The fact that the Cunard liner Orduna was stopped off the Irish coast by a British torpedo boat destroyer and hurriedly ordered into the nearest port while the North channel was swept clear of a great flock of mines suddenly discovered, there was revealed by the ship's officers as the reason the vessel was three days overdue when she reached her American destination today.

Upon arrival in the Irish port of refuge, her officers said they found twenty-seven other ships had already escaped the mine peril by putting in there, including one American ship. Two other vessels had fallen victims to the mines, they learned, and had gone down. The mine sweepers worked two days clearing the sea of the menace, destroying more than 100 mines. Then all the ships were ordered out at once, making their way through a lane of protecting torpedo boat destroyers and patrol boats until they reached safe waters.

On board the Orduna were five airplane experts who have been engaged in destruction and instruction work for the French on the western front. It was learned they have been called back here to assist the development of this country's aerial service.

Manes—Flickinger.

Miss Bessie Flickinger, of Hillside avenue, and Mr. Delbert Manes, of Garden street, were married in Jackson, Mich., on Monday of this week. Although Mr. Manes had a home ready for his bride at 2103 Pauline street, the wedding was in reality an elopement, as the bride and groom kept their plans entirely to themselves. Mr. Manes belongs to local union, No. 14, of the Steel Workers, and he is employed at the Rolling mills. On his return to work on Wednesday evening Mr. Manes was serenaded by the whistle of the works that blew for several minutes. The bride has been employed as a lamp inspector at the Holman street plant and she is a sister of Mr. Walter Flickinger. After the first of April Mr. and Mrs. Manes will be at their own home.

REFUSES TO SALUTE FLAG

Refusing to salute the American flag when asked to do so by his teacher, Herbert Tagmeyer, thirteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Tagmeyer, of 1207 Breck street, was expelled from the Bloomingdale school Friday morning.

Upon his refusal to obey a custom that has been in practice at the school every morning for the past month, Miss Margaret McPhail, principal of the school, took him to task. He again refused and then is alleged to have removed a small flag from his coat lapel, tearing it to shreds and throwing them upon the floor.

His actions aroused the entire school and had not the authorities exercised their authority it is feared that the other boys in the room would have taken it upon themselves to inflict the sort of punishment that would not have been to the young man's liking.

Officials of the school board declare that Tagmeyer on Thursday morning told two or three of his companions that he would always salute the German flag before he would the Stars and Stripes.

The boy had been a student at the Bloomingdale school since Monday. Prior to last Monday morning he had attended the Lincoln school in Washington township.

Miss McPhail, principal, declares that she will not tolerate disloyalty to the flag in any school over which she supervises. For that reason the boy was expelled.

WORK GIVEN CLASS OF SEVENTY AT CATHEDRAL

Work for the fourth to the fourteenth degrees was exemplified on a class of seventy at the Scottish Rite cathedral beginning at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. This is a special class, but a large number of Scottish Rite Masons both from the city and out of the city were in attendance.

It was announced that the work would not be concluded until about 10 o'clock Friday evening, at which time it is believed that the weary way of the candidates will come to an end after seeing all the sights along the beautiful lane which leads from the first to the second stopping place.

At 6:30 o'clock Friday evening all Scottish Rite Masons in the city will sit down to a banquet at the cathedral. It is estimated that an exceedingly large number will be in attendance.

ELECTORAL REFORM NOT POSSIBLE NOW

So Says German Chancellor, Who Also Blames Wilson for the Crisis.

London, March 30.—A Reuter dispatch from Amsterdam today adds the following to the wireless version of the speech of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German imperial chancellor, to the reichstag:

"Regarding the military situation I have little to add to the army reports. In the east, extensive operations are out of the question at the present. The season of impassable roads prevents operations on a great scale.

"In the west our backward movements are being effected according to plan and lead to daily increasing freedom of movement. The thanks of the entire people are due to the troops and their skilful leaders.

"On all the other fronts our troops are standing with undiminished tenacity. In Macedonia, Bulgarian and German troops are splendidly repulsing French attacks on a great scale.

"Regarding the submarine war, the secretary o fthe admirally today made a detailed statement to the main committee of the reichstag."

Discussing internal politics, the dispatch quotes the chancellor as saying: "Although I would like it best if we could make reform in the franchises tomorrow, I doubt whether the moment, when we are concentrating all our strength in fighting the enemy, is the right one for originating a new electoral law. We must subordinate everything to bring the war to a happy conclusion."

Shifts Responsibility.

Respecting the American situation, the chancellor said: "Germany never had the slightest intention of attacking the United States of America and does not have such intention now. It never desired war against the United States of America and does not desire it today."

"If the American nation considers this a cause for which to declare war against the German nation with which it has lived in peace more than 100 years, if this action warrants an increase of bloodshed, we shall not have to bear the burden of responsibility for it."

THAW CIVILLY DEAD; CANNOT BE REMOVED

Philadelphia, Pa., March 30.—Harry K. Thaw, having been adjudged insane by a court of law, he is "civilly dead" and cannot be tried for crime was the declaration made by James Gay Gordon, of this city, representing the Thaw family in the hearing here today to have Thaw extradited to New York. The hearing was held before Attorney General Brown, representing the governor of Pennsylvania, to whom requisition for Thaw's removal to New York had been made by Governor Whitman to stand trial for beating Frederick Gump, jr., a Kansas City school boy. Thaw was recently declared insane by a Philadelphia court. He is still in a local hospital where he was taken January 12, after trying to commit suicide.

The manager of the Anthony hotel stirred up the tempest which prevented Ramsey Frederick from making a successful take-off towards the army aviation service, Friday morning. Although telegraph wires between Fort Wayne and the lad's West Virginia home were sizzling, the recruit had not been able to make a flight on Friday afternoon.

Frederick had neglected to tell those in charge of the Anthony hotel, where he had been staying, that he was going to join the army, it is claimed. The manager of the establishment says that the young man owes the hotel more than $60 for lodging and food. When the chief clerk o fthe hotel learned that Frederick, who has been a salesman for an Indianapolis firm, it is said, was about to join the colors as a bird-man, he started action.

The youth was arrested Friday morning. He admits owing the hotel keeper, police say. He hoped to get the money from his parents in West Virginia in time to be able to leave for Indianapolis at 12 o'clock, as he claimed was the schedule. If he secures the money, the case, charging him with defrauding a boarding house keeper, will be dropped. He is held under $200 bond.

Uncertainty as to whether or not Judge Kerr would be able to hold the young man for civil court if Frederick was to leave for the army was expressed by the judge. Since Frederick is not yet a regular soldier, recruiting officers say they will make no effort to prevent his being kept for any length of time by civil authorities.

Thomas Found Guilty.

George Thomas was found guilty of the charge of assault and battery upon a small girl. He was fined $10 and costs and sentenced to 60 days in jail. The wife of Thomas, to whom he has been married but a few weeks, wept when Judge Kerr delivered his decision.

Thomas was said to have made an attack upon a fifteen-year-old girl when he was supposed to be escorting her to the home of a sick friend. The girl escaped from him and ran into a house near where the assault was supposed to have been made. The girl told in court that Thomas had attacked her.

The defendant denied the charge. He was represented by an attorney. Credence of the girl's story was questioned by the defense. Judge Kerr delivered a lengthy comment, in review of the trial of the case, before giving his verdict.

Other Police Court Cases.

John Cassedy, whose great toe peepod from his worn gaiters, was trying to sell two new pairs of shoes, in a second hand store when attention of police was called to him, Thursday. Cassedy attempted to get out of the store when he learned that the police were coming. He struck at the proprietor, who tried to detain him, police said. On a disorderly charge Cassedy was fined $5 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail.

Fred Wells, 40, was in Newcastle when the cyclone hit that city, he told Judge Kerr. Wells was so shaken and unnerved by that shocking storm that he sought relief in the ru mglass, he explained to the court. He was in Fort Wayne but a few hours Thursday, when taken on an intoxication charge. He was fined $1 and costs.

Other cases of public intoxication were Walter Sullivan, released; Frank Hall, to be tried Tuesday, and Charles Gray, to be tried Monday.

WANTS MORE HUMAN RIGHTS IN NEW LAW

More human rights, especially for protection of the working classes, should be expressed in the proposed new constitution for Indiana, said Mrs. Henry Wiesner in her address on "Why a New Constitution?" before a gathering of women voters in the assembly room of the court house Thursday night.

"Our present constitution pays too much attention to property and money and gives no ear to rights of men and women as human beings," said Mrs. Wiesner.

Organization of women voters was formed and will be called the Non-Partisan league. Dr. Carrie Banning was elected chairman of a committee of five which is to govern the new organization. Catherine Wagenhals, Mrs. O. N. Guildin, Mrs. Wiesner and Miss Mary O. Kolb were the other members of the committee named.

AUSTRIAN WIFE IS DIPLOMAT'S BURDEN

Washington, March 30.—From authentic private sources it was learned today that personal reasons alone influenced the Russian provisional government in removing M. Bibintoff from the Russian legation at Berne. M. Bibintoff is married to an Austrian woman and it was deemed improper for him to represent Russia.

There was no indication that the incident marks a change of policy in the Russian diplomatic service. The provisional government is said to have communicated with most of the Russian diplomatic representatives abroad its desire for the present at least they shall remain at their posts.

CONCORDIA CADETS IN MILITARY TOURNAMENT

The much heralded Concordia patriotic demonstration will be held Friday evening. Captain G. L. Byroade has been drilling his cadets with unusual rigor for some time in anticipation of the affair and the results acquired would certainly satisfy the most skeptical.

On commenting on the affair he said in part: "This latest achievement of our cadets will exceed everything of a military nature ever offered the public in the last few years. During these days when the cry for preparedness is at fever height, it is a most opportune time to dmeonstrate some of the results acquired by diligent military practice. But aside from the fact that real trained men are secured for the defens of our country; a boy or man subjected to a rigorous military life acquires a certain independence, precision, alertness and carriage of body which immediately distinguishes him from one who has been unfortunate enough not to receive such a training. In our tournament we are aiming not only at dressy formations but also to show the public a few practical things of real warfare. Several especially interesting drills have been assigned each company, while Company C has a most spectacular surprise in store for the crowd. The evening will be replete with thrills and I am sure that the wall-scaling in itself will almost pay for the entrance fee."

Tickets can only be secured at the door as those that were on sale uptown have already been withdrawn. The price is twenty-five cents.

Items for Ten Improvements Require Two Hours in Reading.

Four kinds of paving materials will be used forthe improvement of ten city streets, it was decided by the board of works, Thursday night. Objection to the kind of materials to be used must be filed with the board within ten days. Hearing on any petition asking change of the paving plan will be held a week from Thursday, at 10 o'clock.

Materials chosen for the ten streets are bituminous concrete for Lafayette street, Oakwood drive, Andrew street and Glasgow avenue; vitrified shale block for Fox avenue, Melita street and Wayne street; sheet asphalt for Hougland avenue and re-inforced concrete for Delaware avenue and Oak street.

Three local contracting firms, Brooks Construction company, Moellering Construction company and Grace Construction company, submitted bids on the improving of the streets. The total will amount to about $154,000.

Beulah Garling, aged 8 years, 1820 Antionette street, a pupil in the Smart school, suffers from attack of infantile paralysis, health board was notified Thursday evening. Quarantine card was placed on the home Friday morning.

This is the first case of the infant child plague to appear in Fort Wayne this year. It is an exceptionally early start for the disease. Dr. James McHugh, who was treating the patient and who reported the disease to health officers, says there can be little doubt of the ailment being paralysis. It is not a critical case, however, he gives out.

Health officers do not fear an epidemic of the disease if precautions are taken at once, they say. Plenty of fresh air in the school room and home and care of the physical welfare of children generally will prevent a raging sweep of the plague, it is given out.

There was no demonstration in the room when the reading was done. The jury answered emphatically that it was their verdict, and after Judge Jackman had thanked them for their attention he dismissed them.

Spahr's attorneys and several bystanders shook hands with him. Spahr hurried to the jury box and shook hands with the twelve men as they passed out. He sobbed audibly as he expressed his thanks and the jurymen responded as they thought proper.

The state probably will appeal the cause to get a ruling of the higher court on the instruction of the judge, which said the jury would have to find that the killing was with a shovel, if they found the defendant guilty. The appeal will not in any way affect the verdict of the jury.

Spahr left the court room soon after the verdict was returned and took the news of his release to his wife and three children. He has not made plans for the future.

The verdict followed a second trial of a charge of first degree murder, arising from the tragedy in which Arrel Littler lost his life on the evening of October 9, 1916. Spahr claimed self-defense, and that the killing was done with a brick or stone, while the state contended that he used a shovel. Mrs. Harley Derr, who said she was an eye-witness, was the main witness for the state on the shovel theory.

His wife and son survive him. The son, Hilton H. Redman, was also one of the defendants in the case and served one year in Leavenworth.

Mr. Redman was born in Clarke county, Illinois, in 1861. After graduation from Lees seminary he became a student in the office of Judge G. W. Graham, at Marshall, Ill., and later entered the office of John M. Scofield, former judge of the supreme court of Illinois. He later became a member of the firm of McDonald and Butler, at Indianapolis, and came to this city in 1888, practicing law here up to the time of his election as circuit judge. He was admitted to the bar in local, state and United States courts. His body will be brought here for burial.

Mr. Redman had been ill only a few days. Intestinal grippe was given as the cause of death.

He was received at the prison on April 20, 1915, with Donn M. Roberts, former mayor of Terre Haute, and others of those convicted. Mrs. Roberts, the former mayor's wife, who has been visiting her husband here, telegraphed yesterday to the Redman family that the prisoner was seriously ill.

The two reports were discussed yesterday and parliament at first declared itself in favor of the majority report, with the amendment that the bundesrat, the federal executive committee, should have a free hand to act if future developments render it desirable. The minority group was dissatisfied with this action and forced the question to a vote to-day, with the result that they were decisively defeated. Mr. Hoffman, director of the political department, in supporting the majority report, said that the petitions for a peace move by Switzerland were well meant but that the psychological moment for peace had not arrived.

"However," said Mr. Hoffman, "we are optimistic enough to declare that there is an absolute necessity to reconstruct international law so as to create new guarantees in order that such things as we are experiencing now will be impossible again. The first threads, however, will be spun in some other way, perhaps according to the Bryan scheme of agreements to defer war, which America has concluded."

The afternoon program was given over to the Laymen's association program and the conference lecture hour. The laymen heard addresses by the Rev. Harvey Reeves Calkins, of Chicago, and George Innes, of Philadelphia. The Rev. Mr. Calkins spoke on "A Man and His Money," and Mr. Innes' subject was "What Would You Be Worth if You Lost Your Money?" At 3:30 o'clock, Bishop Nicholson addressed the association on "Christian Stewardship."

The morning program of the Laymen's association was held in the Central Christian church, E. Starbuck, of Goshen, the president, presiding. The devotional was led by A. P. Cline, of Bluffton. After the business session, John D. Coppes led a discussion of vital topics, and Harvey Reeves Calkins, general secretary of the Christian Stewardship league of the M. E. church, gave an address. Reports of committees and election of officers finished the morning program.

DePauw Men Organize.

DePauw university alumni in the North Indiana conference, formed a permanent organization Thursday evening at a banquet at the Central Christian church. Thirty-two former students of the Methodist college were present and helped sing the old college songs and shout the college yells that they had almost forgotten in their work as pastors.

Rev. W. H. Freeland was elected president of the alumni association with the following to assist him: Mrs. J. F. Edwards, vice president; Merrill O. Lester, secretary; R. V. Johnson, yell leader, and J. O. Campbell, sergeant at arms. The officers are to constitute the executive committee.

Speeches were made at the banquet by Dr. C. E. Line, Prof. W. W. Sweet of DePauw, Rev. J. O. Campbell and Rev. Charles H. Smith.

The report of Rev. J. A. Beatty, superintendent of the Muncie district, read Thursday, told of the shifting of several men, some of them going to other conferences. O. B. Trippeer, of Hartford City, spent $800 beautifying the church where he has charge. The Jolletville charge spent $1,000 improving its churches and the parsonage. Dr. C. E. Line, of the First Church at Noblesville, recently raised $3,000 on one Sunday and freed the congregation of debt. The First church at Anderson has built a gymnasium at the cost of $1,000.

During the year the pastors of this charge obtained 1,100 conversions and 1,074 were received into the church. Rev. Beatty was formerly superintendent of the Fort Wayne district.

Broadway church in Logansport, paid a debt of more than $9,000 and the Market street church in Logansport paid a debt of $4,500 by cash subscription.

German troops in northern France are still falling back toward Cambrai under the British pressure. Evidently they have not reached, in this sector at least, a line on which they feel inclined to make a stand against the entente armies.

Today's announcement from Berlin of a German retirement on a four and a half mile front between Ruyalcourt and Sorel was forecast to some extent by the British announcement last night that the village of Neuville Bourjonval, on this line, had been captured. Berlin reports that the Germans gave way on the front indicated after an engagement with stronger British forces.

The French apparently have suspended temporarily their attacks along the southern end of the line. Paris reports a quiet night along virtually the whole front. North of the line of the retreat, near Neuville-St. Vaast, Berlin reports four attacks by a Canadian regiment, all of which were failures. There have been no important events on any of the other fronts.

A BREAST IN WHICH WARLIKE ARDOR BURNS.

Newark, N. J., March 30.—Andrew Miller, a young farmer who is on his way today to join the United States marines at Charleston, S. C., walked 25 miles to enlist because he had no money and was too proud to beg a ride. "I want to fight," he told the recruiting officer. "I was working in a field when a fellow came along and said the Germans had declared war on the United States and were bombarding New York city. I dropped my hoe and didn't even wait to get the money that was coming to me. I don't need a uniform; all I want is a gun."

BRITISH PUBLISHERS ARE ALSO HARD HIT

By the Order Restricting Importation of Publications.

London, March 30—American publishers of books and magazines are not the only ones who stand to lose money by the new order of the government restricting the importation of publications. The British publishers have found that they also are hit pretty hard.

It was a growing custom for English publishers to have their books printed in the United States and the loose sheets transported and bound in England. In that manner they secured the American copyright, which is applicable only to books printed in the States. This is all done away with by the newest restrictions.

The American publishers of magazines and periodicals, for which England has become such fertile field, will of course, feel the worst effects of the order against importations. The only way the reader can now procure his American magazine is by ordering it direct from the publisher in United States.

Except that precipitation occurred in northeastern and northwestern districts, and in the north Pacific states, the weather has been generally fair during the last 24 hours. Moderate temperatures prevail, but the weather is colder than the seasonal average in the Plateau region and in the north Pacific states, and it is warmer than the normal on the eastern slope of the Rockies. Temperatures are lower this morning in northeastern and far northwestern districts, and higher in the districts lying between the Rocky mountains and the Mississippi river.

AIRCRAFT SUPERIORITY IS LESS PRONOUNCED

London, March 30-(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The superiority of the English and French aircraft, which was frequently asserted in official statements from the Entente side last year, is less pronounced this year, according to the British correspondents at the front. This is due to the appearance of several new types of German machines, chiefly modeled, it is said, on French and British designs, and known as the Albatros, Halberstadt, Ago, Roland, and the new Fokker.

The majority of them have fixed cylinder engines, giving about 160 to 200 horse power. A few retain the rotary engines with which the Germans achieved some success in the Fokker two years ago, but these rotary engines are seldom of more than 130 horse power.

The new German machines have a speed of about 120 miles an hour, but their chief feature is their ability for climbing. Ordinarily they frequent the 24,000 foot levels, and they have been observed on picket duty as high as 20,000 feet. The latest German order for airplane engines is said to have specifications designed to give their machines a radius of action up to at least 30,000 feet.

Meanwhile the British Air Service is putting forth strenuous exertions to keep ahead of its rival. Only in part is this a question of planes and engines. It also involves the problems of more skilful pilots, and in this direction of training the British service has expanded extraordinarily.

After a class of military aviators have passed through their course of training on the slower types of school machines, those who show special aptitude are passed on to the "scout school", where they are given a special course in what is commonly called "aerobatics", which involves the use of the highest speed machines and as is necessary in air fighting. The inhandling them acrobatically in the air structors carry on sham fights in the air with their pupils, armed with cameras instead of guns.

Then there are the post-graduate aerial gunnery schools. The most expert pilot in the world is useless as a fighting man if he does not throughly understand his machine gun, for a perfect flyer with a jammed gun is of little use against a merely moderate pilot who is a crack shot and a real gun master. A combination of the two is the desideratum, as, for example, in the case of a young pilot recently mentioned in despatches, whose engine stopped dead at a height of 15,000 feet when he was being attacked by two German aeroplanes. Despite this loss of motive power forcing him to descend constantly, he shot down one machine drove the other away, and glided into his own lines undamaged.

The work of the aviator has become highly specialized in the course of the last twelve months. At the British aviation camps along the front in France, thare are separate squadrons of machines for reconnoissance, infantry contact, photography, artillery-spotting, and bomb dropping and, in almost every instance, squads of these machines may only accomplish their duties successfully when they are protected from enemy attack by machines of a type comparable to the torpedo-boat destroyers of a naval fleet.

Far these "destroyer machines," high speed, high-climbing ability, and high fighting and manoeuvring power are essential. Some of the newer British machines of this type are said to show a speed of over 150 miles an hour.

NEW RECRUITER COMES FOR NAVY

Roy Wort, chief quartermaster in the United States navy and who calls Fort Wayne his old home town, will come to the city Saturday to take charge of the naval recruiting station in the federal building. He will take the place of Officer Dalton, who goes to Terre Haute for permanent work.

Wort is the fourth officer to be placed in charge of the local station within two weeks. He has been on duty at the Indianapolis station for several months. He has several relatives living in Fort Wayne and his father resides near the city.

The enormous cost of the present war is largely accounted for by the vast quantities of ammunition that are daily being used. According to figures compiled by United States ordnance officers, the material used in constructing torpedoes and the expert workmanship that is required to perfect them brings the cost of firing one torpedo to about $7,000. (A torpedo must be accurate in all parts to 1-5,000 of an inch or it will not work properly.) Shells and shrapnel cost about $20 apiece and machine guns eat upu ammunition at the rate of about $13 worth a minute. Rifle bullets cost 5 cents apiece and pistol cartridges about 2 cents.

The plant which is referred to in the fourth chapter of the book of Jonah as the "gourd," which afforded shade to the prophet before Nineveh, was the castor oil plant. This plant, a native of Asia, is now naturalized in America, Africa and in the south of Europe.

Madrid, March 30—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—There are some curious features of the increase in trade between Spain and America which has resulted from the submarine war and the cutting of Germany's trade with Spain. While American automobiles are having a great boom in Spain, they have one curious drawback in not being able to bring along the American tires, as these are rubber and contraband of war, subject to all kinds of restrictions and regulation.

The American auto-trucks are causing a revolution in Madrid along three distinct lines: first, doing away with the huge antique carts which labor along the streets; second, supplanting the long tandem teams of oxen and donkeys, covered with jingling bells; and finally, changing Madrid from one of the worst paved capitals of Europe to one of the best. The Spaniards look with awe at the disappearance of their ancient methods before the march of improvement.

A complication has arisen over the shipment of American meat to Spain. The Spanish ships were glad to get this class of freight, but the ships were not provided with the necessary refrigerating plant. As this essential for shipping meat long distances, many Spanish ships are being overhauled to put in the modern cold-storage equipment so as to handle this new class of American product. Once equipped this way, fresh Spanish fruit will be going to America, and fresh American meat coming to Spain.

American flat-irons and other electrical novelties are now being used for the first time, and the Spaniards say these articles are so much better finished than the German goods that used to come here that they will hold the market permanently even if German trade gets a footing again after the war. Even American drugstores with American medicines have made their appearance along the streets of Madrid.

Big Demand For Antiques.

Besides stepping into the place of France and Italy in supplying America with antiques, curios, etc., the war is also having the effect of giving Spain a good deal of the American trade in perfumes, toilet articles and soaps, which used to go from France in large quantities. Some of these articles, such as castile soap, have their origin here in Castile.

It is in the American demand for their art treasures that the Spanish are taking their chief interest. Buyers for the big American department stores are now coming here for the first time instead of to Florence, Milan, Paris and other art centers from which it would be risky to ship art treasures now.

America would have received a number of the painting of the great Spanish master Goya if it had not been for a recent complication at the New York custom house. The pictures actually went to New York, were held on the pier for some time because of irregularities in making out papers, and were finally sent back here unopened. The owner had meantime made two trips to New York, but at last gave up the shipment as hopeless. One of the pictures was Goya's study of Madame Haro, another his Virgin painted on a panel of wood, and a third a peasant dance, on wood.

KING'S DAUGHTERS OF INDIANA ELECT

Terre Haute, Ind., March 30.—The concluding session of the state convention of the Indiana branch of the King's Daughters, held today, was featured by the announcement of the electoral ballot taken last night. It showed the re-election of all the present state officers except Mrs. James Turner, of Fort Wayne, secretary, whose place is taken by Mrs. Carl Steeg, of Indianapolis. The other officers are: President, Mrs. O. T. Wingfield, Indianapolis; vice president, Miss Blanche Maine, Indianapolis; treasurer, Mrs. L. E. Hitz, Madison; executive board, Mrs. John Conn, Evansville; Mrs. J. M. Merker, New Albany; Mrs. Louis Orth, Terre Haute; Mrs. E. J. Scott, Madison, and Miss Rose Farrington, Terre Haute.

Devotional services, the report of the auditing committee and accounts of the general convention held last June at Burlington, Vt., marked the concluding session. The next general convention will be held at Philadelphia.

Maybe the pigs will complain, and maybe they will be glad, when they learn that another patent has been granted for a process of manufacturing artificial lard, or a substitute for lard. This consists in subjecting cottonseed oil to a process known as hydrogenization, during which hydrogen gas combines with the oil to a greater or less degree. The result is a fatty substance which contains about 22 per cent. of a certain kind of oil or fat known as "stearin." Then there is mixed with this "hydrogenized" cottonseed oil enough oily lard to give the resulting mixture as nearly as possible the same flavor and thickness as natural lard. This lard substitute is designed to be used for all the purposes for which real, genuine lard is now used.

FINDS FOR TRACTION COMPANY.

In the case of Justus, versus the Fort Wayne & Wabash Valley Traction company, the supreme court of Indiana, Thursday, found for the defendant. The case has long been the subject of litigation and one which envolved a question of wide interest. The suit grew out of the Kingsland wreck, when L. C. Justus, of Bluffton, was killed. His wife sued for damages. The defendants' contention was that the plaintiff had no right to ask for a judgment, since the man who was killed was riding with a pass.

The Bluffton Interurban Gardens is the name of a new suburban addition to be placed upon the market this spring by the real estate firm of W. E. Doud. The addition is located southwest of the city, five miles from the court house, and is one of the most beautiful tracts of land in that part of the county. It is being placed upon the market especially for employes of the General Electric company, who can reach their work from this addition by an eight minute ride.

The tract contains nineteen acre lots, all facing on a street with large Elm trees. Stop 10 on the Bluffton interurban line is just six hundred feet from the entrance, so that three or four minutes from any point will take one to the little station, which has already been erected by the traction company for the benefit of its patrons along this line. The addition is so located that drainage has been afforded within fifty to one hundred feet of each lot. This, withthe electricity from the interurban line, makes possible all-modern homes.

The stockholders of the company are W. E. Doud, Edward E. Doehrman, J. D. Banning, Paul C. Guild, Ethel Doud and Loretta E. Hayes. The addition has already been platted and recorded and several deals for building are being started. Fort Wayne real estate men, as well as other business men who have been attempting to solve the housing problem and the reducing of the high cost of living are agreed that the suburban tract, where vegetables and other produce for the table may be raised with little effort, gives the solution. The fare from the addition to the interurban station is six and one-half cents, which is but one and one-half cents more than is required for men to ride to work from one part of the city to another. The land on the addition as shown upon the county survey is the richest in Allen county.

The addition was purchased from W. J. Vesey and is a portion of the land which has been used for raising plants for the Vesey green houses. This nineteen acres have been used to raise the most delicate of the plants and are extremely fine soil.

Kensington Park boulevard will be one of Fort Wayne's most beautiful additions if the plans of the company which was organized Thursday afternoon materialize. The Kensington Park company with a capital of $175,000 was organized at the Commercial club with W. E. Doud as president.

The purpose of the organization of this company is to promote the sale of the highest class subdivision in the state of Indiana lying east of Anthony boulevard between Lake avenue and State street. The tract was purchased from James Peddicord, the promoted of the northeast development of which the company is a part.

The other officers of the organization and its directors are as follows: P. J. Archer, vice president; Paul G. Guild, secretary, and C. F. Pfeiffer, treasurer. The directors are W. E. Doud, L. F. Curdes, C. A. Wilding, L. A. Moore, W. J. Vesey, P. G. Wolfrum, F. W. Smitley, C. F. Pfeiffer, W. H. Scheiman and H. H. Roose.

It is estimated that after all the improvements have been completed that this part of the city will represent about three-quarters of a million of dollars. The large boulevard will be laid out and platted similar to Driving Park.

L. F. Curdes, L. H. Moore, L. L. Bart, J. S. Peddicord, John G. Wolfrum, W. H. Scheiman, Paul C. Guild, C. S. Kitch, W. P. Walsh, J. D. Banning, Frank W. Smitley, H. W. Sigrist and Charles A. Rastetter.

Real estate men consider the forming of this company as a turning point in Fort Wayne property. They say it marks the change from the south part of tow nto the north. Due to the fact that development has gone south so much faster than north, the widest field for this kind of work lies to the north of the main business district.

WAR WOMEN OF AMERICA

Thrilling Tales of How Women Have Served Our Country in Time of Need—Mother Bickerdyke, The Angel of Civil War Wounded.

(American history is full of the stories of heroic women, some of whom deserve places among the greatest national idols. With the United States on the brink of another war, the Sentinel is calling to mind the deeds of some of our national heroines, in a series of articles of which this is the third).

BY WINONA WILCOX.

Wherever a line of battle passes, there follows a second army which struggles futilely to repair the work of the first. Until modern times, this army of mercy was made up of women volunteers, women whose homes happened to be near the battlefield.

Today this second army is a highly organized band of skilled men and women known as the Red Cross. It was a woman, Clara Barton, who raised the banner of the Red Cross in the United States. Miss Barton was probably the greatest woman of the nineteenth century, but she died unrewarded by her generation. Perhaps it is best that way for certainly she would be very proud to stand in the ranks with hundreds of other national war nurses.

The revolution had its quota of devoted heroines, but it was during the civil war, and still before the era of the Red Cross, that American women did their most remarkable work in tent hospitals and fever camps.

"MOTHER" BICKERDYKE

The most picturesque figure of them all was Mother Bickerdyke, who was present at 19 battles of the civil war. She was an eye witness of the battle of Fort Donelson in 1862, the second year of her service as a war nurse. The accommodations for the wounded were pitifully insufficient. The December night was so cold that the clothes of the bleeding men froze to their bodies.

"The night grew darker and darker over the deserted field where the dead still awaited burial," runs a biography of Mother Bickerdyke. "At midnight an officer noticed a light moving among the dead and dispatched a messenger to see what it meant.

"It proved to be a lantern carried by Mrs. Bickerdyke, who was examining the bodies to make sure that no living man was left to suffer alone in such weird surroundings. She did not seem to realize that she was doing anything remarkable, but continued her search after the messenger had gone."

In order to provide nourishing food for her sick boys, Mrs. Bickerdyke at a later date organized her famous "Cow and Hen Missions." She succeeded in collecting 100 cows and 1,000 hens near the Corinth hospital. One of the humorous incidents of her career was a "surprise review" arranged by some of her convalescents. The procession consisted of all of her cows, smoothly curried, with horns polished and hoofs blackened.

When the federal troops returned north at the end of the war, Mother Bickerdyke had a place of honor in the grand review. Few women have shared such a triumph. Upon this extraordinary occasion she wore, as always, a plain calico gown and Shaker sunbonnet. Once when she visited Chicago to collect funds, the women of that city replenished her wardrobe with garments of fine quality, but she traded them off to southern women for eggs, butter and other delicacies required in the hospital. The dress and bonnet which she wore at the final review sold for $100—which sum she immediately converted to the use of needy soldiers.

The measure of her service to her country cannot be made in words. Perhaps the most impressive of all the tales concerning this woman will reveal the spirit in which she worked.

After the battle of Shiloh she was discovered by an army surgeon dispensing soup and whisky to the wounded. She was a shabby figure wearing the overcoat of a confederate soldier, and for once she was without her sunbonnet. Moreover she was not attached to the government's sanitary commission. "Under whose authority are you working?" asked the officer gruffly. Mrs. Bickerdyke proceeded to give aid and comfort to a fainting man as if she had not heard.

The surgeon watched her skillful methods for a while, then said politely, "Madam, you seem to combine in yourself both a diet-kitchen and a medical staff. May I inquire under whose authority you are working?"

Mother Bickerdyke's busy hands never stopped for a moment, but she answered quietly, "I have received my authority from the Lord God Almighty. Have you anything that ranks higher than that?"

CLOVER SEED PRICES BEGIN THEIR ADVANCE

Dealers in cloverseed today advanced some of their quotations, while others remained steady. The better grades were raised 25 cents and are selling at $11.50 per bushel. Paying prices were also advanced somewhat.

Practically all other local prices remained the same, with wheat seeming to hold steady in its new position at $1.94 and $1.96 a bushel.

Business on the wholesale street market was just about normal and there was nothing unusual about the trading. Thirty-three loads were weighed at the city scales, of which twenty-seven were hay, three corn and the other three oats. The hay continued to sell at $10.00 to $12.00 per ton. Corn became a little firmer and while the top price was reduced 1 cent to $1.20, the bottom went up to $1.19. The grade of corn was almost uniform throughout the market. Oats were 1 cent lower than on Thursday and the trio of loads went at 64 cents per bushel.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, March 30.—Predictions of unsettled weather in Nebraska led to hopes today of a breaking of the drought there and caused wheat prices to ease off. The market was decidedly nervous. Opening prices, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 1½c lower, with May at $1.96⅞@1.98 and July at $1.65¾@1.66¾, were followed by a material setback all around and then a moderate upturn.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, March 30.—War shares were the strong features at the outset of today's trading, overnight developments evidently being helpful to those issues. Gains of 1 to 3 points were made by United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel new stock, Republic Iron, Sloss-Sheffield Steel and Crucible Steel, with 4½ for Virginia Iron. Leathers and oils rose 1 to 2 points with Baldwin Locomotive and Marine preferred. Wilson Packing continued its upward course with Ohio Gas and Montana Power, and malting issues were again in process of absorption. Rails and metals moved within fractional limits.

Some of the munitions and equipments, as well as unclassified specialties, increased their opening gains before profittaking caused a moderate setback. Rails then became the dominant issues at advances of 1 to 2 points in the leading shares, their strength being concurrent with a ruling of the interstate commerce commission granting higher rates on various commodities to roads traversing southern and southwestern territories. The movement in that quarter failed to hold, however. Bonds were irregular.

Washington, March 30—Beginning early in April the San Francisco office of the Forest Service will issue weekly reports on the condition of the principal automobile roads in the National Forest of California. This information will be obtained from the Forest rangers and will be furnished to newspapers, press associations, automobile clubs, hotels, and other interested organizations, by which it will be made available to motorists.

The twenty National Forests in California comprise more than 19,500,000 acres of land and contain approximately 8,600 miles of road. There are in addition 9,500 miles of trail which make accessible the more remote regions. Many of these roads penetrate large stretches of wild mountain country where thousands of people go each summer to escape the heat of the lower valleys.

The present roads are to be supplemented by others, made possible by the Federal Aid Road Act, one section of which provides a million dollars a year for ten years for the construction of roads in or near the National Forests in all the States. Of this fund a total of $281,751 has been apportioned to California for the fiscal years 1917-1918. To provide an adequate road system for the California National Forests the District Forester at San Franisco has tentatively estimated that the construction or repair of 837 miles of road would be required. Of this amount 663 miles would be in the National Forests and the remainder in the nearby localities. The roads are intended primarily for the purpose of developing the resources of the National Forests but would also open up new areas to tourist travel.

In addition to telling you the time of day, your watch may be used for keeping track of the sun. When the orb of day finishes its day's journey and disappears in the west, note the time by your watch. Then draw a horizontal line (imaginary, of course) from the point of the hour-hand to the opposite side of the dial. The time indicated by the line on this side will be the time at which the sun rises in the morning. Thus if the sun sets at 8 at night, the line shows that it will rise at 4 in the morning; if it sets at 7 it will rise at 5; if at 5 it will rise at 7; and so on.

News of Our Neighbors

But Geneva Man Is Still Shy Wife and Money.

Montpelier, Ind., March 30.—Thurman Huey, the Geneva stock buyer, who was here Monday night looking for his wife, his Ford car, and the fellow who stole the two and forged an $80 check on him, came back to the city and found the Ford stored at the Slusher garage. When Mr. Huey saw the car with his Indiana numbers on it, he told Mr. Slusher that it belonged to him, but Clusher told him he would have to identify it. On being informed of this, Huey pulled a paper from his pocket with the engine number on it, and when Mr. Slusher compared it with the number on the engine they were the same.

100 LOTS FOR GARDEN.

Huntington, Ind., March 30.—One hundred lots are ready for allotment to the citizens of Huntington who wish to cultivate them. This announcement was made Thursday afternoon by Carl P. Steele, chairman of the committee in charge of the work. Mr. Steele also announced a meeting of the committee for 7 o'clock Friday evening in the Commercial association rooms, at which final arrangements will be made for making allotments of garden space, and he suggested that citizens who wish to plant and farm lots should make application immediately to him or to C. B. Williams. The requests for lots will be taken up in the order of their receipt—first come, first served. It is hoped to have all garden space allotted by next week.

SEEKING A PAROLE.

Plymouth, Ind., March 30.—William B. Hess returned from Indianapolis Wednesday night, where he went and appeared before the board of pardons for the release on parole of Fred Rettinger, a "lifer" at the Michigan City prison, where he was sent ten years ago for the murder of William Bates, whom he shot to death on the streets of Bourbon. It was understood at that time that the jury, of which the late Peter Helm was foreman and John McFarlin was one of the jurymen, believed there was strong provocation, owing to a feud between the two families, for Rettinger's act, but the jury felt that the taking of a life was a they brought in a verdict for a life they brought in averdict for a life sentence on the ground that human life must be held sacred; that no man had a right to take.

HOLDERBAUM PLEADS GUILTY.

Bluffton, Ind., March 30.—Clem Holderbaum, confessed chicken thief, faces the possibility of serving two sentences in the penitentiary. He has been sentenced from one to fourteen years by Judge Charles on this charge and Tuesday he pleaded guilty to a similar charge in the Huntington court. Sentence was not passed upon him there. Sheriff Wright of Grant county, took Holderbaum to the Huntington court and took him back late Tuesday night. It is not known whether the Huntington court will sentence the former Bluffton man at the present time or wait until he has finished the term given him by the local court.

ROBBERY AT AUBURN.

Auburn, Ind., March 30.—A thief entered the back door of the People's Clothing and Shoe store on East Seventh street Wednesday night and fitted himself out with a complete outfit of clothing. Entrance was made at the rear of the store by means of a crowbar, or some other heavy instrument, as the marks on the door jam and casing show where something had been used to pry open the door. The lock was broken and when Louis Margids, one of the proprietors, came to the store at 7 o'clock Thursday morning to open up, he found the back doors wide open and the stock all "mussed up."

WILL WEAR PLAIN DRESSES.

Bluffton, Ind., March 30.—Girls of the 1917 eighth grade graduating class are to be plain in their manner of dress on commencement night, according to present plans. The middy blouse with a plain white skirt is to be the garb of all the girls and in many instances the apparel will be made by the mothers.

The school authorities are commending the girls upon their action. It is said that the sameness of dress of any graduating group makes a prettier scene and for girls of the eighth grade class the middy style is a good one.

STRAY DOGS MUST GO.

Huntington, Ind., March 30.—The police are about to declare war on the wandering canines that tear up home gardens and flower beds. They have received many complaints from persons who are trying to combat the high cost of living by raising stuff, to the effect that marauding dogs destroy more garden in a single night than can be grown in a summer. These people want some protection, especially as the Commercial association is bending every effort to have all vacant lots tilled.

Auburn, Ind., March 30.—The largest judgment in a personal injury case ever returned by a jury in the Dekalb county circuit court was rendered Wednesday night about 9 o'clock in the case of Albert M. Croy against the New York, Chicago & St. Louis Railroad company. The sum of $12,500 was awarded Croy for personal injuries sustained by him in 1914 while in the employ of the company as a freight conductor. The case was venued to this court from Allen circuit court.

Since the deathh of his wife six years ago he had made his home with his daughter.

INJURED BY A HORSE.

Leesburg, Ind., March 30.—Tom Phillips, a former resident of Leesburg, but now residing at Rigdon, Ind., received a broken collar bone when he was squeezed against the side of a stall by a horse which he was caring for. The injury is causing him much pain.

LARWILL NEWS.

Mr. J. R. Reader, of Warsaw, who died Wednesday noon, was buried here Friday, at the Lakeview cemetery. The funeral was held at Kosciusko, at ten o'clock, after which he was brought here. Mr. Reader was well known in this vicinity, especially in Troy township. He was postmaster at Kosciusko, formerly known as Wooster, and he also taught school in this near vicinity. He leaves two halfsisters, Mrs. Lyman Whiteleather, of Salem, O., and Mrs. Amor Watson, of Roston, Mass., and a sister, Mrs. Sam Heddington, of Larwill. GERMAN AMERICANS WOULD FOLLOW FLAG

We Owe Them Sympathy Rather Than Distrust, Says Fred Landis.

"I am glad I was in Fort Wayne on the night when you welcomed your soldier boys home. The spirit shown by your citizens overcame all talk I had heard to the effect that Fort Wayne, with its large population of German born men and women, might not respond to the government call in an hour of need. That demonstration of loyalty was splendid. It was magnificent," said Ex-Congressman Frederick Landis, in his address on "Good Fellows Club," before the Electro-Technic club, of the General Electric works, at the Moose hall, Thursday night.

"We should have deep sympathy for our German born citizens and not suspicion," Landis went on. "My ancestors, several generations back, came from Germany. I have enough red blood in my veins to realize the view point of men and women whose ties to the Fatherland are not so far removed."

"Our German-American citizens who came direct from the Fatherland, or whose fathers did, are as true Americans today, and in many cases more loyal than the families whose ancestors stepped foot on Plymouth Rock.

"In case of war with Germany, these people would be forced to trample the fairest flowers of sentiment, if they followed our flag. They would have to take up arms against the land where their fathers are buried. They would have to battle against their cradle, against their roof tree. But they would do it, if need be.

"They would prove as patriotic as they did in 1861, when they kept Missouri in the union and gave up their lives on southern battlefields in order that every stra should remain in the blue field of Old Glory.

LINCOLN LIFE SEMI-PRO CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Will Have Semi-Pro Outfit in Fort Wayne This Season

Playing under the name, Lincoln Life, a team of the fastest semi-pros obtainable will be launched this spring. A lease was closed this morning for League park on all Sundays and holidays on which the Central league club is out of town, and the insurance men's club will play here on those dates. When Vaudy's club is home the semi-pros will be on the road.

The club was organized last night with Mart Cleary as manager and Bert Dennis as secretary-treasurer. Backing for the club is being furnished by the Lincoln Life Insurance company and from that source comes the name. Uniforms have been ordered and will be of pearl gray, with black caps and black stockings with grap stripes. On the sleeves of the shirts there will be a monogram, L. L., in a diamond. With the strong backing and management of the club there is no doubt that it will be the niftiest and fastest semi-pro organization in this part of the country.

Lines have already been stretched out for players and nothing but high class signers will be accepted. The booking of games has also started and it is expected that inside of a week the schedule will be well under way. This will be completed as soon as possible and the season will probably start about the same time as the Central opening. Nothing but high class clubs will be booked and the semi-pro games will be real all the way.

EXHIBITION GAMES.

Little Rock, Ark., March 30.—The Brooklyn Nationals won from the Boston Americans 1 to 0 here yesterday in a game that was filled with sensational fielding. Ruth had the Brooklyns well in hand and Fabrique saved the game for Brooklyn when he made a spectacular catch of Manager Barry's fly with the bases full and only one out, the catch resulting in a double play. Pennock succeeded Ruth in the sixth and with two out in that inning Johnston, of Brooklyn, singled and Fabrique scored him with a slashing double down the third base line.

TRAIN AT CHILLICOTHE.

Grand Rapids, Mich., March 30.—Owner "Vinegar Bill" Essick has completed arrangements for his players to do their spring training at Chillicothe, O. He has been granted the free use of the old Ohio State league park there and a low hotel rate has been secured.

Essick has ordered his battery candidates to report for practice April 8 and two days later the infielders and outfielders will arrive on the scene. There will be about twenty-five players in the squad.

The training season will continue for three weeks, the squad being divided into two teams by the end of the first week. Daily games will be played, with a number of exhibition contests being booked. Essick has not as yet completed his roster, but will have a majority of last season's veterans and an equal number of very promising recruits.

A FINE IDEA.

Richmond, Ind., March 30.—A woman will pitch the first ball when the Richmond club of the Central league opens its season here this year. The club management has left the selection of the woman to the Richmond Franchise league.

Local fans are planning a gala day for the opening of the season here, as it will mark Richmond's advent into the Central league. An attempt is being made to have all factories and places of business close on the opening day and all fans join in a monster parade through the downtown streets to the baseball park.

BY PAUL PURMAN.

(The Sentinel special sport writer touring the major league training camps to size up the teams as they prepare for the 1917 campaign.)

Hot Springs, Ark., March 30.—I watched some of the Robins' pitchers the other day in an exhibition game with the Red Sox. They won their game and I was treated to two surprises.

As I watched Coombs I wondered if it would be possible for the old iron man to weather another season successfully.

I wondered whether those four innings of superb ball early in the spring would preface many nine inning games when the weather became warmer or whether when the pinch came Coombs would have to be asked to be taken from the box as he did in the world series last fall.

Coombs' baseball obituary has been written time and time again. He was consigned to the has-been class when he injured himself with the Athletics a few years ago, but he came back and pitched some masterful games.

Will he be able to stage another great year? It would be a wonderful achievement indeed.

Cadore should make good. He has a good arm and a good assortment of pitching goods. He is cool and level-headed. His motion is easy and his delivery masterful.

It was good to see the veteran and the youngster both pitching cool, consistent baseball against the club that so outclassed Brooklyn last fall.

Saturday, May 5, is the date set by Industrial league managers for the opening of the circuit at their meeting held in The Sentinel office last evening. The schedule will be arranged so that each club plays four times around and the close is scheduled for September 15. The schedule will be arranged and submitted to the managers at the next meeting to be held next Thursday evening.

At this meeting the forfeit money will be called for. The same amount required last year, $25, will hold for the coming season. Final dance preparations will be made at this meeting also. The dance will be held at the Moose hall, April 11, and the managers expect to sell a big bunch of tickets. The proceeds will be used to finance the league and will do away with the old program, the hoodoo of former shop leaguers.

A little trouble was encountered over the parks to be used. Lawton, Weisser park and Foster park are turned over to the leaguers by the park board during the summer. Last year the Turners and the Pennsy used Lawton, Bowsers and the Western Gas paired off at Weisser park, and the Electric works and Dudlos had Foster park. Because most of the Pennsy players live near Weisser park the Railroaders tried to make an exchange with the Western Gas club. This was found impossible, however, and the teams consented to stay as they were last season.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 30.—Carl Wallace of this city, a senior at the University of Minnesota, yesterday was elected captain of the 1917 university track team to succeed James Ballentine, who recently resigned because of scholastic ineligibility. Wallace competes in the mile and two mile events.

JUNIORS WIN FINAL CONTEST OF SERIES

By a decisive score the St. Paul Juniors last night defeated St. Mary's Cardinals in the final of a three game series. The count at the end of hostilities was 34 to 10. This gave the Juniors the silver loving cup offered to the winners of the series by the Fort Wayne Hardware and Sporting Goods company.

Play was hard and guarding close in the first half and the count at the end of this period was 6 to 6. In the second half, however, the Juniors started to find the cage and from then on it was all their way.

CHICK EVANS TO RETIRE.

San Francisco, Cal., March 30.—Charles J. (Chick) Evans, jr., national amateur and open golf champion of America, has announced his purpose of retiring from golf tournaments after this year. He made the announcement as he was leaving for Chicago. He said that he had won all the honors within his reach and would try to round out his career before retiring by winning this year the triple event of America—the national and western amateur and the open championships. He is retiring, he said, to give more attention to his business.

MACK SELECTS SOX.

Dublin, Ga., March 30.—Manager Connie Mack of the Athletics believes the Chicago White Sox will be the toughest team in the American league this year.

"The White Sox have the pitchers," he said. "There are eight of them who are surely big league caliber. I have an idea that Faber will have a good year. I look to see the team campaign well."

Everything is ready for the meeting of Johnny Coulon and Frankie Mason tonight at the Majestic in a bout which means much to both fighters. No scrap has ever been staged here which was more in earnest than this one will be, for both bantams have a great deal at stake. To Coulon defeat means a serious setback in his fight to regain his lost title and to Mason it means many more months of fighting men out of his class before getting another show. It will be the first time Frankie has stepped into a real chance to set himself farther along toward the upperorust, and if he don't deserve it no glove artist ever did.

A pair of bantams who are evenly matched as to weight and both as fast as they make them can put on a regular battle when they want to, and everything points to their wanting to. Fight fans realize this and, looking for a mighty unusual treat in tonight's engagement, have bought tickets right and left. However, it takes a mighty large crowd to fill the Majestic and there are still some good seats left.

In the opening go Battling Hess of this city meets Art Wellsbacher of Toledo, a hard-boiled customer who can stand punishment and swing a kick guaranteed to relieve his opponent of all consciousness for some time. The local boy's class is pretty well known and in recent engagements he has shown plenty of kayo ability himself. Following this fight Holshauer, the come-back, meets Young Brown of Toledo. Brown comes highly recommended and is slated to meet another pug in the semi-windup of the Dillon-McCarron fight next month. The local German is another scrapper who needs no introduction or touting. Altogether the bill is a headliner from the start.

Coulon's party, which arrived this morning, was to consist of the bantams, Charlie White, K. O. Brown and Nate Lewis. All fighters weighed in at the Berry Buffet at 8 o'clock.

It is said by scientists that Mesopotamia may, by the application of modern agriculture, be made into another Garden of Eden.

SHARP INCREASE IN PRICE OF MANY DRUGS

New York, March 30.—There has been a big jump in the price of drugs, and, as regards opiates, which are practical a necessity in the practice of medicine, a shortage exists which seems critical.

Morphine and codeine, which are derived from opium, can be purchased only in small quantities, and the prices asked are almost fabulous. Quotations on these drugs have increased at the rate of almost $1 an ounce a day wholesale, and to the consumer, of coursell the price is much higher. The quotations in this city, good only for the day, are $20. Two weeks ago the drugs were selling at $14.

Failure of Crop.

The reasons given for the phenomenal rise are the failure of the opium crop in India, and the great demand for these drugs becaus of the war. No new opium is coming into the country, and there will soon be a shortage that will make the drug as precious as any jewel.

Quicksilver, which in nomal times is quoted from $35 to $40, is now $150 a seventy-five-pound flask. Permanganate of potassium, a disinfectant, is now $4.50 a pound; before the war it was 12 cents a pound. As this comes principally from Germany, the high price is easily explained.

Quinine is 200 per cent. higher and continues to go up. Camphor is 50 per cent. higher than two years ago.

Haarlem oil, which comes from Holland, is pracically out of the market. Before the war it was 2cents a bottle wholesale, but it has been cut off from import altogether.

Cyanide of potassium, used in the manufacture of steel, has risen from 46 cents to $2.75, and cod liver oil is $135 a barrel wholesale. Before the war it sold at $35 a thirty-gallon barrel.

Arenic has gone up 400 per cent. in the last few weeks. Tincture of arnica, in common use for burns and bruises, has also joined the upward movement. Before the war it was 25 cents a pound. It is now $2.75 a pound.

It is not the cold itself but the serious disease it so often leads to that makes a common cold by far the most dangerous of any of the minor ailments. The cold prepares your system for the reception and development of the germs of pneumonia, consumption, diphtheria and other germ diseases. The quicker you cure the cold the less danger. To accomplish this you will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy most effectual. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

DATES ANNOUNCED.

For Establishing of Civilian Training Camps.

Washington, March 29.—Dates for the establishment of civilian training camps in the central military department were announced at the war department as follows:

REPORT IS CONFIRMED.

Washington, March 29.—Officials of the state department today confirmed reports that the American relief workers withdrawn from Belgium and northern France will be taken to Germany and submitted to a short "news quarantine." This procedure was agreed upon a long time ago when it seemed probable that the American would have to leave. Officials here, therefore, regard it as entirely correct.

By Arthur G. Empey.

I'm away down in the dumps, clicked for a rotten job the other day. You know, when I was in United States cavalry, I was considered a pretty fair shot: well I like shooting alright enough, but right now I'd willingly throw my rifle out into No Man's Land and leave it there to rus".

Jim, I was one of twelve selected to execute a Tommy! When it comes to shooting the enemy I'm right there, but when you have to send one of your own mates, a Tommy Atkins, arcoss the Great Divide, it's time for me to pack up and beat it for good old New York.

Last Thursday was a cold and miserable day, drizzly and misty, so when it came time to turn in, I soon hit the straw in our billet.

About three in the morning I was awakened by some one shaking me. Opening my eyes, I saw our C. S. M. (company sergeant major) stooping over me with a lantern in his hand. He put his finger to my lips for silence and whispered:

"Get on your equipment and without any noise, come with me."

We splashed along a muddy road, finally stopping at an old barn. The C. S. M. whispered,

I stumbled into the barn and sat on and floor in the darkness. I could hear men breathing and moving, they seemed nervous and restless. Iknow I was, Jim.

We fell in, standing at ease. Then he commanded,

We must have marched over an hour, ploughing through the mud and occasionally stumbling into a shell hole in the road, when suddenly we found ourselves in a sort of enclosed courtyard.

The officer brought us to attention and gave the order to unpile arms. We each took a rifle. Giving us "Stand at ease," in a nervous and shaky voice, he informed.

"Men, you have been selected as a firing squad for the execution of a soldier, who, having been found guilty of a grievous crime against king and country, has been duly sentenced to death by army court-martial. It is our duty to carry out the sentence of the court.

My heart was of lead and my knees shook.

After standing at "attention" for what seemed a week, though in reality it could not have been over ten minutes, we heard a low whispering in our rear and footsteps on the stone flagging of the court-yard.

We turned about. In the grey light of dawn, a few yards in front of me, I could make out a brick wall. Against this wall, was a dark form with a white square pinned on its breast.

We were supposed to aim at this square. To the right of the form I noticed a grey spot on the wall. This would be my target.

"Ready! Aim! Fire!"

The dark form sank into a heap. My bullet hit that greyish spot on the wall. I could see the splinters fly. Someone else had received the rifle containing the blank cartridge, but still my mind was at ease. There was no blood of a Tommy on my hands.

It was daylight. After marching about five minutes we were dismissed with these instructions:

"Return to your companies and remember no talking about this affair, or it will go hard with the guilty ones."

While I am writing this, I am wondering who the victim was and what was his crime. In a few weeks an army order will be read to us on parade, giving his name, number, regiment, nature of crime and date of execution.

In the published casualty lists, his name will appear among the "accidentally killed." His family will never know the truth. Thank God for that.

"EMP"

HAVE A RESERVE OF FIRE AND GINGER IN YOUR SYSTEM

The exultation and the joy of living radiates a magnetism that is irresistible in such a person—man or woman. Good health, strong, well-nourished nerves, a cheerful mind, and hope eternal are ever present in the man of snap and fire So.me enjoy these blessings throughout life. Others for a brief period only—a few years at most—and then comes bleak, lonesome lives, and physical and mental decline.

There are many tributary causes, but always a "starved nervous system" is present, and manifested by symptoms, which even the public often suspect, and of few of which are, extreme nervouseness, insomnia, cold extremities, sluggist circulation, doppondency, aching in back, headache, kidney disorders, dreadful dreams, timidity, fear without cause, and a general inability to concentrate the mind, and act naturally and rationally as others do under all circumstances.

A weakened nervous system will be indicated by some of the foregoing symptoms; and the treatment is simple, though most effective and lasting in its benefits. Go to your druggist, get a sealed tube of three-grain Cadomene Tablets, and begin their use at once. After you have taken them regularly a short time you will recognise the improvement in your feelings and sensations. Your appetite will improve, the food will taste better and you will begin to notice how springy is your step and how much brighter the world in general appears, and soon the "pep" and the "snap" of energy of a strong nervous system will be yours. Then you'll be glad you know about the marvelous medicine, Cadomene Tablets.

"After an examination of the formula of your Cadomene Tablets, I feel that nowhere could I obtain a tonic superior to this. Consequently I prescribe them whenever indicated, and with a degree of satisfaction to my patients that amazes me. The uniformity of the benefits to all cases of "nerves" has indeed given me cause to speak a generous word for this unequalled product."

Kidney & Co.

The kidneys and the skin work in harmony. They're companions, the skin being the second partner. If we are anxious to keep well and preserve the vitality of the kidneys and, also, free the blood from noxious elements, we must pay special attention to a good action of the skin and to see that the kidneys are flushed so as to eliminate the poisons from the blood.

Sweating, by hard work or in a bath, at least once a week, helps to keep the skin and kidneys in good condition. Flush the kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water with meals and between meals. Occasionally obtain at the nearest drug store Anuric, which will help flush the kidneys and the intestines. You will find that Anuric is many times more active than lithia and that it dissolves uric acid almost as hot water does sugar.

New Albany, Ind.—"For five years I suffered with neuralgia of the head and I took everything anyone told me about but nothing seemed to do much good, only to relieve me at the time. One day I was suffering terribly and a friend asked me if I ever tried Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery so I tried it, and am glad to say after taking three bottles of it and also the 'Pleasant Pellets' (which I am never without), I am never troubled with neuralgia at all. I gladly recommend it."—Mrs. J. H. Aterburn, 46 E. 4th St.

I. W. W. Sympathizers Are Again Active at Duluth, Minn.

Duluth, Minn., March 29.—Anti-recruiting literature and "stickers" made their appearance in the saloons and other resorts here today. There was no indication of their authorship. One sticker reads: "Politicians, capitalists and newspaper editors are never found in the trenches. Why should the working men be?"

As an aftermath of the riot in which more than 100 Industrial Workers of the World sympathizers took part Tuesday night, double details of police have been placed in the district. United States secret service operatives seeking the authors of the anti-recruiting literature were reported mixing with the crowds of so-called "reds" in the I. W. W. gathering places. Twenty-eight men arrested Tuesday night have been sentenced to the work farm.

Coolrado Springs, March 30.—Colorado Springs in 1916 had nearly 1,000 fewer arrests than in 1915, Colorado's last "wet" year. The number of arrests last year was 1,658, as compared with $2,594 in 1915. Chief of Police Howard Clark gives most of the credit for the decline in arrests to prohibition.

"The same condition, I am sure, exists in almost every city in the state," said the chief.

Because of its pleasure offering possibilities, Colorado Springs was always well supplied hitherto with "drunks" from Denver and Pueblo, bith within easy access by rail. This type of visitor disappeared very largely during 1915, according to the city's authorities.

Of the total arrests made in Colorado Springs in 1915 nearly 75 per cent. were for violation of traffic regulations.

Washington, March 30.—From twelve to twenty-five hens are sufficient to provide the ordinary family with enough eggs and meat to render the keeping of the birds worth while according to poultry specialists in the United States department of agriculture. The amount of outdoor space the flock will require may be estimated at about twenty-five square feet for each bird. There are instances in which chickens have thrived with much less than this, but unless the soil is especially favorable and the birds receive unusually good care, crowding is likely to prove unprofitable.

Poultry specialists do not recommend, however, that every one with the requisite space at his disposal should go in for chicken raising. Unless there is a natural interest in poultry or a determination to make the flock a source of real economy even if it does take time and trouble, the venture is not likely to prove successful. Lack of care may result in disease that will sweep off the entire flock and it is almost certain to cause a reduction in egg production that will make the birds a burden instead of a help. In some localities where municipal ordinances may prohibit the keeping of poultry within certain limits, care should be taken that the poultry yard is not in a prescribed area.

Space For a Flock.

While it is possible to get along with twenty-five square feet per bird, a larger space affording more green and insect food is very desirable. For one thing, the ordinary poultry keeper wishes to perpetuate his flock and the raising of young chickens requires as much land as the keeping of mature hens. After she is two years old, the best laying days of the average hen are over and it usually pays to get rid of her. This means that half the flock must be renewed each year. Since as many cockerels as pullets will be hatched and a certain percentage are certain to die, it is customary to hatch each year a few more chickens than there are hens in the flock. With a flock of twenty-five, for example, about thirty chickens should be raised. The same space must be allowed for these as for the laying hens. The cockerels are consumed through the season, being used either as broilers when they are about three months old, or as friers or as roasters.

It is also most desirable as a precaution against disease to divide the available area into two plats. On one of these the chickens are allowed to range while a green crop—wheat or oats, for example—is being grown for them on the other. The preliminary turning under of the soil, the green crop, and freedom from chickens for a period serve to prevent the land from becoming contaminated.

Additional range, with the advantage of a large supply of insect feed for the birds, may sometimes be obtained where a vegetable garden is maintained. At different times in the growing season there are areas in the garden which are either idle or occupied only by crops that the hens will not touch. The birds, confined to these with the aid of a portable fence, benefit without injury to the vegetables.

An important item to be considered by those thinking of maintaining a home flock is the cost of the house. For some part ofthe year, at least, in almost every section of the United States, chickens require the shelter ofa tight, dry building. In planning the house, approximately 4 or 5 feet of floor space should be allowed for each bird. The eight may be determined by the convenience of the operator, for the birds themselves need only two or three feet. Such low houses, however, are very difficult to clean, and, in consequence, are likely to be neglected. It is better to build them so high that a man may work in them without discomfort.

A not uncommon device is to use a piano box for a chicken house. The cost of these houses depends largely upon circumstances, though no estimate can be given. It may be possible to find one the owner will be glad to give away; and, on the other hand, one may have to pay $1.50 or more for a box that is no better. By combining two piano boxes, a very satisfactory shelter for a small flock can be made at little expense. Where lumber must be purchased, it has been estimated that the materials for a substantial chicken house may cost anywher from 50 cents to $1.00 per bird, and it is not unlikely that with the present prices of commodities of all kinds, these figures will be somewhat low. Portable chicken houses are also on the market at costs varying greatly. The majority, however, will probably cost the owner from $1.50 to $2.00 for each bird sheltered by them. In any event, it is probable that unless there is plenty of spare lumber available and the prospective poultryman happens to be a good carpenter, the cost of the chicken house will not be met by the value of the products over the cost of feed for the flock for a year or two. The house should last, however, for a number of years, especially if painted and well cared for. Substantial profits from the investment should be made thereafter.

In many cases also, where the surroundings are such that the chickens can not be allowed to range at will, the cost of fencing must be considered. This, obviously, will vary greatly with the size of the area to be enclosed and the kind of fencing selected. Ordinary chicken wire is not expensive.

The actual economy secured by the keeping of a small flock of chickens depends primarily upon their egg production, and this, in turn, is largely a matter of care. Under favorable conditions, however, it is estimated that 150 eggs the first year and 120 the second is a fair return from the ordinary hen. On the other hand, at least from 25 to 50 cents a year must be expended for grain and other feeds, the exact amount depending upon the quality of table scraps and green and insect food available. Where all the feed must be purchased, from $1 to $1.25 is allowed. Even in the most thrifty household, however, there is always a large quantity of table scraps, vegetable parings, and other "left-overs" for the hens, so that a considerable portion of their feed consists of what otherwise would be carried off the place by the garbage man.

Although of less importance than the eggs, the supply of poultry for the table furnished by the home flock is an item that can not be overlooked. As has been pointed out, in a flock of twenty-five which the owner is perpetuating, there will be approximately twelve to thirteen cockerels, almost all of which can be used for food. Half of the hens must go each year also, so that allowing for losses and for birds reserved for breeding there still will be enough appreciably to affect the butcher's bill.

New York, March 30.—Hilmer J. Carlson, eight years old, received, before Supreme Court Justice Kelby and a jury, in Brooklyn, a verdict of $10,000 against the E. W. Bliss company for injuries he suffered January 20, 1916, when one of his feet was run over by a five-ton munition truck, causing amputation of three toes. The boy's father was awarded $3,000 for the loss of his services.

The boy was sitting on the curb of Fortieth street, Brooklyn, near his home, with his feet in the guter. The truck, loaded with three-inch shells, rounded the corner, skidded and ran over his foot. Edward J. McCrossin, counsel for the boy, contended that the driver of the truck violated a city ordinance by turning the corner faster than four miles an hour.

Happy, bright, alert—vigorous, and vivacious—a good clear skin; a natural, rosy complexion and freedom from illness are assured only by clean, healthy blood. If only every woman and likewise every man could realize the wonders of the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place.

Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking, each morning before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.—Advertisement.

Newark N. J. Board Members Protest Against Short Skirts.

New York, March 30—Public school authorities in Newark, N. J. have started a movement to have the high school girls and even teh women teachers in both the high tnd elementary school change their style of dress.

David A. McIntyre, a member of the board of education, protested against short skirts and low neck and transparent waists now worn by both pupils and teachers. He said the custom was a shame and urged that the board take action to abolish present day dress fads. Superintendent Poland was directed to request the principals and teachers to co-operate with the board in the movement.

Mr. McIntrye further complained over the way the schoolgirls and teachers daubed their faces with powder. Referring to the pupils, he said: "Many of the girls are trying to conceal the bloom of their youth by covering their faces with powder. If I were a principal or a teacher in a school I would ask such a girl to wash her face. This is a question of considerable importance. The fault may lie with the parents, and then again it may not, but I am convinced action should be taken."

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which, if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limstone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.—Advertisement.

NATIONAL SERVICE BY LIBRARY OF CONGRESS

Washington, March 30.—Twenty years ago the library congress took up all its belongings and moved from its cramped quarters in the capitol into its beautiful new building, known to all residents and visitors of Washington, says the Star. The library renders service which reaches all over the country.

With the removal of the library, its administration was placed under the librarian, in whom was vested the authority to make rules and regulations for its government, and with that change its great development began. Then the principle was adopted that the function of a great library is to be much more than a storehouse: it must be a disbursing agent of thought. Those who come seeking knowledge must be shown where it can be found, and upon those who can not, or perhaps even will not, come it will nevertheless throw its comfortable warmth.

"Its methods are simple," said Frederick W. Ashley, for nineteen years connected with the library, and now superintendent of the reading rooms.

"One of them is under the system of interlibrary loans, to lend books to other libraries for the use of investigators. Its purpose is to aid research by providing unusual books—those that are not accessible elsewhere. For this reason the books and documents lent can not include those which the borrowing library ought to have, or at least be able to procure readily. Nor can it include material in constant use in Washington either by congress, the departments or readers.

"When a library borrows such books from the congressional it must assume liabilty for their transportation and safe return, and under such conditions any of the 25,000 or more public libraries can have the use of the unusual book or the book for the unusual reader. During the last year the library of congress supplied in more than 3,400 instances the books which the reseach man needed to help him over the holes in the road.

"It does not seem like a great thing to lend a few old books, or ducuments, or pieces of music, but to the extent of just what could not be obtained otherwise the library of congress has supplemented the strength of smaller institutions.

"It calls for no vivid imagination to see the professor of the university, the chemist or engineer of some great plant, the inventor in his laboratory, brought to a halt in his investigations for lack of some book which his library does not have and can not easily procure, and then it is Washington to the rescue. The student may not be able to come to the mountain; then, this mountain of a library, if informed, will give aid to the student and feel that it has realized on its opportunity. For is not that one of the objects of its being?

"Another method it has or giving a hand to the young libraries is by the cataloguing of books and preparation and printing of index cards. A suitable index card contains much valuable information—the name, dates and pseudonym (if any) of the author, the makeupof the volume, the title of the book and a graphic statement of its contents. The preparation of such a card involves an examination of the book and whatever further effort may be necessary to secure all this information, which must then be set up and printed, and all this is not inexpensive.

"The library found that in the several million pieces in its 102 miles of shelves, it covered the contents of most libraries of this country. Its cataloguersare trained and skillful and it conceived the idea of striking off many copies of their most generally used cards and supplying them at cost to libraries throughout the country.

"More than 23,000 institutions obtained these cards last year to the amount of something like 6,600,000, at a cost running a trifle more than one-eight of a cent apiece. Some libraries purchase entire sets of index cards in order to have the bibliography on any subject; others purchase only such cards as they require. Nor is their use confined to public libraries, for many men order the sets of cards which cover a subject of particular interest to them. The index cards of the books in the library of the Smithsonion institution are also published in this division. They are very complete and give a clear idea of the names and nature of the books and documents in this valuable collection.

"The cards are prepared in the cataloguing room, made by the government printing office and returned to the card room for disposal. They are stored there in indexed series by the millions, ready to be dellvered when called for It is the ambitious desire of this section to keep its work current, and its chief, Charles H. Hastings, and his assistants sort, put up and bill a few thousand cards in less time than it takes to find a car ticket on a cold day. The hardest problem is to 'guess' how many cards to carry in stock. It was 'guessed' that 500 sets would be ample to cover the demand for literature on the European war, and it has exhausted a second edition. It can not forecast with any certainly what the call will be for any class of books in response to popular demand.

"But the library, not content with the many books which it possesses publishes some on its own account and they are eagerly sought by many institutions. They include the reports of the doings of the library itself and similar productions, its cataloguing rules, notes on the care and classification of manuscripts and maps, copyright, information circulars, some historical papers, catalogues of engravings and music, lists of books about various countries, histories, manuscripts of prominent Americans and many special subjects. All of them are prepared by the library staff.

Special Attention to Research.

"A pleasant way the library takes of sending out its warmth rays is to answer many questions that come from all over the country as to whether the library has a certain book existing writings on a subject, most useful authorities on a given subject, the author of a book by a known title and all similar inquiries—only it has to draw a line somewhere or the whole force would be taken from the work and put to answering questions.

"Another way, which is not generally known, is the giving of especial facilities to the readers engaged in serious research work involving the use in the reading room of a number of the same books day after day. Such a worker will have assigned to him an alcove where his material may be set aside for him. If he desires to dedicate to a stenographer he may have the use of a separate room.

"The special facilities for study thus offered are proving very attractive to the scholars of the country, many of whom are getting into the habit of coming to Washington for research in the great national collections. University professors often spend here a great part of the precious 'sabbatical' years granted them by the authorities of their universities—one golden year in every seven for rest and recreation. At the present time the library of congress is the literary host of professors of history, economics and law in Harvard, University of Pennsylvania, Northwestern, Smith college, Western reserve, the state universities of Ohio, Minnesota, California and Wisconsin.

"A resident of Formosa is in Washington engaged in the study of everything appertaining to sugar including the growth of the cane and the beet, their refining and marketing. A resident in Stockholm is spending six months in Washington engaged in the problem of city-making, using the library as his place of study and the city as his object lesson."

Thus the library, in addition to maintaining those great divisions which all who come may see—its reading room with 20,000 volumes of reference books its stacks with all the copyrighted books in the United States, besides hundreds of thousands that have been obtained by purchase or gift, its division of maps, manuscripts, prints and its valuable rarebooks, giving out information and cards, publications and books—is aiding scholars and investigators and building up the library spirit throughout the land.

Both children and grown-ups, with coughs and colds, are all the better for a dose of Foley's Honey and Tar at bed time. It wards off croup, stops tickling throat, and hacking coughs, and makes an otherwise feverish, sleepless night of coughing and distress, a quiet and restful one.

BROWNSVILLE, TEXAS, Mr. Chas. Baker, writes: "My wife would not think of using any other cough medicine, as Foley's Honey and Tar is certain to bring quick relief. It is especially effective in cases of bad coughs, and we give it to our children and recommend it always as a safe remedy, for it contains no opiates."

Philadelphia, March 30—The courts are against something entirely new: Is a pretty woman whose head has been decapitated, photographically speaking, to make way for the head of another beauty, entitled to $50,000 damages or any financil balm at all?

There is an intercity interest involved in this instance, as the flowing hair, flashing eyes, pearly teeth and bewitching smile of Mrs. Blanche Bucklus, 4604 York road, Logan, were substituted for the charms of Mrs. Anna Yost, of 512 West One-hundred-and-eighteenth street, New York.

Mrs. Bucklus, is an art model, and she registered no protect when her head was transferred to Mrs. Yost's shoulders, but for advertising purposes.

Mrs. Yost has asked the courts in New York to enjoin the photographic use of her body topped by Mrs. Bucklus's head pending the suit which she has brought for $50,000.

The New York beauty has said nothing unkind of Mrs. Buckius's face, but it is perhaps not strange that she should prefer to have her own head on her own body—even if it is anly an advertisement.

POTHOOKS MADE TO MUSIC

Boston, March 30—the successful use of phonographic music as an aid to writing instruction was described by L. M. Rand, and instructor in the English high school, to the New England Penmanship Association. Music acts as a speed guide for the writer, he said.

"Teaching penmanship in the Dorchester evening high school has been successful under this method," he said. "The music takes off the fatigue and the drudge of writing letters and combinations of letters and stimulates the mind. It helps to create a correct and uniform speed, furnishing an exact count for the operation of letters and thus furnishing rhythm.

"Letters and numbers, particulaly capitals, are adapted to this. For some letters written in four movements we play a fox trot. Others and most figures require three movements, and the triple time of waltz music furnishes an excellent rhythmic guide."
